Cuba Charges Boston Pilot Killed as U. S. Plane Is Downed; Havana Hit by 3 Raiders

Udel Firm Will Need 200 Acres for Plant

Hedley, Spangenberger in Top Posts For Lightweight Aggregate Business

The Udel Realty Corp., a subsidiary of the New York Trap Rock Corp., which will construct and operate a lightweight aggregate plant on an area extending from Route 32 over Fly Mountain to the Eddyville area, will be under the direction of Paul M. Hedley, who has been elected president of the Udel Realty Corp. He formerly was with the North American Cement Co. and Marquette Cement Corp.

Land to be acquired in the area for the new plant has been placed as high as 200 acres. The exact location of the manufacturing operations has not been decided.

To Be Ready in Year

A tentative estimate of one-half million cubic yards or some 300,000 tons a year of lightweight aggregate was mentioned as the initial output of the plant, which is expected to be in production in a year's time.

Wilson P. Foss, president of the New York Trap Rock Corp., introduced the president of the subsidiary company, which will locate here, at a luncheon Tuesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. He also explained that one advantage of the new aggregate concrete is its lightweight qualities with the same strength characteristics as standard concrete. He said weight becomes an important factor in construction today from an economic standpoint requiring less of amounts of steel. The manufacture process is somewhat similar to that of regular concrete, which is chiefly used in road construction. The major construction projects and market for the product presently are in the New York area.

To Direct Transportation

C. W. Spangenberger, a native Kingstonian who has a summer home in Woodstock, is director of transportation for the New York Trap Rock Corp. He will be in charge of transporting the product by barge over the Rondout Creek and down the Hudson River to the Metropolitan area. He also will direct truck and rail operations. Spangenberger formerly was president of the Cornell Steamboat Company, which became a subsidiary of Trap Rock in 1958.

Other officials at the luncheon included Joseph Fachenthan, chairman of the Trap Rock Board, who has been with the firm since 1918; John Kringel, executive vice president in charge of operations; Donald McDonald, engineer, and Arthur M. Griffin, director of community and employe relations, who was in charge of the luncheon.

Guests included Attorneys George Rusk and Bernard A. Feeney Jr., who represent the new firm in local real estate transactions, Senator G. Ogden Bush, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Jesse McHugh, majority leader, board of supervisors, members of the New York State Department of Commerce, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce officials, Town of Ulster officials, directors of local banking institutions and representatives of local communications media.

Eichmann Ready To Atone, Won't Ask for Clemency

JERUSALEM (AP)—In his own words replayed today from a tape recording, Adolf Eichmann said he expects the death penalty and is "ready to atone."

"I know that I can expect the death sentence and I don't ask for clemency," the former Gestapo colonel told Israeli police who questioned him after his capture in Argentina last year.

Not Worthy of Mercy

"I cannot claim mercy because I know I am not worthy of it," Eichmann said in the statement, which was recorded in June 1960.

In support of its charges that Eichmann was the operational director of the Nazi plan to exterminate Europe's Jews, the prosecution began replaying extended excerpts from 77 cartons of tape recordings of the pretrial interrogation.

His voice echoing hoarsely through the Jerusalem courtroom while he himself sat listening in the prisoner's dock, Eichmann said that before his death he would like to write a book. He said he wanted the younger generation to know what happened in Nazi Germany and the reasons for it.

Recalls Prophecy

Eichmann said he had been told in January 1960 that "I would be brought to trial and that I would not live beyond my 56th year."

He is 55 now. He did not identify the prophet.

"The first part of this prophecy already has come to pass," he said in the recorded statement. "This case finds me in complete readiness and without any

Action Proposed to Get $500,000 Urban Credit

Expedient action to gain the city $500,000 in urban renewal credit through building of the Mary's Avenue School was proposed in a committee report at Tuesday night's meeting of the Common Council, which was also asked to consider a right-of-way phase of the proposed uptown school project.

A claimed trend toward an ordinance breach by Kingston Cablevision was left with the laws and rules committee.

The council's urban renewal committee report noted that a May 12 meeting with Mayor Edwin F. Radel, the planning board and personnel of Raymond & May Associates, planning consultants, revealed conditions affecting the status of credits to be obtained in urban renewal through contribution of facilities.

Mainly in jeopardy, it noted, if the time element is not adjusted, is a credit of some $500,000 in conjunction with the building of the Mary's Avenue school.

Data Changed

It was noted that the education board had first reported that May 15 was the date aimed at for start of the school so that it could be ready for occupancy in September, 1962, but the date was put over to June 1.

The city's urban renewal procedure, meanwhile, must be advanced to the point of making proper application for the credit, because if the school work began first, the credit would not be allowed.

As soon as a first project is officially defined, the report noted, the city is liable for a sixth of the cost. The federal government pays two-thirds, and the state a sixth of the cost.

Problem Understood

The report listed Mayor Radel's notation of the fact that the federal government has recognized the city's problem, and prompt action will be required to work out all phases of it in time to gain the fullest possible urban renewal benefit.

Required material, it was noted, is expected to be ready for a May 3 meeting at which details and procedure will be discussed, and a public hearing has been tentatively set for May 16. It will be conducted by the planning board and the council's special committee.

A recessed meeting of the regular May Common Council session will be held, if found necessary, it was indicated.

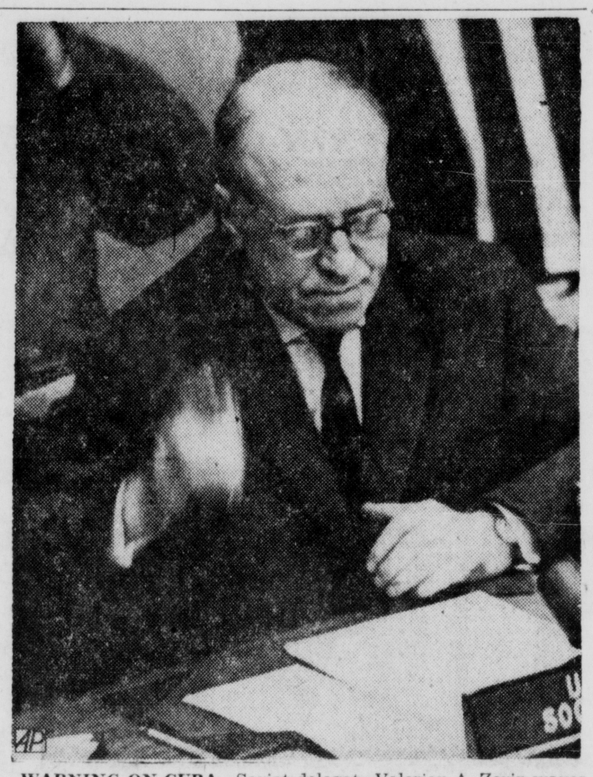

Members of Committee

Majority Leader James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, heads the urban renewal committee. Its other members are: Joseph Tomaszewski (D) Sixth Ward; Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward; Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward; Joseph F. Carroll Jr. (R) 11th Ward; Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, minority leader, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward.

Mayor Radel, in a letter, requested laws and rules committee consideration of a "20-foot easement" involving sewer line service over a Dietz Stadium site in conjunction with construction of the junior high school as planned for tract west of Forsyth Park.

The letter proposed a meeting in the near future of the com-

Parking Study Coming, Pass $80,300 Bonds

A Common Council committee was named Tuesday night to consider off-street parking problems, bond issues totaling $80,300 for public works equipment and a fire alarm project were approved, as was a resolution calling for a test through bidding of the economic feasibility of permanent repair of the High Road (East Union Street).

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye named the council's finance committee plus Alderman Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward, whose uptown area will be involved in first phases of the study, and Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, traffic committee chairman, as the committee to study parking.

On the finance committee, which will make final decision on any findings pertinent to aid in solving parking problems, are Majority Leader James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, chairman; Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward.

Briefed by Mayor

The committee, named at the suggestion of Mayor Edwin F. Radel, met with him after last night's council session and was briefed on proposals.

Alderman Ryan said today he has notified each of the city's merchants' associations by letter that the committee will meet with them to discuss off-street parking proposals in each area.

Proposals, as of now, it was noted, appear to be most advanced in the uptown area, and it is expected that they will be considered first. Parking areas off Fair Street Extension and adjacent to the Montgomery Ward & Co., parking lot, are expected to be considered.

$60,500 for Trucks

A bond issue of $60,500 covers the cost of buying four White trucks with dump bodies at $43,600, an Elgin Street King four-cubic-yards sweeper at $13,500, and two Ford Econoline pickup trucks at $3,400.

One of $5,300 was for purchase of a LeRoi rotary compressor with accessories at $5,300, and the other of $14,500 was for improvement of the fire alarm system.

Alderman Joseph F. Carroll, Jr., (R) 11th Ward, noting a final agreement between the majority and minority party members in keeping with a policy voiced by the latter to buy a minimum of public works equipment, said he was satisfied with results.

Minority party members, he said, "feel that this is a step forward" because of smaller amounts of equipment are bought annually

Police Continue Probing Report Woman Assaulted

Local police today continued investigation of a report that an Ashokan woman was assaulted Tuesday afternoon as she was about to get into her car which had been parked near the former O&W Railroad station, Fair Street Extension.

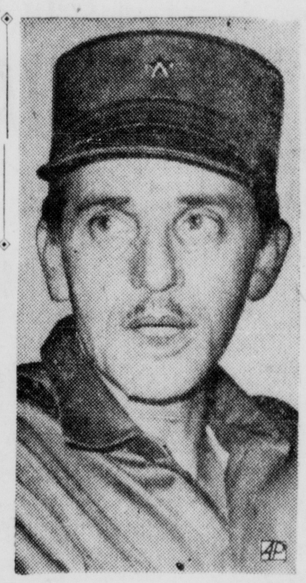

Mrs. Johanna Schraut, 46, said the report at 5:15 p. m., said she had been struck and knocked to the ground by a man, but his attempt to hit her with a railroad spike faltered.

An employe of the F. W. Woolworth Co., store, Wall Street, she said she had left there at 3:45 p. m., and was opening a door of the car when the man came around from its front and struck her. He had attempted "to use the railroad spike, but lost it in the shuffle," the report said.

The man then ran across the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Kingston Lumber Company property, she said. He wore gray clothing and a jacket with a brown collar.

En route home, the report indicated, she gave the spike to a deputy sheriff on traffic duty along Route 28, where road construction is in progress, and told him what happened. The spike, forwarded to police headquarters, was given to Detective William Slover, who is investigating.

All police patrol cars were alerted when the assault was reported.

Guantanamo Base Quiet, on Alert In Cuban Crisis

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—This big U.S. naval base on the eastern tip of Cuba is on a watchful, round-the-clock alert, but for the most part the fighting going on beyond the fence might as well be on another continent.

All is quiet in the immediate vicinity. The usual peace of the base is marred only by a slight increase in tension because of the stepped-up precautions and the lack of news of the invasion by anti-Castro rebels.

Air, Sea Might Ready

Rear Adm. E. J. O'Donnell, base commander, said in an interview that his operations office is operating around-the-clock; that a constant radar watch is being maintained and that fighters on the runways are ready to scramble skyward in less than five minutes.

O'Donnell said he also has on call 10 or 11 destroyers that can pump out 5-inch shells at the rate of one a second from twin mounts.

"We have an enormous amount of firepower here," the admiral said.

While he did not say how close to this base the destroyers are roaming—they are obviously not in the harbor—he left no doubt they are close.

O'Donnell emphatically denied Cuban charges that some of the rebel invaders had come from this base.

No Mig's in Area

Asked if American radar crews had discovered any signs of high-performance aircraft in the Cuba skies, the admiral said they had not.

There have been reports that the Cuban air force has at least seven Soviet-built jet fighters. If there are any Mig's around, O'Donnell said, they have not flown over the eastern end of the island.

Secret Document Missing

LONDON (AP) — The disappearance of a top-secret British navy document stirred suspicion at Scotland Yard today that a spy ring may have struck again.

The missing paper, detailing new methods of underwater warfare, vanished from the safe of an engineering firm working under contract for the Admiralty, police sources said.

2 Americans Executed; Kennedy Warns Soviet

JFK Declares Moral Support for Cuban Insurgents, to Oppose Outside Forces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cuban radio charged an American military plane piloted by a U. S. citizen was shot down today over south central Cuba. Rebel air raiders also struck at Havana for the first time since invaders stormed ashore last weekend, the radio said.

The radio said the American was killed. It asserted he was flying one of four planes shot down after bombing troops and civilians and declared:

Says Aggression Proved

"United States participation in the aggression against Cuba was dramatically proved."

The pilot was identified by the Cubans as Leo Francis Bell of Boston.

The commander of the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, in southeastern Cuba, said earlier that none of his planes have participated in the fighting.

The broadcast gave no military data about Bell and mentioned only his Social Security number.

The radio reported a twin-engine B26 dropped a bomb on the air force headquarters at San Antonio de los Banos, 25 miles from Havana, then wounded three persons in a strafing run on Havana.

Keep Hands Off: JFK

Meanwhile, President Kennedy in Washington fired a straight from the shoulder warning to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep hands off Cuba.

Kennedy made it clear in a message to the Soviet leader Tuesday night that the U.S. will take immediate steps to counter any military intervention by outside force in the Cuban fighting.

The President declared moral support for the "Cuban patriots in their struggle for freedom" and said again that the U.S. intends no military intervention.

A diplomat in Havana reported a plane that swept over Havana was met by heavy antiaircraft fire. He mentioned no strafing. A Cuban rebel radio station on Swan Island off Guatemala claimed Havana was bombed twice by three planes. It asserted one of the planes attacked Camp Libertad, army headquarters on Havana's outskirts.

The diplomat talked by telephone with an Associated Press correspondent at the big U. S. naval base on Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba.

Little News on Invasion

He said the plane passed over the city at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday but otherwise "all is quiet for the present." He had no information about the situation elsewhere in Cuba. The situation was quiet around the naval base.

There was little news on the progress of the invasion force on the coastal front southeast and east of Havana.

The government put its firing squads to work, sending two Americans to their deaths. The Castro radio said five men who landed in Pinar del Rio Province of western Cuba to join the rebels were executed, and another group of four was shot for transporting weapons.

Was Ex-Legion Head

In the first group was August Jack McNair of Miami, Fla. The broadcast said the second group included Howard F. Anderson, a Havana resident from Seattle, Wash., an ex-Marine who once was the commander of Havana's American Legion post. He was arrested last month.

A Cuban broadcast denied rebel claims of new landings in northern Matanzas and Oriente Province and said an attack against the Isle of Pines had failed. Rebel leaders had asserted earlier this week that the prison island off the south coast had fallen and its 10,000 political prisoners had joined the insurgents.

Information on the progress of the invasion and Castro's defense against it continued sketchy, with neither the government nor the rebel command announcing much and communications with Western newsmen in Havana still cut.

The Cuban government radio said fight is continuing in Las Villas Province, where the rebels are believed to have made their main invasion stab.

A correspondent for the Yugoslav newspaper Politka reported from Havana that an invasion force of about 5,000, "armed with tanks and guns, light arms of American production and under protection of airplanes are now without success trying to broaden the original bridgehead in the province of Las Villas, on the southern coast of Cuba."

The Communist correspondent said the invaders captured a village Monday night "but the Fidel forces have reclaimed it in a counterattack, so that the attacking forces are in retreat back at the disembarkation point."

Under Heavy Pressure

There were other indications that the outnumbered anti-Castro forces were under heavy pressure and there was no word of any nationwide uprising against the pro-Communist regime.

The rebel Cuban Revolutionary Council, in a communique Tuesday, said the "freedom fighters" were being attacked in the key Matanzas area by heavy Soviet-made tanks and MIG jet fighters. The communique admitted "sizable" rebel losses of equipment and medical supplies.

Cuban exiles in Miami reported hearing insurgent broadcasts from inside Cuba claiming the in-

Correcting Two-Way Radio, 47 'Ghost' Alarms Occur

Fire companies in Ulster County have been plagued by a series of "false alarms" caused by "interference" in the two-way radio system ever since it has been installed. Correction is now being made.

Interference from some outside source has caused 47 false alarms to be sounded on the "quick call" system in a period of 59 days, it was reported at the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night at Rosendale.

As a result of this condition, 13 companies which have been the target for interference have been without the "quick call" system due to the trouble. The "quick call" is the sounding of an alarm from the Fire Control station on Golden Hill.

While the 13 companies have been without the service of the "quick call" system, it has been necessary to call the fire companies by telephone through the Mutual Aid relay system which was used prior to installation of two-way radio.

Companies Affected

George Majestic, former president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and a member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Two-way Radio Committee, told the firemen that the 13 companies which had been the target for this "ghost" interference were Stone Ridge; Spring Lake, No. 1; Samsonville; Glasco; Phoenicia; The Vly-Atwood; Binnewater; Kripplebush; Ruby; Saxton; Onteora Hose Company at Mt. Tremper; Zena and Gardiner.

Winfred Snyder, Ulster County Fire Coordinator, explained what was being done to eliminate the interference. New "reeds" are being installed on the "quick call" system which, Snyder said, would eliminate future trouble.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of acquiring use of a 25-acre tract of land in the vicinity of New Paltz as a demonstration and training

Seat Belt Points Mandatory For New Car Models in 1963

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York will require that new cars registered in this state, beginning with the 1963 model year, be equipped with attachment points for seat belts.

The automobile industry has announced that manufacturers would provide the points in cars manufactured during the 1962 model year and thereafter.

If this is done, car owners would not be required to go to any effort or expense in complying with the new state law.

The attachment points will be threaded holes in the floor of the front of the car.

Motorists may—but will not be required to—purchase seat belts. These would be held in place by bolts that would screw into the floor holes.

Many authorities have reported that use of seat belts drastically reduces the chances of death and injury in collisions.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday in announcing he had signed the seat-belt legislation that it was "one of the major contributions made to the future safety of our motoring public."

The bill was sponsored by the Joint Legislative Committee on highway safety.

Its chairman, Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-Nassau, originally proposed that seat belts be required in all new cars registered in the state.

He compromised for the legislation mandating the attachment

Hedley, Spangenberger in Top Posts For Lightweight Aggregate Business

The Udel Realty Corp., a subsidiary of the New York Trap Rock Corp., which will construct and operate a lightweight aggregate plant on an area extending from Route 32 over Fly Mountain to the Eddyville area, will be under the direction of Paul M. Hedley, who has been elected president of the Udel Realty Corp. He formerly was with the North American Cement Co. and Marquette Cement Corp.

Land to be acquired in the area for the new plant has been placed as high as 200 acres. The exact location of the manufacturing operations has not been decided.

To Be Ready in Year

A tentative estimate of one-half million cubic yards or some 300,000 tons a year of lightweight aggregate was mentioned as the initial output of the plant, which is expected to be in production in a year's time.

Wilson P. Foss, president of the New York Trap Rock Corp., introduced the president of the subsidiary company, which will locate here, at a luncheon Tuesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. He also explained that one advantage of the new aggregate concrete is its lightweight qualities with the same strength characteristics as standard concrete. He said weight becomes an important factor in construction today from an economic standpoint requiring less of amounts of steel. The manufacture process is somewhat similar to that of regular concrete, which is chiefly used in road construction. The major construction projects and market for the product presently are in the New York area.

To Direct Transportation

C. W. Spangenberger, a native Kingstonian who has a summer home in Woodstock, is director of transportation for the New York Trap Rock Corp. He will be in charge of transporting the product by barge over the Rondout Creek and down the Hudson River to the Metropolitan area. He also will direct truck and rail operations. Spangenberger formerly was president of the Cornell Steamboat Company, which became a subsidiary of Trap Rock in 1958.

Other officials at the luncheon included Joseph Fachenthan, chairman of the Trap Rock Board, who has been with the firm since 1918; John Kringel, executive vice president in charge of operations; Donald McDonald, engineer, and Arthur M. Griffin, director of community and employe relations, who was in charge of the luncheon.

Guests included Attorneys George Rusk and Bernard A. Feeney Jr., who represent the new firm in local real estate transactions, Senator G. Ogden Bush, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Jesse McHugh, majority leader, board of supervisors, members of the New York State Department of Commerce, Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce officials, Town of Ulster officials, directors of local banking institutions and representatives of local communications media.

Eichmann Ready To Atone, Won't Ask for Clemency

JERUSALEM (AP)—In his own words replayed today from a tape recording, Adolf Eichmann said he expects the death penalty and is "ready to atone."

"I know that I can expect the death sentence and I don't ask for clemency," the former Gestapo colonel told Israeli police who questioned him after his capture in Argentina last year.

Not Worthy of Mercy

"I cannot claim mercy because I know I am not worthy of it," Eichmann said in the statement, which was recorded in June 1960.

In support of its charges that Eichmann was the operational director of the Nazi plan to exterminate Europe's Jews, the prosecution began replaying extended excerpts from 77 cartons of tape recordings of the pretrial interrogation.

His voice echoing hoarsely through the Jerusalem courtroom while he himself sat listening in the prisoner's dock, Eichmann said that before his death he would like to write a book. He said he wanted the younger generation to know what happened in Nazi Germany and the reasons for it.

Recalls Prophecy

Eichmann said he had been told in January 1960 that "I would be brought to trial and that I would not live beyond my 56th year."

He is 55 now. He did not identify the prophet.

"The first part of this prophecy already has come to pass," he said in the recorded statement. "This case finds me in complete readiness and without any

Secret Document Missing

LONDON (AP) — The disappearance of a top-secret British navy document stirred suspicion at Scotland Yard today that a spy ring may have struck again.

The missing paper, detailing new methods of underwater warfare, vanished from the safe of an engineering firm working under contract for the Admiralty, police sources said.

2 Americans Executed; Kennedy Warns Soviet

JFK Declares Moral Support for Cuban Insurgents, to Oppose Outside Forces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cuban radio charged an American military plane piloted by a U. S. citizen was shot down today over south central Cuba. Rebel air raiders also struck at Havana for the first time since invaders stormed ashore last weekend, the radio said.

The radio said the American was killed. It asserted he was flying one of four planes shot down after bombing troops and civilians and declared:

Says Aggression Proved

"United States participation in the aggression against Cuba was dramatically proved."

The pilot was identified by the Cubans as Leo Francis Bell of Boston.

The commander of the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, in southeastern Cuba, said earlier that none of his planes have participated in the fighting.

The broadcast gave no military data about Bell and mentioned only his Social Security number.

The radio reported a twin-engine B26 dropped a bomb on the air force headquarters at San Antonio de los Banos, 25 miles from Havana, then wounded three persons in a strafing run on Havana.

Keep Hands Off: JFK

Meanwhile, President Kennedy in Washington fired a straight from the shoulder warning to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep hands off Cuba.

Kennedy made it clear in a message to the Soviet leader Tuesday night that the U.S. will take immediate steps to counter any military intervention by outside force in the Cuban fighting.

The President declared moral support for the "Cuban patriots in their struggle for freedom" and said again that the U.S. intends no military intervention.

A diplomat in Havana reported a plane that swept over Havana was met by heavy antiaircraft fire. He mentioned no strafing. A Cuban rebel radio station on Swan Island off Guatemala claimed Havana was bombed twice by three planes. It asserted one of the planes attacked Camp Libertad, army headquarters on Havana's outskirts.

The diplomat talked by telephone with an Associated Press correspondent at the big U. S. naval base on Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba.

Little News on Invasion

He said the plane passed over the city at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday but otherwise "all is quiet for the present." He had no information about the situation elsewhere in Cuba. The situation was quiet around the naval base.

There was little news on the progress of the invasion force on the coastal front southeast and east of Havana.

The government put its firing squads to work, sending two Americans to their deaths. The Castro radio said five men who landed in Pinar del Rio Province of western Cuba to join the rebels were executed, and another group of four was shot for transporting weapons.

Was Ex-Legion Head

In the first group was August Jack McNair of Miami, Fla. The broadcast said the second group included Howard F. Anderson, a Havana resident from Seattle, Wash., an ex-Marine who once was the commander of Havana's American Legion post. He was arrested last month.

A Cuban broadcast denied rebel claims of new landings in northern Matanzas and Oriente Province and said an attack against the Isle of Pines had failed. Rebel leaders had asserted earlier this week that the prison island off the south coast had fallen and its 10,000 political prisoners had joined the insurgents.

Information on the progress of the invasion and Castro's defense against it continued sketchy, with neither the government nor the rebel command announcing much and communications with Western newsmen in Havana still cut.

The Cuban government radio said fight is continuing in Las Villas Province, where the rebels are believed to have made their main invasion stab.

A correspondent for the Yugoslav newspaper Politka reported from Havana that an invasion force of about 5,000, "armed with tanks and guns, light arms of American production and under protection of airplanes are now without success trying to broaden the original bridgehead in the province of Las Villas, on the southern coast of Cuba."

The Communist correspondent said the invaders captured a village Monday night "but the Fidel forces have reclaimed it in a counterattack, so that the attacking forces are in retreat back at the disembarkation point."

Under Heavy Pressure

There were other indications that the outnumbered anti-Castro forces were under heavy pressure and there was no word of any nationwide uprising against the pro-Communist regime.

The rebel Cuban Revolutionary Council, in a communique Tuesday, said the "freedom fighters" were being attacked in the key Matanzas area by heavy Soviet-made tanks and MIG jet fighters. The communique admitted "sizable" rebel losses of equipment and medical supplies.

Cuban exiles in Miami reported hearing insurgent broadcasts from inside Cuba claiming the in-

Correcting Two-Way Radio, 47 'Ghost' Alarms Occur

Fire companies in Ulster County have been plagued by a series of "false alarms" caused by "interference" in the two-way radio system ever since it has been installed. Correction is now being made.

Interference from some outside source has caused 47 false alarms to be sounded on the "quick call" system in a period of 59 days, it was reported at the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night at Rosendale.

As a result of this condition, 13 companies which have been the target for interference have been without the "quick call" system due to the trouble. The "quick call" is the sounding of an alarm from the Fire Control station on Golden Hill.

While the 13 companies have been without the service of the "quick call" system, it has been necessary to call the fire companies by telephone through the Mutual Aid relay system which was used prior to installation of two-way radio.

Companies Affected

George Majestic, former president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and a member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Two-way Radio Committee, told the firemen that the 13 companies which had been the target for this "ghost" interference were Stone Ridge; Spring Lake, No. 1; Samsonville; Glasco; Phoenicia; The Vly-Atwood; Binnewater; Kripplebush; Ruby; Saxton; Onteora Hose Company at Mt. Tremper; Zena and Gardiner.

Winfred Snyder, Ulster County Fire Coordinator, explained what was being done to eliminate the interference. New "reeds" are being installed on the "quick call" system which, Snyder said, would eliminate future trouble.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of acquiring use of a 25-acre tract of land in the vicinity of New Paltz as a demonstration and training

Seat Belt Points Mandatory For New Car Models in 1963

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York will require that new cars registered in this state, beginning with the 1963 model year, be equipped with attachment points for seat belts.

The automobile industry has announced that manufacturers would provide the points in cars manufactured during the 1962 model year and thereafter.

If this is done, car owners would not be required to go to any effort or expense in complying with the new state law.

The attachment points will be threaded holes in the floor of the front of the car.

Motorists may—but will not be required to—purchase seat belts. These would be held in place by bolts that would screw into the floor holes.

Many authorities have reported that use of seat belts drastically reduces the chances of death and injury in collisions.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday in announcing he had signed the seat-belt legislation that it was "one of the major contributions made to the future safety of our motoring public."

The bill was sponsored by the Joint Legislative Committee on highway safety.

Its chairman, Sen. Edward J. Speno, R-Nassau, originally proposed that seat belts be required in all new cars registered in the state.

Iroquois Renew Warfare About Works Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Iroquois Indians renewed their warfare over public works projects with the new acting Indian commissioner, John O. Crow, a Cherokee.

Eighteen representatives of the Six Nations of Iroquois from New York State discussed the Kinzua Pa., Dam and the Niagara Power Project with Crow at a meeting Tuesday.

The Indians lost court suits to block both projects.

Also discussed in the meeting with Crow was the problems of intermarriage between whites and Indians.

Chief Corbett Sundown of Tonawanda, N.Y., cited a case where an Indian girl married a white man and the couple later sold tribal land the girl had leased.

William Benge, chief of the Indian Affairs Bureau Law and Order branch, said the sale would be illegal, since federal law prohibits the sale of tribal lands to anyone.

CATTLE TALES—Sally Dimiceli, left, who is grooming a beef animal, has the distinction of being the only girl in a class of 35 college men. She's one of the first girls to enroll in Southern Illinois University's School of Agriculture. Now a sophomore majoring in animal industries, the city-reared Cook County girl plans a career working with animals. Right, Gary Hedrick of Senatobia, Miss., couldn't hold back the tears when his polled Hereford won the reserve grand champion award at the Mid-South Livestock Exposition in Memphis, Tenn. The tears were sadness in victory. The award meant that Gary had to sell his pet to the slaughterhouse.

Grants to Offer Trading Stamps

W. T Grant Company stores began distribution of S & H Green Stamps today, it was announced by G. John Mueffelman, manager of the Kingston store and William Coghlan, manager of the Simmons Plaza store in Saugerties.

In a joint statement, they said:

"We are happy to announce this additional benefit for Grant customers. We chose the S & H Stamp plan because it is the oldest and the only national stamp plan in effect in this country today. Distributed by the Sperry and Hutchinson Company since 1896, these are the most valuable stamps our customers can save. Throughout its 65 years of experience, S & H has an outstanding record of providing highest quality merchandise and service."

William S. Bienecke, president of Sperry and Hutchinson Company said he was proud to welcome the W. T. Grant Company stores to the roster of 90,000 business establishments using the S & H Green Stamp service. S & H operates 700 redemption centers to serve the 27,000,000 women who save Green Stamps, approximately 50 per cent of all families in the nation, Bienecke said.

S & H spent more than $22,142,692 in the past year in the purchase of products made in New York. W. T. Grant is also a major purchaser of New York State made goods.

The S & H redemption center serving this area is located in Poughkeepsie and a mail order redemption service is available in the Victory Market in Saugerties.

Appointed to Board

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Curtis J. Lund of Pittsford, was appointed today to the Board of Visitors of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo.

Gov. Rockefeller named Lund to the unsalaried post for a term ending Dec. 31, 1965. Lund, a professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Rochester, succeeds Dr. Donald G. Anderson of Rochester, whose term expired.

Library Program Tonight

The panel discussion, "I Remember Kingston," will start at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Kingston City Library with Helen Davenport as moderator. Panelists are Joseph Sullivan, city historian; Harry Rigby, a member of the Governor's Committee for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration in 1959, and a licensed teacher for regional history; Capt. A. S. Hickey (U.S. Navy, retired), who authored a book about Kingston, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Kingston High School teacher. The event is a feature of Library Week.

Have Freer Access, But—

News Suppression Is Charged in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of editors reported today that newsmen, despite their freer access to the White House itself, are having trouble with news suppression in the Kennedy administration.

Several hundred editors, opening the annual meeting here of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), found waiting a critical report from the society's Freedom of Information Committee headed by Eugene S. Pulliam, managing editor of the Indianapolis News.

The Pulliam report noted that President Kennedy before and after his election "was on record in writing as believing in freedom of information and in his duty to see that the people are informed."

Promise Not Kept

"To date, neither he nor his administration has lived up to his promise," the report said.

The report was presented to the ASNE board Tuesday. ASNE officials announced at the meeting that 11 Soviet editors will visit the United States in May in response to an invitation extended by American editors about two years ago.

The Pulliam report directed its criticism at "the State and Defense departments particularly." It advised the ASNE that Kennedy's news secretary, Pierre Salinger, has failed to answer nine questions put to him by the committee two months ago concerning specific instances of withholding of news.

Meantime, said the information report, "there have been increasing complaints from the Washington press corps, most of them justified."

To Hear From President

Kennedy, six of his Cabinet officers and other officials of the new administration will address the society during its four-day meeting. Today's opening program was devoted to a seminar in which five scientists were scheduled to address the editors on topics ranging from space exploration to microorganisms.

The Pulliam report paid tribute to the efforts of Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on Government Information, the late Sen. Thomas Hennings, D-Mo., and Rep. Porter Hardy, D-Va., for their efforts to lower news barriers in Congress and the executive branch.

Guard Records, Vets Are Urged

The Empire State's two and a quarter million veterans were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, state veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency that they owe it to themselves and their families to keep abreast of current developments in veterans' affairs. "Neglect to do so has resulted in the irretrievable loss of financial and educational entitlements of many veterans," Culver and Tyler said.

Both veterans and servicemen should also be aware of the importance of safeguarding certain records in connection with their service and post-service life, such as records of service, changes in family status, medical records, etc. Even though such records may not appear of use at this time, they can be of great value later, as changes in laws occur or as changes in the veteran's own financial earning power is affected by age or disability.

"To keep informed—to keep his affairs in order" are of prime importance to every veteran or serviceman. The New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston provides counseling and all possible assistance to veterans and servicemen and their families and urges them to make full use of their services. Branch offices are located at Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Clergy, Jaycees, CD Join In Operation Survival Days

Religious leaders of all faiths in the greater Kingston area have designated Sunday, April 23 and Friday, April 28 as Operation Survival Days to coincide with Operation Survival Day which is being observed at the Kingston High School parking lot, Saturday, April 29, from 12:30 to 5 p. m.

Emil Buhler, chairman of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce Operation Survival committee, which is working in conjunction with Civil Defense in alerting the public to the dangers of fallout and how to survive such a danger providing the public is prepared, is gratified by the complete cooperation given the committee by area groups.

Those groups are, the Protestant Council of Ministers, the clergy of the Roman Catholic parishes and the Rabbinical Council of Kingston who are having survival in an atomic attack the main theme of their sermons on the two specified days.

The importance of Operation Survival is two-fold:

To awaken the public to the fact that an atomic attack could happen.

To educate the public on steps to insure their saftey during an attack which would primarily be a fallout shelter.

Due to the complacency of people and their ideas that a shelter is morally wrong, the sermons will point out that it is one's duty to the individual's faith and country to survive.

Oeperation Survival Day will have missiles and tanks on display. Also on the program will be movies of radioactive fallout, a union band, drill team, Civil Air Patrol show and a model fallout shelter on display. Jets will fly over the city.

FluoridatedWater Helps in Several Ways, Ast Reports

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Flouridated water supplies give children a better chance to develop straight teeth as well as protection against tooth decay, Dr. David B. Ast reported today.

Ast, director of the dental health bureau of the New York State Health Department, said his findings were based on studies among 13-and 14-year-olds in Newburgh, and Kingston, N.Y.

He made the report today at a meeting of the American Association of Orthodontists.

Newburgh, he said, has had fluoridated water since 1945, while Kingston "uses a fluoride-deficient water supply."

Ast said 35 per cent of the 160 children in the Newburgh group had nearly ideally straight teeth while only 13 per cent of the Kingston children's teeth were that straight.

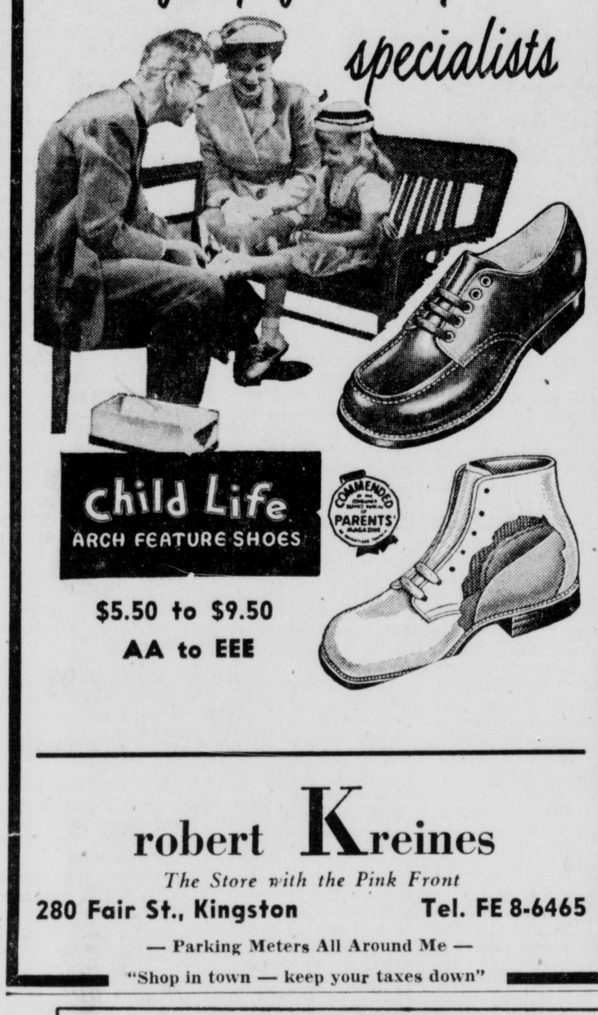

The Kingston group, he said, also had lost 2½ times more permanent teeth than the Newburgh group.

Iroquois Renew Warfare About Works Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Iroquois Indians renewed their warfare over public works projects with the new acting Indian commissioner, John O. Crow, a Cherokee.

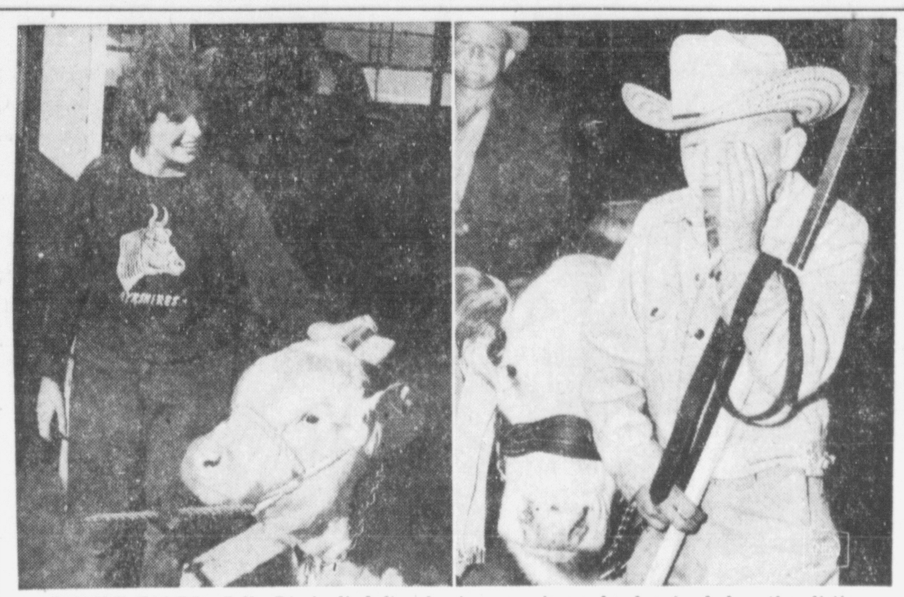

Eighteen representatives of the Six Nations of Iroquois from New York State discussed the Kinzua Pa., Dam and the Niagara Power Project with Crow at a meeting Tuesday.

The Indians lost court suits to block both projects.

Also discussed in the meeting with Crow was the problems of intermarriage between whites and Indians.

Chief Corbett Sundown of Tonawanda, N.Y., cited a case where an Indian girl married a white man and the couple later sold tribal land the girl had leased.

William Benge, chief of the Indian Affairs Bureau Law and Order branch, said the sale would be illegal, since federal law prohibits the sale of tribal lands to anyone.

Grants to Offer Trading Stamps

W. T Grant Company stores began distribution of S & H Green Stamps today, it was announced by G. John Mueffelman, manager of the Kingston store and William Coghlan, manager of the Simmons Plaza store in Saugerties.

In a joint statement, they said:

"We are happy to announce this additional benefit for Grant customers. We chose the S & H Stamp plan because it is the oldest and the only national stamp plan in effect in this country today. Distributed by the Sperry and Hutchinson Company since 1896, these are the most valuable stamps our customers can save. Throughout its 65 years of experience, S & H has an outstanding record of providing highest quality merchandise and service."

William S. Bienecke, president of Sperry and Hutchinson Company said he was proud to welcome the W. T. Grant Company stores to the roster of 90,000 business establishments using the S & H Green Stamp service. S & H operates 700 redemption centers to serve the 27,000,000 women who save Green Stamps, approximately 50 per cent of all families in the nation, Bienecke said.

S & H spent more than $22,142,692 in the past year in the purchase of products made in New York. W. T. Grant is also a major purchaser of New York State made goods.

The S & H redemption center serving this area is located in Poughkeepsie and a mail order redemption service is available in the Victory Market in Saugerties.

Have Freer Access, But—

News Suppression Is Charged in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of editors reported today that newsmen, despite their freer access to the White House itself, are having trouble with news suppression in the Kennedy administration.

Several hundred editors, opening the annual meeting here of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), found waiting a critical report from the society's Freedom of Information Committee headed by Eugene S. Pulliam, managing editor of the Indianapolis News.

The Pulliam report noted that President Kennedy before and after his election "was on record in writing as believing in freedom of information and in his duty to see that the people are informed."

Promise Not Kept

"To date, neither he nor his administration has lived up to his promise," the report said.

The report was presented to the ASNE board Tuesday. ASNE officials announced at the meeting that 11 Sovict editors will visit the United States in May in response to an invitation extended by American editors about two years ago.

The Pulliam report directed its criticism at "the State and Defense departments particularly." It advised the ASNE that Kennedy's news secretary, Pierre Salinger, has failed to answer nine questions put to him by the committee two months ago concerning specific instances of withholding of news.

Meantime, said the information report, "there have been increasing complaints from the Washington press corps, most of them justified."

To Hear From President

Kennedy, six of his Cabinet officers and other officials of the new administration will address the society during its four-day meeting. Today's opening program was devoted to a seminar in which five scientists were scheduled to address the editors on topics ranging from space exploration to microorganisms.

The Pulliam report paid tribute to the efforts of Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on Government Information, the late Sen. Thomas Hennings, D-Mo., and Rep. Porter Hardy, D-Va., for their efforts to lover news barriers in Congress and the executive branch.

Guard Records, Vets Are Urged

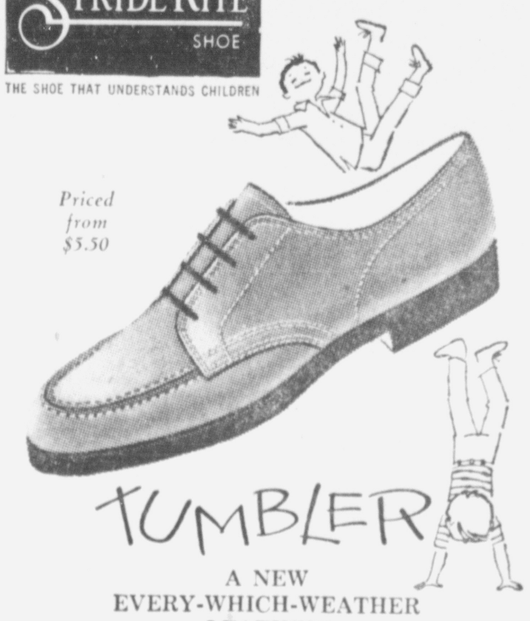

The Empire State's two and a quarter million veterans were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, state veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency that they owe it to themselves and their families to keep abreast of current developments in veterans' affairs. "Neglect to do so has resulted in the irretrievable loss of financial and educational entitlements of many veterans," Culver and Tyler said.

Both veterans and servicemen should also be aware of the importance of safeguarding certain records in connection with their service and post-service life, such as records of service, changes in family status, medical records, etc. Even though such records may not appear of use at this time, they can be of great value later, as changes in laws occur or as changes in the veteran's own financial earning power is affected by age or disability.

COUNTY LOSES GOOD CITIZEN

Ulster County has suffered a great loss in the death of John H. Saxe of West Hurley, one of the best known public figures in this area.

Mr. Saxe had a profound sense of community responsibility. To him an interest in civic affairs was essential to good citizenship and always he responded generously with his time, talents and financial support to all worthwhile civic and charitable causes.

Raised as a farm boy, he was intimately acquainted with the farm industry and its problems. The interests of the local farm people were close to him and he served them on both the boards of the Ulster County Farm Bureau and the Ulster County Agricultural Society.

His devotion to his birthplace and the people of that community was demonstrated in his pioneering a housing development in the village of West Hurley. This undertaking together with the Old Hurley building project has been very successful.

A high appraisal of his business judgment by the business interests of the community was shown in his election as trustee of the Ulster County Savings Bank and his selection as a director of the State of New York National Bank. Subsequently he was chosen president of the State of New York Bank and during his presidency it has expanded by opening a branch and consolidating with two other local banks.

A lifelong Republican and an astute politician, Mr. Saxe was elected sheriff of Ulster County and also county clerk, serving the latter office for two terms. He also served his township as tax collector and superivsor. He took an active part in Republican politics throughout the county and was the Republican leader of his community.

Throughout his life he worked tirelessly for the betterment of the community and his death leaves a great void.

NOT QUITE YET

Though a Republican topped the vote in the Texas race for Vice President Johnson's Senate seat, he seems to face an uphill fight for final victory.

The combined Democratic vote was twice the total mustered by the GOP entry, John Tower. Incumbent Sen. William Blakley, serving now by appointment, is expected to inherit much of his party rivals' strength in the runoff he will make against Tower.

Tower corralled 900,000 votes last fall, but Texas observers say some of this was anti-Johnson and won't be with him this time.

The time when a GOP candidate will break into the senatorial line-up in the southern tier of states still is regarded as somewhat distant. But Texas could be a break-through state.

LONG MAY IT FLY

The following appears at the masthead of a Texas newspaper:

"The Pecos Independent is a non-partisan, conservative newspaper dedicated to promoting the individual's freedom and the growth of Pecos and West Texas . . . . We subscribe to the belief that freedom is a gift of God and not a political grant. We believe that our welfare shall depend on our own initiative and ability; we believe in maintaining a society in which the citizen has fullest individual freedom and the government's primary paramount role is the protection of that freedom."

In this objective lies the freedom of the press.

An economist says the country will never solve its basic farm problem until more farmers quit farming. He may be an economist but he's no politician.

Eleanor Roosevelt wants President Kennedy to revive her husband's fireside chats. While he's at it, he should build a fire under Congress.

MORE ORGANIZATIONS

Everyday in come announcements of new organizations that are excited about one or another phase of public life. One hears much about the apathy of the American people, but no people is apathetic which has so many organizations to tell its rulers how to rule.

The National Committee For a Representative Congress is a conservative organization whose letterhead bears many distinguished names. In its statement of its purposes, this organization says that it is:

"An independent, non-partisan group of public-spirited citizens, neither 'rightists' or 'leftists,' Nationally organized to give recognition, and support where needed, to selected Senators and Congressmen taken not on a basis of their political party or philosophy, but solely on their individual records of outstanding courageous public service."

This resort to individual rather than party support is interpretable as being designed to help favorite candidates with campaign contributions which is no sin. Apparently, those who manage this Committee discovered that some of its members also belong to the John Birch Society and they will have none of it. Robert Austin, Chairman of The National Committee For a Representative Congress, says:

"I am asking any members of The National Committee For a Representative Congress who may have joined the John Birch Society to drop their Society membership or else withdraw from membership in the N.C.R.C."

This is indeed a challenge. It denies a man the right to believe that both these organizations are worthy. It is a form of monolithism which those who do not like the Communist way find so reprehensible, namely, that one man should dictate to another, that membership in an organization includes independence of thought. Of course, most churches adhere to this position, each maintaining that it has been chosen by God as an instrument for His will. However, when this exclusiveness enters politics, it is somehow abhorrent.

Austin further says:

"We do not down grade the Communist menace in any respect, but we feel it is a proper function of our government to protect us from this danger. We believe the F.B.I. and the two Constitutional Committees, The House un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Sub-committee are actively and conscientiously trying to do this. . . ."

Suppose they are, does that preclude citizens from organizing to fight a cause with which they disagree? If the Communists may organize to be Communists, may not the anti-Communists organize for their purpose? If the FBI and the House and Senate Committees are to do all our thinking, our complaining and protesting, why does such an organization as this one exist? It is merely to say, Amen, to what the FBI and the two Committees have to say?

I battle for thoughtful, erudite, meaningful conservatism, but when I read such a release as the one from The National Committee For a Representative Congress, I wonder what kind of a country this has become. According to this Committee's concepts, absolute conformity is essential to good government. Under such a concept, the Lincoln-Douglas Debates would have been outlawed as slanders upon government leaders and such an editor as Horace Greeley would have to be horsewhipped for having views of his own.

In fact, what this Committee proposes is a static country, one that does not grow and does not change, despite wars and sputniks. The release says:

". . . All the hopes of America and our nation's strength must be built on the foundation of unity, faith in each other, and national solidarity."

There is more prospect in a good argument than in pius hand-holding and the shouting of "Glory be!" Perfection was reached when Aaron Burr killed Alexander Hamilton and nothing new needs to be added. This, of course, is not conservatism. It is a static way of life.

I see on the Advisory Council of this organization my friend, Gene Tunney, who is an arguefier if ever there was one. He perhaps should be silenced because he and I belong to a club where anyone can smear, malign, mistreat, abuse anyone, so long as it is done with wit and wisdom. The only crime that can be committed there against the Republic is to be a bore. Such are despised because they are authors of indigestion.

When a committee organizes to commit conformity, to suppress opposition, and to uphold dreary consistency, there ought to be a law against felonious assault on the intellect.

Cracking Bones, Joints Not Serious Ailments

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Can you please tell me the cause and cure for cracking joints? The cracking in my ankle, when I bend, is very embarrassing. I was advised to take cod liver oil and after forcing down nearly a bottle the cracking seems even worse."

And another correspondent, with a related problem, writes: "when I lift heavy things out of the washer, something in my chest has begun to crack. My husband can hear it crack. And recently, my chest has started to hurt just where you hear the crack. Is this serious? The place is just below my breast. Could it turn to cancer?"

Cracking joints, as described by the first letter-writer, are of no medical importance. I've been a knuckle-cracker all my life. When I was young, I was warned that knuckle-cracking would lead to enlargements and deformities of the joints. It hasn't. But these morsels of misinformation have more lives than the proverbial cat.

The cracking of the second correspondent is another matter, but also not serious. It is unrelated to the breast or to cancer but often a cause for worry and errors in diagnosis.

If you will feel for the lower end of your breastbone (sternum), you will find a movable firm body that's call the ensiform cartilage. Many patients, feeling this for the first time, are fearful that it's a stomach tumor. It isn't, of course. It's a normal structure that once in a while suffers a blow or a pressure injury and hurts for quite a while before it quiets down by itself.

Now, if you'll feel along the lower border of the chest cage from the ensiform cartilage toward either side, you'll run your finger along the attachments of the free ribs. They're called free ribs because they don't attach firmly to the sternum as the upper ribs do. They sort of crunch together to form an archway for the abdomen.

When these free ribs get spread wide apart as they do in the last months of a pregnancy or when they get jammed apart as from pressure or a blow they separate a bit. Medically this is called a subluxation. It's something like the dislocation of an ankle or a shoulder.

When these subluxated free ribs scrape against each other they may cause a crunching or cracking sound just as was described. This sound may be heard by others such as our patient's husband. The sound may be accompanied by pain, sometimes severe pain.

When this pain is on the left side, particularly in the male, it is easily mistaken for heart pain (angina pectoris). And when it's on the right, especially in a woman who is obese or pregnant, it is easily mistaken for gallstone colic.

Thus while this subluxation is medically unimportant and while the pain it causes usually goes away by itself or can be relieved by local injection of an anesthetic it often is a source for anxiety. It is easily misinterpreted as an indication of serious underlying disease, but it's also easily recognized if looked for. All you need to do is press the trigger spot and you'll be in no doubt as to its harmless origin.

Tropical Storm

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Kennedy administration's new omnibus farm bill is over 100 pages long and so complicated it will be intelligible to experts only after much study.

But behind the technicalities, the general administration approach to the farm problem can be outlined.

The No. 1 objective is to increase farm income. This is proposed not only for the sake of the farmers. It is also intended to be a general starter to get the whole national economy running faster.

IN THE LAST TWO MONTHS, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has raised support prices on some 20 commodities. The list includes such important crops as corn, cotton and cottonseed, feed grains, peanuts, milk and butterfat, dry beans and honey. The net effect is expected to be a $1.5 billion increase in gross farm income this year.

To do this, Freeman has acted under authority granted him by existing law. But for further action with wider effect on next year's crops, the administration will need vast new powers. Those are what Kennedy is requesting.

Congress may balk at granting the secretary the sweeping authority being requested for him by the President to plan and conduct more flexible farm programs.

The administration is proposing to build in certain safeguards. These may be generally characterized as "farmer approval" for all new plans.

IN BRIEF, THE TECHNIQUE WILL BE that the secretary will propose a new program for specific crops. This will be submitted in a referendum to farmers raising each crop. If two-thirds of the farmers voting approve the plan, it will be adopted and put into force unless Congress disapproves.

This veto power may sound like giving Congress a voice in the determination of new farm policy. But what it would do is take away from Congress its past and present powers to originate farm policy, to play politics with farm policy, to try to get the most congressmen can for farmer constituents and then get credit for it when congressmen run for re-election.

If Congress refuses to surrender to the President and Freeman this broad power to make farm policy this year, the administration may have to come up with some quickie programs to meet emergency situations.

WHEAT OFFERS THE BEST EXAMPLE. For the past two years, Congress was unable to enact a wheat program which former President Eisenhower would sign. Former Agriculture Secretary Benson therefore continued for this year's crop the 75 per cent of parity, $1.78 per bushel wheat support price.

This legislative stalemate on wheat is good evidence to support granting the secretary of agriculture more authority to act when action is needed. Certainly a new wheat program that will cut U. S. production and start to bring the huge surpluses under control must be enacted before next year's winter wheat crop is planted in the Southwest late this summer.

THERE ARE MANY OTHER PROPOSALS in the complete Kennedy farm program. They include reorganization of the Farmers Home Administration and expansion of farm credit facilities.

There is a new spirit in the top echelons of the Department of Agriculture now that reminds some old timers of the New Deal enthusiasm in depression days.

Then, as now, there was concern that the agricultural economy was ready to fall off a cliff and that strong ropes would be needed to save it. The drive now is to do as much as possible for the average and below-average farmers.

Freeman called in the farm organizations to help him work out a program when he first came to town. They broke up in disagreement. Since then, Farmers Union representatives have moved into the department in good numbers, with smaller representation from the National Grange.

American Farm Bureau Federation, which rode high during the Eisenhower-Benson administration, is now on the outside. But it still has strong support in Congress. And this influence may be used effectively to oppose much of the Kennedy program.

That's the essence of farm politics today.

What Kennedy Really Said About 'Intervention' in Cuba

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Apr. 18—In fairness to President Kennedy, it must be noted that he never said—as so many news stories have inferred—that under no circumstances would the armed forces of the United States be sent into Cuba.

What the President did say at his news conference on April 12 was that the forces of the United States would not be employed in any armed "intervention." The key word is "intervention." This, in diplomacy, means a direct interference or interjection of military strength in a dispute between factions inside a country where there is no constituted government.

What Mr. Kennedy said, on the other hand, does not rule out at all a possible landing of United States forces at any time in Cuba or in any other country in the world whenever the lives and properties of American citizens may require protection. Nor does the Kennedy statement foreclose the possibility that, if a new government arises in Cuba and formally requests military aid from the United States to help protect American lives, this form of help, recognized also in international law, would be forthcoming.

It is important for the record and to avoid misunderstandings in Latin America, in the event of later crises in Cuba, to point out exactly what the President said at his news conference. It is essential that the question to which he was replying also be noted. The exchange was as follows:

"Q. Mr. President has a decision been reached on how far this country would be willing to go in helping an anti-Castro uprising or invasion in Cuba? What could you say with respect to recent developments as far as the anti-Castro movements in Cuba are concerned?

"A. Well, first I want to say that there will not be under any conditions an intervention in Cuba by United States armed forces. This government will do everything it possibly can, and I think it can meet its responsibilities, to make sure that there are no Americans involved in any actions inside Cuba."

Context of Answer

The context of the answer is related solely to 'intervention"—the giving of help to one side as against another in an internal revolution. Mr. Kennedy was speaking strictly in conformity with international law and historical precedent. Though the United States has extended recognition—sometimes too soon—it has never conceded that it used its military forces as a matter of "intervention" in the internal affairs of a sovereign state.

Even in 1903 when a faction inside Colombia seceded and established an independent government and called it the Republic of Panama—including the area of the canal—President Theodore Roosevelt within a few days recognized the new government as independent and gave it armed help. But there was official insistence afterward that the United States had not "intervened." Colombia never forgot the episode and in 1914 a treaty was signed which was ratified by Congress in 1921. It contained an "expression of regret" over the episode and provided for the payment to Colombia of a $25,000,000 indemnity by the United States as a means of calming the bitterness of feeling against this country that had arisen in Latin America as a result of the recognition of Panama.

Incidentally, President Kennedy in his news conference announced: "We do not intend to take any action with respect to the property or other economic interests which American citizens formerly held in Cuba, other than formal and normal negotiations with a free and independent Cuba.

"The basic issue in Cuba is not one between the United States and Cuba. It is between the Cubans themselves."

Five days later—on Monday of this week—Secretary of State Rusk at a press conference carefully underlined in a written statement President Kennedy's concept of avoiding "intervention" in the internal affairs of Cuba. He was asked and answered this question:

"Q. Does your categorical statement that we are not going to intervene in Cuba, period, mean that this administration is abandoning the traditional reservation that we reserve the right to intervene to protect American lives?

"A. That particular question is one for the future, and I would not wish to relate it particularly to Cuba because of the debate now going on in the United Nations at this very moment."

So it is clear that the present disturbance is regarded here as internal and there will be no armed "intervention" by United States forces.

Once, however, a new government is established and recognized it will be given any help it needs if requested from the United States, including military aid.

If, before any new government arises, the existing regime endangers American lives or attacks the United States Naval Base at Guantanamo, this becomes an international rather than an internal affair and is subject to the usual rules of international law which sanction the use of military force in a a foreign country.

Some may still call this "intervention" in an internal controversy but in diplomacy it is merely the exercise of an international right in an international dispute.

If Russia establishes a foothold in Cuba this could be considered a violation of the Monroe Doctrine and of defense treaties with Latin American states. The United States could resist the Russian move and this could mean war.

Now we get our news by newspaper, radio and TV. Local news has always been of greatest interest to every locality. Going back to 1850's in Kingston, according to an "Ulster (County) Democrat" newspaper of October 14, 1851, Tobias H. Van Steenbergh, was the 'Village Cryer.' He advertised in this paper loaned to me many years ago by Charles O'Connor. The advertisement read in part Bills posted, and circulated, also Village Cryer, Kingston, N. Y. I wonder if he carried a bell and wore a special costume. No doubt people around here, stopped in their work and came out to listen when he went by.

Buying sugar in the 1850's in Kingston was a little different than it is today. According to this paper of 1851, C. W. Schaffer's advertisement read: "Sugars: New Orleans, Cuba, Muscovado, Porto Rico, Stuart's Loaf, Stuart's Ground Loaf, Stuart's Crushed, Stuart's Coffee Crush."

Refreshments were sold in drug stores in Kingston as far back as 1851, I see. You could buy Preston's Portable Lemonade or Lemon Sugar at C. S. Clay's Drug Store, North Front and Wall Streets. Clay's advertisement read in part: "For making at any moment pure and rich lemonade of excellent flavor, not distinguishable from that made from the fresh fruit." I do not know if they served it in the store, perhaps only sold the products to make the artificial lemon drink.

James Rigney Jr., of 2 South Washington Avenue, loaned me the "Morning Courier" dated Monday, Dec. 26, 1881, printed in Rondout. One advertisement on the front page reads in part "Orders taken for ladies' and gents' seal-skin caps and gloves. R. E. Best, North Front Street.

They give a "City ordinance for paving a portion of Albany Avenue passed Dec. 12, 1881." Which read in part: "The Common Council of the City of Kingston do ordain as follows: Resolved: That the roadway of . . . Albany Avenue, in the City of Kingston, lying between the northerly line of Union Avenue and southerly line of Manor Avenue shall be paved with Telford or broken stone pavement, from gutter to gutter . . . The street shall be excavated to such a depth that the roadway, when completed shall have a crown or rising inclination of 16 inches (16) from the top of the gutter stones to the center of the street."

The item further reads: "The paving of broken stone shall be nine (9) inches in thickness and composed of three layers of broken stones as follows: The first layer consisting of broken stone from 2 to 3 inches in diameter, and laid so as to form a layer six inches (6) in thickness, and covered with sand or earth so as to fill the cavities, and the be rolled with a steam roller of not less than ten (10) tons in weight, until the pavement is firm and compact." Over which it seems, went smaller stones, and then even smaller stones all rolled down with the ten ton steam roller. "The paved roadway when completed to be of uniform depth of nine (9) inches."

It was also "Resolved, work be done by contract, and under the supervision of the Committee on Streets and the Superintendent of Streets, and that twenty-five per cent (25) of the expense shall be paid by general tax, and that seventy-five (75) per cent of the expense be defrayed by special assessment on the real estate tending or bordering on said Albany Avenue."

COUNTY LOSES GOOD CITIZEN

Ulster County has suffered a great loss in the death of John H. Saxe of West Hurley, one of the best known public figures in this area.

Mr. Saxe had a profound sense of community responsibility. To him an interest in civic affairs was essential to good citizenship and always he responded generously with his time, talents and financial support to all worthwhile civic and charitable causes.

Raised as a farm boy, he was intimately acquainted with the farm industry and its problems. The interests of the local farm people were close to him and he served them on both the boards of the Ulster County Farm Bureau and the Ulster County Agricultural Society.

His devotion to his birthplace and the people of that community was demonstrated in his pioneering a housing development in the village of West Hurley. This undertaking together with the Old Hurley building project has been very successful.

A high appraisal of his business judgment by the business interests of the community was shown in his election as trustee of the Ulster County Savings Bank and his selection as a director of the State of New York National Bank. Subsequently he was chosen president of the State of New York Bank and during his presidency it has expanded by opening a branch and consolidating with two other local banks.

A lifelong Republican and an astute politician, Mr. Saxe was elected sheriff of Ulster County and also county clerk, serving the latter office for two terms. He also served his township as tax collector and superivsor. He took an active part in Republican politics throughout the county and was the Republican leader of his community.

Throughout his life he worked tirelessly for the betterment of the community and his death leaves a great void.

NOT QUITE YET

Though a Republican topped the vote in the Texas race for Vice President Johnson's Senate seat, he seems to face an uphill fight for final victory.

The combined Democratic vote was twice the total mustered by the GOP entry, John Tower. Incumbent Sen. William Blakley, serving now by appointment, is expected to inherit much of his party rivals' strength in the runoff he will make against Tower.

Tower corralled 900,000 votes last fall, but Texas observers say some of this was anti-Johnson and won't be with him this time.

The time when a GOP candidate will break into the senatorial line-up in the southern tier of states still is regarded as somewhat distant. But Texas could be a break-through state.

LONG MAY IT FLY

The following appears at the masthead of a Texas newspaper:

"The Pecos Independent is a non-partisan, conservative newspaper dedicated to promoting the individual's freedom and the growth of Pecos and West Texas . . . . We subscribe to the belief that freedom is a gift of God and not a political grant. We believe that our welfare shall depend on our own initiative and ability; we believe in maintaining a society in which the citizen has fullest individual freedom and the government's primary paramount role is the protection of that freedom."

In this objective lies the freedom of the press.

An economist says the country will never solve its basic farm problem until more farmers quit farming. He may be an economist but he's no politician.

Eleanor Roosevelt wants President Kennedy to revive her husband's fireside chats. While he's at it, he should build a fire under Congress.

MORE ORGANIZATIONS

Everyday in come announcements of new organizations that are excited about one or another phase of public life. One hears much about the apathy of the American people, but no people is apathetic which has so many organizations to tell its rulers how to rule.

The National Committee For a Representative Congress is a conservative organization whose letterhead bears many distinguished names. In its statement of its purposes, this organization says that it is:

"An independent, non-partisan group of public-spirited citizens, neither 'rightists' or 'leftists,' Nationally organized to give recognition, and support where needed, to selected Senators and Congressmen taken not on a basis of their political party or philosophy, but solely on their individual records of outstanding courageous public service."

This resort to individual rather than party support is interpretable as being designed to help favorite candidates with campaign contributions which is no sin. Apparently, those who manage this Committee discovered that some of its members also belong to the John Birch Society and they will have none of it. Robert Austin, Chairman of The National Committee For a Representative Congress, says:

"I am asking any members of The National Committee For a Representative Congress who may have joined the John Birch Society to drop their Society membership or else withdraw from membership in the N.C.R.C."

This is indeed a challenge. It denies a man the right to believe that both these organizations are worthy. It is a form of monolithism which those who do not like the Communist way find so reprehensible, namely, that one man should dictate to another, that membership in an organization includes independence of thought. Of course, most churches adhere to this position, each maintaining that it has been chosen by God as an instrument for His will. However, when this exclusiveness enters politics, it is somehow abhorrent.

Austin further says:

"We do not down grade the Communist menace in any respect, but we feel it is a proper function of our government to protect us from this danger. We believe the F.B.I. and the two Constitutional Committees, The House un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Sub-committee are actively and conscientiously trying to do this. . . ."

Suppose they are, does that preclude citizens from organizing to fight a cause with which they disagree? If the Communists may organize to be Communists, may not the anti-Communists organize for their purpose? If the FBI and the House and Senate Committees are to do all our thinking, our complaining and protesting, why does such an organization as this one exist? It is merely to say, Amen, to what the FBI and the two Committees have to say?

I battle for thoughtful, erudite, meaningful conservatism, but when I read such a release as the one from The National Committee For a Representative Congress, I wonder what kind of a country this has become. According to this Committee's concepts, absolute conformity is essential to good government. Under such a concept, the Lincoln-Douglas Debates would have been outlawed as slanders upon government leaders and such an editor as Horace Greeley would have to be horsewhipped for having views of his own.

In fact, what this Committee proposes is a static country, one that does not grow and does not change, despite wars and sputniks. The release says:

". . . All the hopes of America and our nation's strength must be built on the foundation of unity, faith in each other, and national solidarity."

There is more prospect in a good argument than in pius hand-holding and the shouting of "Glory be!" Perfection was reached when Aaron Burr killed Alexander Hamilton and nothing new needs to be added. This, of course, is not conservatism. It is a static way of life.

I see on the Advisory Council of this organization my friend, Gene Tunney, who is an arguer if ever there was one. He perhaps should be silenced because he and I belong to a club where anyone can smear, malign, mistreat, abuse anyone, so long as it is done with wit and wisdom. The only crime that can be committed there against the Republic is to be a bore. Such are despised because they are authors of indigestion.

When a committee organizes to commit conformity, to suppress opposition, and to uphold dreary consistency, there ought to be a law against felonious assault on the intellect.

Cracking Bones, Joints Not Serious Ailments

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Can you please tell me the cause and cure for cracking joints? The cracking in my ankle, when I bend, is very embarrassing. I was advised to take cod liver oil and after forcing down nearly a bottle the cracking seems even worse."

And another correspondent, with a related problem, writes: "when I lift heavy things out of the washer, something in my chest has begun to crack. My husband can hear it crack. And recently, my chest has started to hurt just where you hear the crack. Is this serious? The place is just below my breast. Could it turn to cancer?"

Cracking joints, as described by the first letter-writer, are of no medical importance. I've been a knuckle-cracker all my life. When I was young, I was warned that knuckle-cracking would lead to enlargements and deformities of the joints. It hasn't. But these morsels of misinformation have more lives than the proverbial cat.

The cracking of the second correspondent is another matter, but also not serious. It is unrelated to the breast or to cancer but often a cause for worry and errors in diagnosis.

If you will feel for the lower end of your breastbone (sternum), you will find a movable firm body that's call the ensiform cartilage. Many patients, feeling this for the first time, are fearful that it's a stomach tumor. It isn't, of course. It's a normal structure that once in a while suffers a blow or a pressure injury and hurts for quite a while before it quiets down by itself.

Now, if you'll feel along the lower border of the chest cage from the ensiform cartilage toward either side, you'll run your finger along the attachments of the free ribs. They're called free ribs because they don't attach firmly to the sternum as the upper ribs do. They sort of crunch together to form an archway for the abdomen.

When these free ribs get spread wide apart as they do in the last months of a pregnancy or when they get jammed apart as from pressure or a blow they separate a bit. Medically this is called a subluxation. It's something like the dislocation of an ankle or a shoulder.

When these subluxated free ribs scrape against each other they may cause a crunching or cracking sound just as was described. This sound may be heard by others such as our patient's husband. The sound may be accompanied by pain, sometimes severe pain.

When this pain is on the left side, particularly in the male, it is easily mistaken for heart pain (angina pectoris). And when it's on the right, especially in a woman who is obese or pregnant, it is easily mistaken for gallstone colic.

Thus while this subluxation is medically unimportant and while the pain it causes usually goes away by itself or can be relieved by local injection of an anesthetic it often is a source for anxiety. It is easily misinterpreted as an indication of serious underlying disease, but it's also easily recognized if looked for. All you need to do is press the trigger spot and you'll be in no doubt as to its harmless origin.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Kennedy administration's new omnibus farm bill is over 100 pages long and so complicated it will be intelligible to experts only after much study.

But behind the technicalities, the general administration approach to the farm problem can be outlined.

The No. 1 objective is to increase farm income. This is proposed not only for the sake of the farmers. It is also intended to be a general starter to get the whole national economy running faster.

IN THE LAST TWO MONTHS, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has raised support prices on some 20 commodities. The list includes such important crops as corn, cotton and cottonseed, feed grains, peanuts, milk and butterfat, dry beans and honey. The net effect is expected to be a $1.5 billion increase in gross farm income this year.

To do this, Freeman has acted under authority granted him by existing law. But for further action with wider effect on next year's crops, the administration will need vast new powers. Those are what Kennedy is requesting.

Congress may balk at granting the secretary the sweeping authority being requested for him by the President to plan and conduct more flexible farm programs.

The administration is proposing to build in certain safeguards. These may be generally characterized as "farmer approval" for all new plans.

IN BRIEF, THE TECHNIQUE WILL BE that the secretary will propose a new program for specific crops. This will be submitted in a referendum to farmers raising each crop. If two-thirds of the farmers voting approve the plan, it will be adopted and put into force unless Congress disapproves.

This veto power may sound like giving Congress a voice in the determination of new farm policy. But what it would do is take away from Congress its past and present powers to originate farm policy, to play politics with farm policy, to try to get the most congressmen can for farmer constituents and then get credit for it when congressmen run for re-election.

If Congress refuses to surrender to the President and Freeman this broad power to make farm policy this year, the administration may have to come up with some quickie programs to meet emergency situations.

WHEAT OFFERS THE BEST EXAMPLE. For the past two years, Congress was unable to enact a wheat program which former President Eisenhower would sign. Former Agriculture Secretary Benson therefore continued for this year's crop the 75 per cent of parity, $1.78 per bushel wheat support price.

This legislative stalemate on wheat is good evidence to support granting the secretary of agriculture more authority to act when action is needed. Certainly a new wheat program that will cut U. S. production and start to bring the huge surpluses under control must be enacted before next year's winter wheat crop is planted in the Southwest late this summer.

THERE ARE MANY OTHER PROPOSALS in the complete Kennedy farm program. They include reorganization of the Farmers Home Administration and expansion of farm credit facilities.

There is a new spirit in the top echelons of the Department of Agriculture now that reminds some old timers of the New Deal enthusiasm in depression days.

Then, as now, there was concern that the agricultural economy was ready to fall off a cliff and that strong ropes would be needed to save it. The drive now is to do as much as possible for the average and below-average farmers.

Freeman called in the farm organizations to help him work out a program when he first came to town. They broke up in disagreement. Since then, Farmers Union representatives have moved into the department in good numbers, with smaller representation from the National Grange.

American Farm Bureau Federation, which rode high during the Eisenhower-Benson administration, is now on the outside. But it still has strong support in Congress. And this influence may be used effectively to oppose much of the Kennedy program.

That's the essence of farm politics today.

County Historical Society to Meet At Marbletown

The first meeting of Ulster County Historical Society for 1961 will be held Saturday 2:30 p. m. at Bevier House Marbletown

Members long familiar with the house will be surprised at the changed interior. The semi-modern front staircase has been removed, also the partitions bisecting the hall so that the original proportions have been restored making a wide long hall from front to back. This will be used as a meeting room. It was here that an interesting design of the original floor was discovered. A stencil design hand-painted in blue and yellow to simulate tiles showed where partitions have been removed.

Experts termed it an interesting example of a lost folk art rarely found today and almost unknown in Ulster County. Entrance to the upper floor is now by way of the original stairway in the rear of the hall. The south room, recently redecorated and refurnished will be used for the teas which follow the meetings until further plans for reconstruction are completed.

The Bevier house built in the 18th Century was damaged by fire and subsequently rebuilt in the early 19th Century. It is being restored to correspond as nearly as possible to that Federal Period. Several handsome pieces of furniture and paintings have been given or are on loan to the society recently. Dr. James Vanderpool of New York and Esopus and Mrs. Hamilton Boyd of Kingston are among recent donors.

Members of the Renovation Committee are Jansen H. Preston chairman, John P. Remensnyder co-chairman, both of Saugerties; Miss Emily D. B. Hoysradt, paintings; Charles Ellis, furniture; Herbert Cutler, landscape and furniture, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Small, Kerhonkson and Mrs. Preston, painting and decorating; Dr. Vanderpool, Esopus, architecture; Miss Frances E. Preston, secretary.

The society hopes to reproduce the type of home typical of the best homes of the county of the early Federal era.

Following the business meeting Benjamin Karp of the College of Education, New Paltz, will speak on "Sawn Sculpture."

ENGINEERS PRESENT PLAQUE TO IBM —At a recent meeting of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, a plaque was presented to the Federal Systems Division, International Business Marchine Corp., here, for its research in tool and manufacturing engineering, and for advancement of scientific and educational programs in creative manufacturing. From left are Andrew Horvath, second vice chairman of the society; Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the IBM installation here, receiving the plaque; George A. Berk, president of Graphic Techniques, Inc., and chairman of engineering society, making the presentation; Victor Patience, of IBM, who is treasurer of the society, and Robert E. Morris, secretary. With the plaque for IBM was an affiliate membership in the society.

Plans Are Being Formulated For Realtor Week Observance

Members of the Ulster County Board of Realtors are now starting to plan, with other civic and business leaders of the community, to celebrate Realtor Week which will be observed nationally from April 23 to 29, Raymond Korzendorfer, president of the board, announced today.

Specific plans for the observance of Realtor Week, designed to acquaint the public with the advantages of buying or selling real property through the services of a Realtor, are the responsibility of the board's Realtor Week committee, headed by Dewey Logan, Mr. Korzendorfer said.

Observed Annually

Realtor Week is held annually under auspices of the National Association of Real Estate Boards of which the Ulster County board is a member. Realtor Week will be observed by at least 600 Real Estate Boards across the country.

"We Realtors know the purchase or sale of real estate, particularly the buying or selling of a home, is probably the most important transaction in which most persons ever engage", Korzendorfer said, "and we want the public to know that Realtors can help them in such a transaction with the highest standards of professional competence and ethics. During Realtor Week we will re-emphasize this point".

By way of background, the Ulster County Board of Realtors president said the NAREB constitution defines a Realtor as "a person, engaged in the real estate business is a board member or an individual member of NAREB, and is subject to its rules and regulations, observes its standards of conduct and is entitled to its benefits." Such membership is extended to brokers who have demonstrated their competence and adherence to ethical practices in addition to passing state license examinations.

The term Realtor is exclusive designation of members of local real estate boards and NARES by virtue of its registration with the U. S. Patent Office.

Founded in 1908, NAREB adopted its code of ethics in 1913. This code defines in specific terms the rules of conduct that are to govern the Realtor in his relations with the public, his clients, and other Realtors. Many state real estate license commissioners have cited NAREB Code as the most advanced set of ethical standards existent.

Public acceptance of the service standards of Realtors has been such that today NAREB ranks as one of the largest trade associations in the nation with 68,818 members and 1,372 boards.

Final plans for local observance of Realtor Week will be made Thursday evening, April 20, at the monthly meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Youth calls to youth. That's why the old folks can never use the phone.

Maidenly Powwow

CLEVELAND (AP) — Each evening, 13 maidens of the Navajo, Sioux, Chippewa and Creek Indian tribes gather to munch hamburgers and potato chips, listen to records, write letters and study their lessons. Aided by the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs, the girls—who are between 18 and 23—have left their families in Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and South Dakota to seek education and employment in Cleveland. All live at the YWCA.

Probe of School System Is Ordered by Allen

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state education commissioner has dismissed appeals that he remove two members of the Levittown, L. I., Board of Education but ordered the board to plan an investigation of the school system.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., gave the board until June 1 to plan an investigation into the administration and program of the system.

He cited the number of appeals filed with him regarding Levittown school affairs and said he was concerned that "the recurring troubles in Levittown may be threatening to seriously interfere with the educational welfare of pupils of the district."

Allen dismissed appeals that he remove Salvatore C. Gangi and Robert S. Hoshino because, his office said, he found there was no case against either man.

Again West Foils Bidder

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand is almost the same as yesterday's Every player has exactly the same high cards and the only changes have been slight ones in distribution.

The play starts in exactly the same way also. South wins the opening heart lead in dummy and draws trumps with three leads. Then he throws West in with the queen of hearts and sits back in his chair.

If West is kind enough to lead a club South will have a chance to make his contract, but if West has been sitting up and taking notice West isn't going to do any such thing.

West is going to lead a heart and give South a perfectly useless ruff and discard.

Why is this ruff-discard play useless to South? Because after he does ruff in one hand and discard a club from the other he will still have the same losing club trick he started with.

Should West know this?

The answer is that West should know that a heart lead cannot possibly hurt him. He has been able to count South for only three spades and four trumps. Hence he must have six clubs and hearts. With only three clubs he will have an other heart left and there will be no ruff and discard. With four clubs the ruff and discard won't help him.

Again West Foils Bidder

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand is almost the same as yesterday's. Every player has exactly the same high cards and the only changes have been slight ones in distribution.

The play starts in exactly the same way also. South wins the opening heart lead in dummy and draws trumps with three leads. Then he throws West in with the queen of hearts and sits back in his chair.

If West is kind enough to lead a club South will have a chance to make his contract, but if West has been sitting up and taking notice West isn't going to do any such thing.

West is going to lead a heart and give South a perfectly useless ruff and discard.

Why is this ruff-discard play useless to South? Because after he does ruff in one hand and discard a club from the other he will still have the same losing club trick he started with.

Should West know this?

The answer is that West should know that a heart lead cannot possibly hurt him. He has been able to count South for only three spades and four trumps. Hence he must have six clubs and hearts. With only three clubs he will have another heart left and there will be no ruff and discard. With four clubs the ruff and discard won't help him.

Dutchess Court Sets Trial Date For Amesse Case

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz on Tuesday set Monday, May 22 for trial of David Amesse, 21, Staatsburg, who was indicted on charges of second degree murder and first degree manslaughter in the Dec. 21 death of Miss Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie.

Miss Perry perished in a plunge into the Hudson river from the Mid-Hudson bridge.

Judge Schwartz reserved decision on five defense motions, including one seeking permission to examine the report of an autopsy performed on Miss Perry. Other defense motions seek a bill of particulars, inspection of the grand jury minutes, inspection of a statement made to authorities by Amesse and examination of notes written by the defendant and Miss Perry.

Decision Put Off On Doyle Case To Appeals Court

An application to carry the Mary Doyle case to the Court of Appeals was heard this morning before Judge Stanley H. Fuld of the Court of Appeals. Joseph Avis, who appears for Mary Doyle, sought permission to appeal to the state's highest court from a conviction in Ulster County court.

A former employe of the Mohican Market in Kingston, Mary Doyle, Kingston was convicted on a charge of misappropriation of funds while she was employed in the office at the store. A 1½ to 3 years sentence was imposed.

Joseph Avis, counsel for defendant, appealed to the Appellate Division and the conviction was unanimously affirmed by that court. Avis charged the constitutional rights of defendant had been violated. Where a conviction is unanimously affirmed by the Appellate Division it becomes necessary to secure permission to carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

On the application today District Attorney David W. Corwin appeared for The People. Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca appeared for the prosecution at the trial in 1960.

Judge Fuld reserved decision, gave Joseph Avis a week to file a memorandum and allowed District Attorney Corwin a week to reply.

Hearings Slated On New Rules for Air Pollution

ALBANY — The New York State Air Pollution Control Board will hold public hearings in the near future on a proposed state-wide rule to require the inspection and approval of plans for construction or modification of pollution sources, such as large heating and power plants, incinerators, and some manufacturing processes.

Dr. Herman H. Hilleboe, state health commissioner and board chairman, said the rule, proposed by the board at its meeting April 7, would prevent contamination of the atmosphere from a growing number of new sources in the state.

Under the new proposal, plans would not be submitted to the state board if already approved by municipal agencies with qualified personnel using standards acceptable to the board. The proposal would not require plans for heating and incineration equipment installed in dwellings containing four or less apartments, restaurants, small bakeries, and other sources of pollution which singly are of minor importance. Protected manufacturing processes and trial installations would receive special handling.

The proposal cannot become effective until after state-wide hearings have been held and the rule is adopted by the board under powers given in by the Public Health Law. This law charges the board with the responsibility of controlling existent position, as well as new air pollution. Comprehensive field surveys are under way as new air pollution. Comprehensive field surveys are under way in several areas of the state. Regional rules controlling existent pollution will be based on the results of these surveys.

Copies of the state-wide proposed rule may be obtained by writing the State Air Pollution Control Board, 84 Holland Avenue, Albany 8.

Philomena's Name Is Removed From List of Saints

A Roman Catholic Church in the Town of Ulster likely will get a new name according to an announcement from Rome.

An Associated Press report says that the Catholic Church has stricken St. Philomena, "The Martyred Virgin" venerated for a century and a half, from its roll of saints.

St. Philomena's parish established several years ago recently completed a house of worship in the local town. The Rev. James E. McNally is pastor, having been appointed when the Rev. Msgr. Joseph Connolly, the founder, was transferred to Long Island.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Shea, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster County, today said no official notice had been received by him.

The Associated Press story from Rome said:

The sacred congregation of Rites said Philomena had been elevated from popular fervor rather than liturgical fact and that she had been neither martyr nor saint.

Philomena's beheaded body reportedly was found in the Tiber River in the 2nd Century A.D. Many miracles had been attributed to her in Italy and France but none was officially confirmed.

At least three churches in the United States have the name St. Philomena — at Pittsburgh, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, and Kingston, N. Y.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington quoted the Rev. John P. Lerhinan, superior of Holy Redeemer College in Washington, as saying the church in Pittsburgh undoubtedly will have to change its name, but he could not speak for the other churches.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, J. Edward Bernard, who passed away 5 years ago, April 19, 1956.

A leaf in the book of memories,
Is gently turned today;
And the sorrows placed upon that page,
Are as fresh as yesterday.
There is no parting for those we love,
No distance can divide;
For today in memory's garden,
We are walking side by side.

Dutchess Court Sets Trial Date For Amesse Case

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz on Tuesday set Monday, May 22 for trial of David Amesse, 21, Staatsburg, who was indicted on charges of second degree murder and first degree manslaughter in the Dec. 21 death of Miss Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie.

Miss Perry perished in a plunge into the Hudson river from the Mid-Hudson bridge.

Judge Schwartz reserved decision on five defense motions, including one seeking permission to examine the report of an autopsy performed on Miss Perry. Other defense motions seek a bill of particulars, inspection of the grand jury minutes, inspection of a statement made to authorities by Amesse and examination of notes written by the defendant and Miss Perry.

Decision Put Off On Doyle Case To Appeals Court

An application to carry the Mary Doyle case to the Court of Appeals was heard this morning before Judge Stanley H. Fuld of the Court of Appeals. Joseph Avis, who appears for Mary Doyle, sought permission to appeal to the state's highest court from a conviction in Ulster County court.

A former employe of the Mohican Market in Kingston, Mary Doyle, Kingston was convicted on a charge of misappropriation of funds while she was employed in the office at the store. A 1½ to 3 years sentence was imposed.

Joseph Avis, counsel for defendant, appealed to the Appellate Division and the conviction was unanimously affirmed by that court. Avis charged the constitutional rights of defendant had been violated. Where a conviction is unanimously affirmed by the Appellate Division it becomes necessary to secure permission to carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

On the application today District Attorney David W. Corwin appeared for The People. Assistant District Attorney Joseph Torraca appeared for the prosecution at the trial in 1960.

Judge Fuld reserved decision, gave Joseph Avis a week to file a memorandum and allowed District Attorney Corwin a week to reply.

Hearings Slated On New Rules for Air Pollution

ALBANY — The New York State Air Pollution Control Board will hold public hearings in the near future on a proposed state-wide rule to require the inspection and approval of plans for constrruction or modification of pollution sources, such as large heating and power plants, incinerators, and some manufacturing processes.

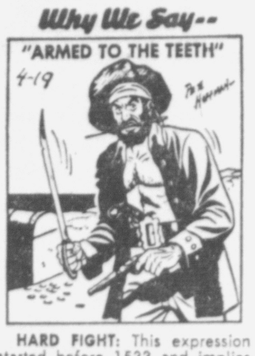

Dr. Herman H. Hilleboe, state health commissioner and board chairman, said the rule, proposed by the board at its meeting April 7, would prevent contamination of the atmosphere from a growing number of new sources in the state.

Under the new proposal, plans would not be submitted to the state board if already approved by municipal agencies with qualified personnel using standards acceptable to the board. The proposal would not require plans for heating and incineration equipment installed in dwellings containing four or less apartments, restaurants, small bakeries, and other sources of pollution which singly are of minor importance. Protected manufacturing processes and trial installations would receive special handling.

The proposal cannot become effective until after state-wide hearings have been held and the rule is adopted by the board under powers given in by the Public Health Law. This law charges the board with the responsibility of controlling existent position, as well as new air pollution. Comprehensive field surveys are under way as new air pollution. Comprehensive field surveys are under way in several areas of the state. Regional rules controlling existent pollution will be based on the results of these surveys.

Copies of the state-wide proposed rule may be obtained by writing the State Air Pollution Control Board, 84 Holland Avenue, Albany 8.

HARD FIGHT: This expression started before 1533 and implies to fight with great ferocity. It started with early Spanish pirates who would hide nails (and other metal) between their teeth when captured and then use them as weapons for escape.

Philomena'sName Is Removed From List of Saints

A Roman Catholic Church in the Town of Ulster likely will get a new name according to an announcement from Rome.

An Associated Press report says that the Catholic Church has stricken St. Philomena, "The Martyred Virgin" venerated for a century and a half, from its roll of saints.

St. Philomena's parish established several years ago recently completed a house of worship in the local town. The Rev. James E. McNally is pastor, having been appointed when the Rev. Msgr. Joseph Connolly, the founder, was transferred to Long Island.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Shea, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster County, today said no official notice had been received by him.

The Associated Press story from Rome said:

The sacred congregation of Rites said Philomena had been elevated from popular fervor rather than liturgical fact and that she had been neither martyr nor saint.

Philomena's beheaded body reportedly was found in the Tiber River in the 2nd Century A.D. Many miracles had been attributed to her in Italy and France but none was officially confirmed.

At least three churches in the United States have the name St. Philomena — at Pittsburgh, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio, and Kingston, N. Y.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington quoted the Rev. John P. Lerhinan, superior of Holy Redeemer College in Washington, as saying the church in Pittsburgh undoubtedly will have to change its name, but he could not speak for the other churches.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, J. Edward Bernard, who passed away 5 years ago, April 19, 1956.

A leaf in the book of memories,
Is gently turned today;
And the sorrows placed upon that page,
Are as fresh as yesterday.
There is no parting for those we love,
No distance can divide;
For today in memory's garden,
We are walking side by side.

Your living wife,
VIEVA

NEW YORK, (AP)—The price of sugar and the supply on the grocers' shelves can hold fairly steady whatever the outcome of the fighting in Cuba.

The U.S. system of regulating supply and price could withstand almost anything short of a world-wide conflict over Cuba between East and West.

Futures to Fluctuate

Futures trading in sugar on the world market will fluctuate, however. Prices of any commodity that moves across national boundaries—be it sugar, rubber, oil, cocoa, coffee—are very sensitive to any localized or widespread disturbance that could effect the flow.

Although the United States controls the domestic price of sugar, the commodity will both play a part in the international politics whirling about the Cuban island and be a prize in the outcome of the fighting there.

Castro uses sugar to pay for Soviet oil and arms. The United States has given much of Cuba's import quota to other producers. But it has retained a still unallotted tonnage with which it quickly could help anti-Castro forces financially if they win, or continue to withhold from Castro if he wins.

Our sugar quota system—originally set up to protect domestic producers, to regulate imports from our friends, and to maintain fairly stable retail prices—works this way:

The Department of Agriculture estimates how much sugar America will consume. Then it allocates a part of this to domestic cane and beet growers, and divides the rest among offshore sugar producers. The estimates and quotas are changed whenever supply and demand start to get out of balance.

2 Cents a Pound More

The U.S. price usually is about two cents a pound more than producers can get on the world market. So there is no shortage of offers of sugar at whatever quotas Washington sets.

April 1 the department set quotas of 6,702,805 tons for domestic and foreign areas, other than Cuba. This was to supply the U.S. market for the remainder of the year. Two weeks later it allocated 1,263,776 tons of sugar normally obtained from Cuba to sixteen other countries. Most of this went to Mexico, the Philippines and Brazil. Some 1.2 million tons has yet to be allocated.

Exploding stars, raindrops and the pulse of a volcano are topics of scientific news:

Cooked Words?

Astronomers recently detected two nova—two stars which suddenly exploded in glowing light and heat and other energy. A nova later subsides to its former faintness.

But the sudden, rapid expansion could well have burned or cooked any nearby planets and all their living things or "people." Whether this happened in the case of the two stars can only be a matter of speculation, since no one can know if they ever had planets. The novae were detected by Drs. Jason J. Nassau and Charles B. Stephenson of Case Institute of Technology.

Ready to Blow

Taking the pulse of a volcano, experts predict that Kilauea volcano in Hawaii is building up to another major eruption.

It has been re-inflating itself with magma or molten material from deep in the earth. Another sign is swarms of tiny, shallow earthquakes similar to those preceding major eruptions in 1955 and 1960.

But the exact date for an eruption cannot be foretold, say scientists at the Geological Survey Hawaiian Volcano Observatory.

Raindrop Barrage

The biggest raindrops usually fall at the start of a storm. Winds are the main reason. The larger drops are less affected by winds, hence fall more vertically, while smaller drops are blown out of vertical path, explain Prof. A. Nelson Dingle and Kenneth R. Hardy, University of Michigan Meteorological Laboratory.

They add it takes about a million cloud droplets of average size to form one raindrop.

Color TV

Watching color TV is usually easier on a person's eyes than a black and white screen, says the Vision Conservation Institute.

But color TV helps spot some eye troubles which might otherwise pass unnoticed. For example, far-sighted persons usually can see blues and greens more clearly than red colors, and a blurring or distortion while viewing red colors could signal the need for an eye examination.

Engine Development

NEW YORK (AP)—The automotive industry has reached a long-sought goal — an engine which will deliver one horsepower for each pound of its own weight. A California engineering company, says Steelways magazine, has unveiled a 175-pound engine which generates 175 horsepower. The American Iron and Steel Institute publication says the secret of the four-cylinder engine is an engine block assembly made of thin stainless steel sheet. The engine will be tested in sports and racing cars and boats.

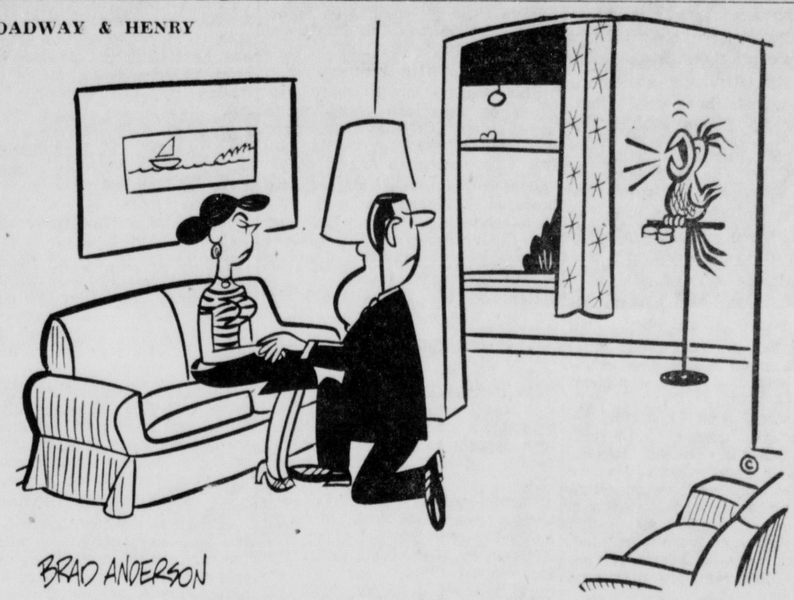

Dramatic Monograms

For long, long sweaters, Paris shows huge initials beautifully embroidered. The effect is dramatic.

Man Injured in Fall

A 79-year-old man was injured shortly before 1 p. m. Tuesday when he fell on railroad tracks off Dock Street at the rear of Forst's Packing Co., according to police. Leroy Clifford, of 5 West Union Street, was taken to Kingston Hospital in Fatum's ambulance. He was treated for a bump on the head, injuries of a hand and bruises.

Second Tough Warning to Nik in 10 Months

Doubtful All 21 American Republics Would Back U.S. if K Helps Castro

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's tough warning to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep hands off Cuba was the second time in 10 months an American president has done that. President Eisenhower did it last July.

But from the standpoint of opinion in some parts of the world, the United States is in the positionof saying, don't do what I do but do as I say.

Lebanon Is Example

In 1958, when the government of her next-door neighbor, Iraq was overthrown, Lebanon's President Chamoun asked this country for help to protect it against possible assault.

Eisenhower sent in Marines, even though Lebanon is just a hop-skip-and-jump from Russia. Now when Fidel Castro, in the American front yard, wants Russian help, the United States tells the Soviets to keep out.

While Lebanon wasn't invaded, Cuba has been—although Kennedy says Americans are taking no part in it.

Last July, long before Castro's government was invaded, Khrushchev not only pledged him full support against attack but threatened this country with rockets.

Eisenhower, in a warning just as tough as Kennedy's, told Khrushchev this country would "not be deterred" by Soviet threats from its pledges on allowing no foreign interference in the Western Hemisphere.

Treaty With 20 Others

This country has a treaty with 20 other American republics to prevent any outside interference with any of them or outside action that endangers them.

Again this week, with Castro besieged, Khrushchev said, "We shall render the Cuban people and their government all necessary assistance in beating back the armed attack on Cuba."

He said the armed bands invading Cuba had been trained in this country.

Kennedy told him Tuesday night: "In the event of any military intervention by outside force we will immediately honor our obligations under the inter-American system to protect this hemisphere against external aggression."

Then Kennedy, who has been leaning over backwards to sound non-belligerent and get along with Khrushchev, belted him with this for extra: "What your government believes is its own business; what it does in the world is the world business."

The "inter-American system" to which Kennedy referred is the same one Eisenhower had in mind. Its roots go back 137 years in American history.

One Step Further

In a message to Congress Dec. 2, 1823, President James Monroe said North and South America are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European powers."

This became known as the Monroe Doctrine. It kept European powers from moving into the Western Hemisphere after that. Thirteen years ago at Rio de Janeiro the American nations went one step further.

Instead of relying on the Monroe Doctrine alone — which put the burden of protection on the United States — they signed an agreement of "reciprocal assistance." Eventually 21 American republics signed.

Simply it pledged them to take mutual action against any attempt by an outside power which threatened the sovereignty of any of the 21 signers or otherwise endangered hemisphere peace.

Other Trouble Looms

If Russia did try to help Castro it is questionable whether all the signers of the treaty would join with the United States in any action it took against Soviet intervention in Cuba.

There has been a lot of demonstrating in Latin America these past few days over the invasion of Cuba. Cuba itself was a signatory to the treaty before Castro took over in 1959.

The Kennedy stand may be enough to discourage Khrushchev from any adventures on Castro's behalf. But, judging from the statement Khrushchev made Tuesday, it seems a good guess he'll now make trouble elsewhere.

In his message to Kennedy, promising Castro support, he said "we are sincerely interested in a relaxation of international tension, but if others aggravate it, we shall reply in full measure. And in general it is hardly possible to handle matters in such a way as to settle the situation and extinguish the conflagration in one area and kindle a new conflagration in another."

May Put Heat on Laos

He undoubtedly was talking about Kennedy's efforts to get Russia to agree to a cease-fire in Laos. Just two days ago this country said Russia's ideas on a cease-fire don't go far enough.

Khrushchev has been stalling on the cease-fire while the Communist guerrillas in Laos try to gobble up more of the country. Now Khrushchev is likely to put the heat on Laos for fair, and maybe some place else, too.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

WHY ARE THE STATES POOR?

If a policeman steals a man's clothes off his back, and then arrests him for indecent exposure, what would you say to the policeman?

When the Federal Government strips the States of most of their tax money, and then tells them that they are neglecting their school children and their poor folks, what do you say?

E. F. Hutton

Let's look at a few facts. Take a couple of the "needier" States, for example, Vermont and Mississippi. In 1958, Uncle Sam forced the people of Vermont to pay him $137 million. The State taxes its own people $37 million. In short, Vermont had to pay Uncle $100 million more than its legislature taxed its own people.

Mississippi people were forced to pay Uncle $343 million, but Mississippi collected taxes of only $160 million for its State government. Uncle stripped Mississippi of twice as much as her own State government.

Is it any wonder that we have what are called "poor States"? Who made them poor? They don't need Federal charity. They need more of their own earnings.

Let Uncle tax less and let the States keep more. Instead of building up a giant octopus in Washington, whose tentacles reach into every pocketbook, schoolroom, college, bank, highway, hospital, etc., and make the President a "benevolent Mussolini," why not cut Federal income, gasoline and other taxes, and let the States and the People run their own domestic affairs?

Upon whose meat doth this, our Caesar, feed?

Bid to Nixon Seen GOP Move for Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans gave some signs today they are beginning to pick up the pieces of their presidential election defeat and fit together a new pattern of unity.

An invitation for Richard M. Nixon to confer with GOP congressional leaders Thursday was interpreted generally as signaling a decline in criticism by many Republicans of the former vice president for losing the election.

Senate liberals expressed satisfaction over a pledge their views will be heard before the weekly "Ev and Charlie" television program is put on by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Will Pick Successor

Chairman Thruston B. Morton told Republican National Committee members they are going to get the opportunity to pick their own head man as his successor. The committee dutifully elected the men former President Dwight D. Eisenhower tapped when he occupied the White House.

Morton said he expects the party's executive committee, meeting here Friday, to come up with a formula for a nominating committee of sorts. The chairman has declined to name such a committee himself or to recommend a successor.

Because some committee members have been grumbling against any effort to handpick a new chairman, the executive group may set up a committee on a geographical basis to list several names that might be voted on at a June 2 session of the national committee.

3 More in Field

In this connection, three new names have been tossed into the speculation over Morton's successor. They are Walter Williams, former undersecretary of commerce and a 1952 Citizens-for-Eisenhower official; former Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, and former Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

However, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, still is looked upon as the most likely choice to succeed Morton.

Looking to Ike's Friends in Race For Governorship

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—James P. Mitchell, newly nominated Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, said today he will call on some old friends from the Eisenhower administration to boost his coming campaign.

Mitchell, former labor secretary, beat out two rivals in the Republican primary election Tuesday. In a victory statement he said he had promises of aid from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Richard J. Hughes, 51, a former judge who won the Democratic nomination with only token opposition, said that if Mitchell brings in national figures, he will consider calling on help from President Kennedy.

Returns from 4,379 of 4,394 districts in the primary election gave Mitchell 199,457 votes, State Sen. Walter H. Jones 156,933 and State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., 94,617.

Mitchell's victory over the veteran state legislators installed a new leadership at the head of New Jersey's Republican party, with Sen. Clifford P. Case, a liberal Republican, in command.

Jones ran with the backing of two-thirds of the GOP county organizations. Mitchell and Case said Jones represented an old-line leadership that had squandered the party's supremacy in the eight years since Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner was elected.

Meyner could not run for a third term. He leaves office next January.

Communities Are To Get $3 More Per Capita Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Communities throughout the state will receive an additional $3 million in per capita state aid this year, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

He announced he had signed a bill under which localities that have gained population since the 1950 census will be given the aid on the basis of the higher, 1960 census figures.

Those that lost population will be given the aid on the basis of the higher, 1950 census figures.

The plan applies to the 1961-62 fiscal year only. In the next budget, the aid will be distributed on the basis of the new figures.

Several cities in the state, including New York City, lost population to their suburbs between 1950 and 1960.

Per capita aid is given to localities for general, government use. Other forms of state aid are allocated for specific purposes, such as highways.

Per capita aid this year will total $100 million. The total state aid budget is $1.2 billion, of which nearly $800 million is for education.

Under the per capita aid formula, cities are given $6.75 for each resident; towns, $3.55 and villages, $3.

Elmira, Then a Village, Played An Important Part in Civil War

(EDITORS: Elmira, then a village, played a prominent Northern role in the Civil War. It was the site of a prison camp, of one of the state's three major recruitment and training areas, of two military hospitals. Here, too, was mustered the nucleus of the state's first Union regiment. This Associated Press Membership Enterprise story tells of Elmira's war activity a century ago.

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Tension hung in the air in the spring of 1861, like a thick fog.

Elmira was in the midst of events that reflected the mounting trouble that exploded into Civil War that April, between the agrarian South and the industrializing North.

For years, Elmira had been an important station on the underground railroad that carried slaves to freedom in Canada. The author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a fiery book on slavery's evils, was Harriet Beecher Stowe, whose half-brother, Thomas K. Beecher, was minister of an Elmira Church founded by abolitionist Jervis Langdon.

And then came the shelling of Fort Sumter by Charleston, S.D., shore batteries. The fort fell April 14, 1861.

Elmira Guard Goes to War

The next day, President Lincoln called for 75,000 volunteers to serve three months. Before the sun went down, an Elmira guard company that had been formed 21 years previously became the nucleus of the first regiment in New York State to be mustered. It was Company K of the 23rd Regiment.

Clerks, mechanics and young farm lads, welcoming a change from the sweaty toil of spring plowing and planting, answered the call. They looked toward a lark in uniform.

But in a single hour at Bull Run, with its bloodshed and route of ill-trained, blue-clad troops, joking boys became terrified men.

Three months after Lincoln's first call, Elmira became one of New York State's three military depots by order of Gov. Edward D. Morgan. The others were Albany and New York.

Chosen for Location

Elmira was chosen because of its geographical location and its position astride the Erie and the Williamsport & Elmira Railroads and beside the Chemung Canal.

Almost overnight, Elmira became a major military center. Men streamed into numerous recruiting centers to enlist and to be outfitted and trained. Then they were sent by rail, often in open cattle cars, to take their places in the blue wave that rolled southward.

Housing and feeding the men posed a serious problem to a village the size of Elmira. Troops were quartered in churches, storehouses and a barrel factory, among other places. Two military hospitals also were installed, one in a former carriage factory.

20,796 Sent to Action

Thirty-four units with a total of 20,796 officers and men were sent into action from Elmira.

Three barracks areas were established. One of them, roughly 30 acres, served as the Elmira Prison Camp from 1864 to the end of the war.

In a national cemetery at Elmira sleep nearly 3,000 of the 12,000 Confederate soldiers who died in the prison. They were buried by Jon Jones, a slave who had escaped his master.

Elmira folk never have tried to gloss over shortcomings of the prison.

Men with more enterprise than delicacy erected stands on Water St., from which gawkers looked over the pine plank stockade at men far from home and likely never to see home again. Seventeen prisoners escaped.

The camp pond became a vast repository of refuse that spelled disease.

Hit by Small Pox

A flood hit the camp on St. Patrck's Day, 1865, a few weeks before the war ended. Small pox broke out. Men weakened by war and deprivation died. There was not enough medicine to ease the suffering.

But Elmira doctors and clergymen overrode objections and ministered to the hearts and bodies of men who were brothers in uniforms of another color. People sent comforts to the camp from their own scanty supplies.

Whatever its deficiencies, the camp was kept as clean as its supervisors could manage. It had a hospital. The men who died were given reverent burial in a plot where only a few die-hards considered them rebels who had died in a Yankee prison.

The dead were buried as soldiers beneath markers bearing their names, ranks and units. The graves were kept green. Often they were strewn with flowers.

Talks Collapse Again Between Markets, Union

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Negotiations to end a strike of clerks and meatcutters at supermarkets have collapsed again in a dispute mainly over job security.

As a result, approximately 275 supermarkets from Rochester to Albany and in northern Pennsylvania appear certain to remain closed for a third shopping weekend.

The Amalgamated Meatcutters, Butchers and Affiliated Crafts Union struck 75 Loblaw stores April 7. The Great Atlantic & Pacific, Acme, P&C, and Victory-Johnson, closed in sympathy.

A union spokesman said Tuesday night that 98 per cent of the difficulty in agreeing to a contract involved job security.

Management has offered raises ranging to $9 a week for key employes.

The talks broke off Tuesday night and no time or place was set for resumption.

Net Income Dips

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The National Gypsum Co., has reported net income for the first three months of 1961 of $2,744,442, equal to 42 cents a share. The net income for the same period in 1960 was $3,791,786, or 60 cents a share.

The decline was attributed to generally poor economic conditions and the severe winter weather during the period.

3 Are Suspended In Move to Stop N. Y. Gambling

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy has declared his determination that illegal gambling here will be suppressed.

"He was madder than hell," an official said after the normally placid Murphy walked red-faced out of a closed-door meeting Tuesday with 100 of his highest-ranking officers.

Within hours after Murphy laid bare his dissatisfaction with the "quality" of gambling law enforcement, there came an announcement that three members of the force had been suspended.

Deputy Commissioner Walter Arm said the three plainclothesmen were accused of consorting with known criminals and gamblers. He hinted more suspensions might follow as the gambling investigation intensified.

Arm identified the three as Antonio J. Tesauro, 31, Corona, Queens; Kevin M. Corbett, 28, of Flushing, Queens, and Peter R. Celentano, 26, of Manhattan.

No criminal charges have been placed against them, Arm said.

He said the suspensions resulted from an investigation in which detectives of the confidential squad followed three other men to a store in the Inwood section of Nassau County last Friday night.

The store, Arm said, has been described as a front which housed an electrical device used to relay telephone calls from bookies. Gerard M. Callaghan, one of the three men followed there, now is in police custody.

Bandit Convinced By Tale of Woe, Leaves Minus Loot

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A service station operator spun a tale of woe to a would-be holdup man and the message hit home.

Charlie Darrow, 49, was ordered last night to turn over the day's receipts by a young man appearing to hold a pistol in his coat pocket.

Telling the man to "take it easy. . .I'm just trying to get along. . .my wife's in the hospital and my kid's sick, too," Darrow was surprised when the bandit in leaving empty handed answered:

"You're in the same fix I am . . .I know what you mean."

No criminal charges have been placed against them, Arm said.

He said the suspensions resulted from an investigation in which detectives of the confidential squad followed three other men to a store in the Inwood section of Nassau County last Friday night.

The store, Arm said, has been described as a front which housed an electrical device used to relay telephone calls from bookies. Gerard M. Callaghan, one of the three men followed there, now is in police custody.

Bandit Convinced By Tale of Woe, Leaves Minus Loot

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A service station operator spun a tale of woe to a would-be holdup man and the message hit home.

Charlie Darrow, 49, was ordered last night to turn over the day's receipts by a young man appearing to hold a pistol in his coat pocket.

Telling the man to "take it easy. . .I'm just trying to get along. . .my wife's in the hospital and my kid's sick, too," Darrow was surprised when the bandit in leaving empty handed answered:

"You're in the same fix I am . . .I know what you mean."

Most Powerful Computer Sent To Key Center

The IBM "stretch" computer, the most powerful computer in the world, designed and constructed over a five-year period at the corporation's laboratories in Poughkeepsie, is on its way to one of the nation's key nuclear research centers—Los Alamos Scientific laboratory in New Mexico.

At Los Alamos, the stretch system will be put to work on the complex and critical projects for which the laboratory has become a focal point in the free world: research and development in nuclear and thermonuclear energy.

First elements of stretch will arrive at Los Alamos today by truck, with the remainder of the system expected to complete its 2,000-mile journey from Poughkeepsie late this week.

In a week, the computer is capable of completing more than 250 billion computations. During that period, stretch would be able to simulate—within itself—a complete hydrogen weapon test.

The computer could analyze the propagation of shock waves and their effects; determine the intensity of radiation and examine the resulting fallout, taking into account varying meteorological conditions during the hypothetical detonation.

In addition to its use in weapons studies, the computer will play an important role in Project Rover, development of a nuclear-powered rocket engine for space exploration.

Project Sherman, in which Los Alamos scientists are attempting to produce controlled power from the thermonuclear fusion process, will create mathematical equations of unparalleled complexity.

Stretch also will expand the pioneering work done at Los Alamos in the design of nuclear reactors with high speed digital computers.

In the field of biomedical research, the computer's speed will make possible a greater scope of data processing activities in the study of radioactive fallout effects. In "stretching" existing computer technology, IBM engineers have developed a system which makes use of ultra-fast circuits, transistors and circuit components.

The computer could interrupt work on a total weapons stimulation to process data from a Project Rover reactor test. It could give priority to the test calculations, while other parallel functions in the system continue without pause.

The reliability of the Stretch system was indicated during preshipment tests at Poughkeepsie.

Action Proposed

mittee, the mayor and corporation counsel.

"I have been assured," the mayor wrote, "that once these lines are installed there would be no hindrance in any activity which takes place in the stadium grounds. It is conceivable that slight inconvenience would be experienced during construction of the sewer line."

Opinion on Cablevision

Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, in a letter, told the aldermen, it was his opinion, Kingston Cablevision, through installation and leasing of service at the Benedictine Hospital, was in violation of ordinance.

With the letter was a copy of one to Kelly from Attorney Howard C. St. John, in behalf of his client, Television Dealers Association. It asked that the corporation counsel take steps to "close the gap" in a section of the ordinance as enacted in January, 1958, and prohibit leasing of TV sets.

St. John asked that language be inserted to protect the dealers.

Considered Violation

"In my opinion," Kelly wrote, this constitutes a direct violation of Section 8 of the ordinance, and violates the spirit of the same, as was understood in the conference between their representatives and the committee of the Common Council dealing with the same."

Kelly proposed that "If your honorable body so desires, I believe we should serve the notice referred to in the ordinance and take such subsequent steps as may be desired."

Alderman Perry said he had not recalled any report as to the amount paid the city by Kingston Cablevision. The figures as provided for him by City Clerk Raymond J. McAndrew showed that the city, which claims three per cent of the gross take, was paid $412.32 in 1959 and $2,850.10 in 1960.

Ask Parade Downtown

Alderman Tomaszewski said he had heard rumors to the effect that the Memorial Day parade would not proceed to the downtown area this year, and he said if there were such plans, he wanted to know why.

Council President Kaye directed the city clerk to inquire by letter from those responsible for parade arrangements as to plans.

Alderman Hastings emphasized that the council provides money for the parade and should have something to say as to arrangements. Alderman Smith agreed and noted that firemen's parades have been routed downtown, and he saw no reason why the Memorial Day parade could not proceed there.

It seems, said Smith, "there's only one time" when downtown gets some thought, "and that's election time."

Discuss Thruway Fires

Fire calls being answered on the New York State Thruway by the 15 fire companies in the Fire Districts through which the Thruway runs, also came up for considerable discussion.

It was pointed out that many of the fire companies are not equipped to fight the type of fires which frequently face the volunteers when they answer an alarm.

Many of the large long distance trailer-trucks carry cargo of such nature that local fire companies are not equipped to meet the emergency. This type of cargo includes plastics, radioactive materials and other unusual cargo.

Would Label Trucks

The proposal that all trucks be properly labeled to designate the cargo contents, was made. It was stated that frequently the nature of the cargo is not known to volunteers when they respond, making it difficult to properly attack the fire.

The matter of proper posting of cargo on trucks and also other matters in regard to volunteer firemen answering an alarm on the Thruway will be taken up for solution.

372 Calls in February

A report on the calls handled through the Ulster County Fire Control Service on Golden Hill was made by George Majestic of Gardiner. Few people realize the number of calls and the detail work which is done by the men who man this service 24 hours a day, Majestic said.

During the month of February there were 372 calls received. Fire calls numbered 27, Mutual Aid 3, Civil Defense 41, Radio tests numbered 69 and there were three "quick call" tests. In addition there were numerous "time signal" calls and other calls which were recorded.

586 March Calls

In March there was a total of 586 calls. Fire calls numbered 52, Mutual Aid 7, Civil Defense 45, Radio tests 87 and there were 3 "quick call" tests. Time signals and other calls made up the total.

Two new members were accepted into membership. They were Paul E. McGuire of Hurley and George D. McEvoy of Tillson.

Convention in July

Progress on plans for the convention in New Paltz in July was reported by the Convention committee.

The May meeting will be held in Kripplebush.

Cuba Jails AP Man, Another Writer Freed

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Word from Havana reaching the U.S. naval base here indicates that Robert Berrellez, Arizona-born correspondent for The Associated Press, has been under arrest for the last three days.

A diplomat in Havana said by telephone that Harold K. Milks, stationed at Havana as chief of the AP's Caribbean services, was free as of 11 p.m. Tuesday.

A dispatch to the New York Times from Guantanamo said the Times' Havana correspondent, Mrs. R. Hart Phillips, was not accounted for. Harry Raymont of United Press International was reported under arrest. Richard Valeriani of NBC, formerly of the AP Havana staff, was said to have taken refuge in the Italian Embassy.

All American correspondents in Havana have been unable to transmit news since about 4 a.m. Monday.

points. The industry's pledge to include them in cars from 1962 models onward was made to Speno's committee.

Speno said the attachment points had been the most expensive part of seat-belt installations. With the points provided, he said, belts could be purchased for a few dollars.

A local automobile dealer estimated the cost of installing belts, with the attachment points provided by the car manufacturer, at $12.

The requirement will apply to passenger vehicles only.

The governor took this action on other bills:

Oxford Home—Signed a bill providing for the continuation of the Women Reliefs Corps Home at Oxford. The home provides care for former servicemen and—or their widows who are unable to work but are not in need of hospital care. Rockefeller originally had planned to close the home as an economy move but reversed his stand under pressure from the area's legislators.

Election Law—Approved a series of bills providing for schools for election inspectors in Essex, Wyoming and Greene counties and for local registrations under permanent, personal registion in Oswego and Suffolk County. The governor suggested that the Legislature consider a general law so that individual bills would not be needed to grant such permission.

vaders had captured an airfield in Las Villas Province and had isolated Bayamo, a coast seaport in eastern Oriente Province.

The Cuban army radio reported the recapture of Mayari, a town of 5,000 on the north coast of Oriente, indicating it had been in rebel hands.

The verbal war between the United States and the Soviet Union on the diplomatic front was more clear-cut.

Each Gives Warning

Each power warned the other against intervention in the Cuban revolt and each openly took sides —Washington with the anti-Castro forces and Moscow with the Castro government.

President Kennedy bluntly told Premier Khrushchev that the United States would take action "in the event of any military intervention" by the Soviets in Cuba.

Kennedy snapped back a reply to the Soviet leader within 10 hours after Khrushchev had appealed to the President to stop the "aggression" against Cuba and warned Moscow would supply "all necessary assistance" to preserve Castro's pro-Communist regime.

The Soviet Union followed up Khrushchev's note by demanding in the United Nations that the world organization condemn the United States as an aggressor. Observers thought the General Assembly would settle for another resolution appealing to all nations to refrain from any action that might aggravate the situation.

Kennedy openly proclaimed American sympathy with the forces trying to overthrow Castro and declared "the United States can take no action to stifle the spirit of liberty.' The President repeated his earlier declaration that Americans were not involved in the Cuban invasion and would not become involved militarily.

Communist bloc governments and newspapers continued a propaganda barrage depicting the United States as the aggressor in Cuba. Such allies as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic joined in.

To March On Embassy

In Moscow, Asian, African and Latin-American students at Patrice Lumumba University staged a violent anti-American rally and got set to march on the U. S. Embassy again. Hundreds of Soviet soldiers and police guarded the embassy. It appeared that a demonstration more violent than Tuesday was imminent.

Pro-Castro sympathizers, with leftists and Communists in the forefront, whipped up fresh and violent anti-American demonstrations throughout South America.

Several hundred wrecked the Mexican-American Cultural Institute in Morelia, 170 miles west of Mexico City, and director Eugene Kenny said he had to run for his life.

A crowd of 25,000 demonstrated in Mexico City in that capital's biggest demonstration in years.

One person was killed and 18 injured as a mob of 1,500 ran wild through the streets of Caracas, capital of Venezuela. They broke windows in a Sears Roebuck store overturned cars and shouted death to President Romulo Betancourt, once Castro's close friend but now opposed to him.

Other Outbreaks

National Guardsmen were summoned out in Panama to break up a mob that tried to march into the U. S.-controlled Panama Canal Zone. Three persons were injured, including one man who fell off a balcony in the excitement.

Communists paraded Tuesday night in three Italian cities—Milan, Genoa and Turin. The Milan demonstration erupted into a fight when a group of Fascists pounced on 500 marching Communists in Cathedral Square. Police guarded the U. S. Embassy in Rome.

Red China announced it would "forever stand" by the Castro government but did not say what kind of support it might give.

Film Is Available

The film, "Operation Abolition," depicting students riots at hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee in San Francisco in 1960,, is available for showing, it was reported today from the local office of congressman J. Ernest Wharton. Arrangements can be made through Bernhardt S. Kramer in the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel. Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson has reportedly endorsed the film.

Cuban Crisis At-A-Glance

MIAMI — Rebel air raiders bomb Cuban air force headquarters and strafe Havana in first attack on capital since invasion force landed. Invaders fighting in south-central Cuba. Firing squads and mass arrests used by government in hope of frightening Cubans from joining rebels.

WASHINGTON—Kennedy warns Khrushchev against direct Soviet intervention in Cuba after Soviet premier promises Castro aid.

UNITED NATIONS—Soviet Union demands General Assembly condemn United States as aggressor directing Cuban invasion, Assembly expected to adopt mild Latin-American proposal calling on all nations not to do anything that might aggravate tensions.

GUANTANAMO — U.S. commander denies Cuban charges invaders came from Guanatanamo; says 10 or 11 U.S. destroyers on call and fighter planes ready if needed. No fighting reported nearby.

Eichmann Ready

regard for my personality to tell everything that I know.

"I have always been accustomed to discipline from my childhood right through 1945—unreserved discipline.

"I knew what disobedience would have meant for me. But matters of planning until 1945 were not handed to me at any time during the preceding 10 years. I was in a lower rank than the policy makers and planners.

"I cannot claim that I had clean hands. Those who planned and gave instructions, however, got off cheaply by suicide. Others are now dying or are not to be found.

"I know I should have hanged myself in public so that all the anti-Semites in the world would have had these terrible events stressed for them."

Eichmann pictured himself as a man who recoiled from the sight of blood and nearly fainted when he was forced to witness Jews being gassed to death in the Nazi extermination camps.

Too Appalled to Look

"I couldn't look. I tried to avert my eyes from the sight. I was too appalled to look," he said in describing his reactions the reactions the first time he saw Jews put to death.

Eichmann also said:

1. The order for the physical extermination of the Jews during World War II came directly from Adolf Hitler. They were transmitted to him, he said, by Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the security police of Nazi Germany.

Protested to Superior

2. He protested to his immediate superior, SS Gen. Heinrich Mueller, and others, that execution was not the way to resolve "the Jewish problem."

3. He begged Mueller not to send him to the death camps for further reports. He said that when he did go, he saw as little as possible.

Eichmann spoke in a deep, halting voice. There were many long pauses, and many times he told his, interrogators, "I don't know. I can't remember exactly about that."

As he listened to the playback, Eichmann's expression changed. Heretofore it had been wooden, impassive, showing nothing.

Today, he leaned back with what appeared to be a satisfied air. A small, almost benign smile played around the edges of his thin lips.

Before the playing of the tapes began, Capt. Avner Less read to the court a transcript of an interrogation session in which Eichmann said he was testifying freely into the recording machines.

Onondaga to Plan $4 Million College

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Onondaga County is taking steps to build a four-million-dollar community college in the county, it was reported today.

The Herald-Journal said the county government would announce its sponsorship of the project, long under consideration, at a meeting tonight of a community group in suburban Liverpool.

The county would match state funds in construction of the college, designed for technical training rather than liberal arts.

Life Insurance Yields Capital Gains With Time

Q) "I am 35 and a follower of life insurance stocks. Can you recommend a few for long-term growth?"—D. M.

A) Gladly. As I have mentioned here previously, life insurance stocks are a fine medium for capital gains if income is not a requirement and if you can hold the shares over a period of time.

Since your letter indicates that you are in this position, I recommend that you buy Franklin Life (OTC) and Lincoln National Life (OTC), two fast-growing situations. Both are selling at rather high dollar price levels.

A lesser known favorite of mine in this field is Commonwealth Life of Kentucky (OTC), where assets are building up rapidly. The shares were recently quoted around 30 bid and stock dividends have been paid frequently. Any of these stocks would meet your objective nicely, in my opinion.

Q) "What is your evaluation of Jim Walter common for growth?"—R. S.

A) Jim Walter (OTC) is one of the best known stocks in the shell homes business, which has been attracting a good deal of attention. Shell homes are low-cost structures with unfinished interiors, and they appeal strongly to people who can handle tools and want to save money. Jim Walter has been successful in building and selling these homes, and the company makes money financing them, too. The shares have moved up substantially in the last two years, but I still think well of them as a growth vehicle.

Q) "I have several thousand invested in Colonial Stores shares which have been falling in price consistently. What is your opinion of this stock?"
—K. M.

A) This large supermarket chain has run into sharply increasing operating costs. Earnings have been declining since 1957, and the dividend was recently reduced. Prospects are much better for Winn-Dixie Stores (NYSE), a far stronger food chain, and I advise you to switch.

To Get Bids on Wall

A resolution dealing with the High Road problem, sponsored by Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, and seconded by Joseph Tomaszewski (D) Sixth Ward, asked that the city engineer be directed to advertise through the Board of Public Works, for bids on construction of a retaining wall.

It proposed that "consideration of bids be given to determine if the prices received are feasible for construction of a wall so the street may be opened for through traffic."

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, who had previously reported the project a costly one for the purpose it would serve forwarded another report in the same vein and held that some legal decision is involved.

Attorney Richard W. Griggs, representing Leroy H. Wells Sr., of the White Star Transfer Co., 48 Hasbrouck Avenue, at the April 4 council meeting, reported that the street was the only means of travel to and from his client's warehouse, and its blocking cuts off access to a section of the warehouse.

Recall Requests

Alderman Tomaszewski and Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, recalled at the meeting, requests made during the past three years for repair of the road.

Hallinan's report read last night said in effect that repair of the road mainly to serve the trucking concern and "two other owners" would be "feasible to that end," but would not be feasible "if the desired end is to carry on the municipal function beyond that limit."

Full repair, he held, would not benefit the city at large, and if established, "the way must be maintained, and the cost of maintenance may well be excessive." Also, he said, if the road is established as proposed, "a serious question of liability will occur, against which unusual indemnities would be required."

The problem, he held, is one that is "basically legal and its solution is a matter of policy decision based on economics and benefit to be determined by some policy-making agency of the city."

Commuters Taken For Ride, Train Goes Wrong Way

NEW YORK (AP)—Commuters on the New Haven Railroad's midnight express to Springfield, Mass., stared at the lights flashing by and allowed as how the scenery didn't look the same.

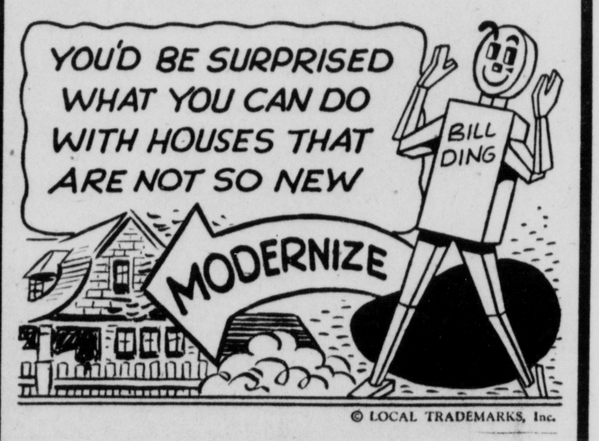

It wasn't.

Somehow, the New Haven train got switched onto the New York Central's Hudson Division tracks and started up the wrong side of the Bronx.

It sped along for about 10 minutes. Then it was shunted back to its proper tracks.

In the field of biomedical research, the computer's speed will make possible a greater scope of data processing activities in the study of radioactive fallout effects. In "stretching" existing computer technology, IBM engineers have developed a system which makes use of ultra-fast circuits, transistors and circuit components.

The computer could interrupt work on a total weapons stimulation to process data from a Project Rover reactor test. It could give priority to the test calculations, while other parallel functions in the system continue without pause.

The reliability of the Stretch system was indicated during preshipment tests at Poughkeepsie.

Action Proposed

mittee, the mayor and corporation counsel.

"I have been assured," the mayor wrote, "that once these lines are installed there would be no hindrance in any activity which takes place in the stadium grounds. It is conceivable that slight inconvenience would be experienced during construction of the sewer line."

Opinion on Cablevision

Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, in a letter, told the aldermen, it was his opinion, Kingston Cablevision, through installation and leasing of service at the Benedictine Hospital, was in violation of ordinance.

With the letter was a copy of one to Kelly from Attorney Howard C. St. John, in behalf of his client, Television Dealers Association. It asked that the corporation counsel take steps to "close the gap" in a section of the ordinance as enacted in January, 1958, and prohibit leasing of TV sets.

St. John asked that language be inserted to protect the dealers.

Considered Violation

"In my opinion," Kelly wrote, this constitutes a direct violation of Section 8 of the ordinance, and violates the spirit of the same, as was understood in the conference between their representatives and the committee of the Common Council dealing with the same."

Kelly proposed that "If your honorable body so desires, I believe we should serve the notice referred to in the ordinance and take such subsequent steps as may be desired."

Alderman Perry said he had not recalled any report as to the amount paid the city by Kingston Cablevision. The figures as provided for him by City Clerk Raymond J. McAndrew showed that the city, which claims three per cent of the gross take, was paid $412.32 in 1959 and $2,850.10 in 1960.

Ask Parade Downtown

Alderman Tomaszewski said he had heard rumors to the effect that the Memorial Day parade would not proceed to the downtown area this year, and he said if there were such plans, he wanted to know why.

Council President Kaye directed the city clerk to inquire by letter from those responsible for parade arrangements as to plans.

Alderman Hastings emphasized that the council provides money for the parade and should have something to say as to arrangements. Alderman Smith agreed and noted that firemen's parades have been routed downtown, and he saw no reason why the Memorial Day parade could not proceed there.

It seems, said Smith, "there's only one time" when downtown gets some thought, "and that's election time."

Discuss Thruway Fires

Fire calls being answered on the New York State Thruway by the 15 fire companies in the Fire Districts through which the Thruway runs, also came up for considerable discussion.

It was pointed out that many of the fire companies are not equipped to fight the type of fires which frequently face the volunteers when they answer an alarm.

Many of the large long distance trailer-trucks carry cargo of such nature that local fire companies are not equipped to meet the emergency. This type of cargo includes plastics, radioactive materials and other unusual cargo.

Would Label Trucks

The proposal that all trucks be properly labeled to designate the cargo contents, was made. It was stated that frequently the nature of the cargo is not known to volunteers when they respond, making it difficult to properly attack the fire.

The matter of proper posting of cargo on trucks and also other matters in regard to volunteer firemen answering an alarm on the Thruway will be taken up for solution.

372 Calls in February

A report on the calls handled through the Ulster County Fire Control Service on Golden Hill was made by George Majestic of Gardiner. Few people realize the number of calls and the detail work which is done by the men who man this service 24 hours a day, Majestic said.

During the month of February there were 372 calls received. Fire calls numbered 27, Mutual Aid 3, Civil Defense 41, Radio tests numbered 69 and there were three "quick call" tests. In addition there were numerous "time signal" calls and other calls which were recorded.

586 March Calls

In March there was a total of 586 calls. Fire calls numbered 52, Mutual Aid 7, Civil Defense 45, Radio tests 87 and there were 3 "quick call" tests. Time signals and other calls made up the total.

Two new members were accepted into membership. They were Paul E. McGuire of Hurley and George D. McEvoy of Tillson.

Convention in July

Progress on plans for the convention in New Paltz in July was reported by the Convention committee.

The May meeting will be held in Kripplebush.

Cuba Jails AP Man, Another Writer Freed

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Word from Havana reaching the U.S. naval base here indicates that Robert Berrellez, Arizona-born correspondent for The Associated Press, has been under arrest for the last three days.

A diplomat in Havana said by telephone that Harold K. Milks, stationed at Havana as chief of the AP's Caribbean services, was free as of 11 p.m. Tuesday.

A dispatch to the New York Times from Guantanamo said the Times' Havana correspondent, Mrs. R. Hart Phillips, was not accounted for. Harry Raymont of United Press International was reported under arrest. Richard Valeriani of NBC, formerly of the AP Havana staff, was said to have taken refuge in the Italian Embassy.

All American correspondents in Havana have been unable to transmit news since about 4 a.m. Monday.

points. The industry's pledge to include them in cars from 1962 models onward was made to Speno's committee.

Speno said the attachment points had been the most expensive part of seat-belt installations. With the points provided, he said, belts could be purchased for a few dollars.

A local automobile dealer estimated the cost of installing belts, with the attachment points provided by the car manufacturer, at $12.

The requirement will apply to passenger vehicles only.

The governor took this action on other bills:

The home provides care for former servicemen and—or their widows who are unable to work but are not in need of hospital care. Rockefeller originally had planned to close the home as an economy move but reversed his stand under pressure from the area's legislators.

Election Law—Approved a series of bills providing for schools for election inspectors in Essex, Wyoming and Greene counties and for local registrations under permanent, personal registion in Oswego and Suffolk County. The governor suggested that the Legislature consider a general law so that individual bills would not be needed to grant such permission.

vaders had captured an airfield in Las Villas Province and had isolated Bayamo, a coast seaport in eastern Oriente Province.

The Cuban army radio reported the recapture of Mayari, a town of 5,000 on the north coast of Oriente, indicating it had been in rebel hands.

The verbal war between the United States and the Soviet Union on the diplomatic front was more clear-cut.

Each Gives Warning

Each power warned the other against intervention in the Cuban revolt and each openly took sides —Washington with the anti-Castro forces and Moscow with the Castro government.

President Kennedy bluntly told Premier Khrushchev that the United States would take action "in the event of any military intervention" by the Soviets in Cuba.

Kennedy snapped back a reply to the Soviet leader within 10 hours after Khrushchev had appealed to the President to stop the "aggression" against Cuba and warned Moscow would supply "all necessary assistance" to preserve Castro's pro-Communist regime.

The Soviet Union followed up Khrushchev's note by demanding in the United Nations that the world organization condemn the United States as an aggressor. Observers thought the General Assembly would settle for another resolution appealing to all nations to refrain from any action that might aggravate the situation.

Kennedy openly proclaimed American sympathy with the forces trying to overthrow Castro and declared "the United States can take no action to stifle the spirit of liberty.' 'The President repeated his earlier declaration that Americans were not involved in the Cuban invasion and would not become involved militarily.

Communist bloc governments and newspapers continued a propaganda barrage depicting the United States as the aggressor in Cuba. Such allies as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic joined in.

To March On Embassy

In Moscow, Asian, African and Latin-American students at Patrice Lumumba University staged a violent anti-American rally and got set to march on the U. S. Embassy again. Hundreds of Soviet soldiers and police guarded the embassy. It appeared that a demonstration more violent than Tuesday was imminent.

Pro-Castro sympathizers, with leftists and Communists in the forefront, whipped up fresh and violent anti-American demonstrations throughout South America.

Several hundred wrecked the Mexican-American Cultural Institute in Morelia, 170 miles west of Mexico City, and director Eugene Kenny said he had to run for his life.

A crowd of 25,000 demonstrated in Mexico City in that capital's biggest demonstration in years.

One person was killed and 18 injured as a mob of 1,500 ran wild through the streets of Caracas, capital of Venezuela. They broke windows in a Sears Roebuck store overturned cars and shouted death to President Romulo Betancourt, once Castro's close friend but now opposed to him.

Other Outbreaks

National Guardsmen were summoned out in Panama to break up a mob that tried to march into the U. S.-controlled Panama Canal Zone. Three persons were injured, including one man who fell off a balcony in the excitement.

Communists paraded Tuesday night in three Italian cities—Milan, Genoa and Turin. The Milan demonstration erupted into a fight when a group of Fascists pounced on 500 marching Communists in Cathedral Square. Police guarded the U. S. Embassy in Rome.

Red China announced it would "forever stand" by the Castro government but did not say what kind of support it might give.

Ernest Wharton. Arrangements can be made through Bernhardt S. Kramer in the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel. Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson has reportedly endorsed the film.

Eichmann Ready

regard for my personality to tell everything that I know.

"I have always been accustomed to discipline from my childhood right through 1945—unreserved discipline.

"I knew what disobedience would have meant for me. But matters of planning until 1945 were not handed to me at any time during the preceding 10 years. I was in a lower rank than the policy makers and planners.

"I cannot claim that I had clean hands. Those who planned and gave instructions, however, got off cheaply by suicide. Others are now dying or are not to be found.

"I know I should have hanged myself in public so that all the anti-Semites in the world would have had these terrible events stressed for them."

Eichmann pictured himself as a man who recoiled from the sight of blood and nearly fainted when he was forced to witness Jews being gassed to death in the Nazi extermination camps.

Too Appalled to Look

"I couldn't look. I tried to avert my eyes from the sight. I was too appalled to look," he said in describing his reactions the first time he saw Jews put to death.

Eichmann also said:

1. The order for the physical extermination of the Jews during World War II came directly from Adolf Hitler. They were transmitted to him, he said, by Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the security police of Nazi Germany.

Protested to Superior

2. He protested to his immediate superior, SS Gen. Heinrich Mueller, and others, that execution was not the way to resolve "the Jewish problem."

3. He begged Mueller not to send him to the death camps for further reports. He said that when he did go, he saw as little as possible.

Eichmann spoke in a deep, halting voice. There were many long pauses, and many times he told his interrogators, "I don't know. I can't remember exactly about that."

As he listened to the playback, Eichmann's expression changed. Heretofore it had been wooden, impassive, showing nothing.

Today, he leaned back with what appeared to be a satisfied air. A small, almost benign smile played around the edges of his thin lips.

Before the playing of the tapes began, Capt. Avner Less read to the court a transcript of an interrogation session in which Eichmann said he was testifying freely into the recording machines.

Onondaga to Plan $4 Million College

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Onondaga County is taking steps to build a four-million-dollar community college in the county, it was reported today.

The Herald-Journal said the county government would announce its sponsorship of the project, long under consideration, at a meeting tonight of a community group in suburban Liverpool.

The county would match state funds in construction of the college, designed for technical training rather than liberal arts.

Life Insurance Yields Capital Gains With Time

Q) "I am 35 and a follower of life insurance stocks. Can you recommend a few for long-term growth?"—D. M.

A) Gladly. As I have mentioned here previously, life insurance stocks are a fine medium for capital gains if income is not a requirement and if you can hold the shares over a period of time.

Since your letter indicates that you are in this position, I recommend that you buy Franklin Life (OTC) and Lincoln National Life (OTC), two fast-growing situations. Both are selling at rather high dollar price levels.

A lesser known favorite of mine in this field is Commonwealth Life of Kentucky (OTC), where assets are building up rapidly. The shares were recently quoted around 30 bid and stock dividends have been paid frequently. Any of these stocks would meet your objective nicely, in my opinion.

Q) "What is your evaluation of Jim Walter common for growth?"—R. S.

A) Jim Walter (OTC) is one of the best known stocks in the shell homes business, which has been attracting a good deal of attention. Shell homes are low-cost structures with unfinished interiors, and they appeal strongly to people who can handle tools and want to save money. Jim Walter has been successful in building and selling these homes, and the company makes money financing them, too. The shares have moved up substantially in the last two years, but I still think well of them as a growth vehicle.

Q) "I have several thousand invested in Colonial Stores shares which have been falling in price consistently. What is your opinion of this stock?"
—K. M.

A) This large supermarket chain has run into sharply increasing operating costs. Earnings have been declining since 1957, and the dividend was recently reduced. Prospects are much better for Winn-Dixie Stores (NYSE), a far stronger food chain, and I advise you to switch.

To Get Bids on Wall

A resolution dealing with the High Road problem, sponsored by Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, and seconded by Joseph Tomaszewski (D) Sixth Ward, asked that the city engineer be directed to advertise through the Board of Public Works, for bids on construction of a retaining wall.

It proposed that "consideration of bids be given to determine if the prices received are feasible for construction of a wall so the street may be opened for through traffic."

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, who had previously reported the project a costly one for the purpose it would serve forwarded another report in the same vein and held that some legal decision is involved.

Attorney Richard W. Griggs, representing Leroy H. Wells Sr., of the White Star Transfer Co., 48 Hasbrouck Avenue, at the April 4 council meeting, reported that the street was the only means of travel to and from his client's warehouse, and its blocking cuts off access to a section of the warehouse.

Recall Requests

Alderman Tomaszewski and Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, recalled at the meeting, requests made during the past three years for repair of the road.

Hallinan's report read last night said in effect that repair of the road mainly to serve the trucking concern and "two other owners" would be "feasible to that end," but would not be feasible "if the desired end is to carry on the municipal function beyond that limit."

Full repair, he held, would not benefit the city at large, and if established, "the way must be maintained, and the cost of maintenance may well be excessive." Also, he said, if the road is established as proposed, "a serious question of liability will occur, against which unusual indemnities would be required."

The problem, he held, is one that is "basically legal and its solution is a matter of policy decision based on economics and benefit to be determined by some policy-making agency of the city."

Commuters Taken For Ride, Train Goes Wrong Way

NEW YORK (AP)—Commuters on the New Haven Railroad's midnight express to Springfield, Mass., stared at the lights flashing by and allowed as how the scenery didn't look the same.

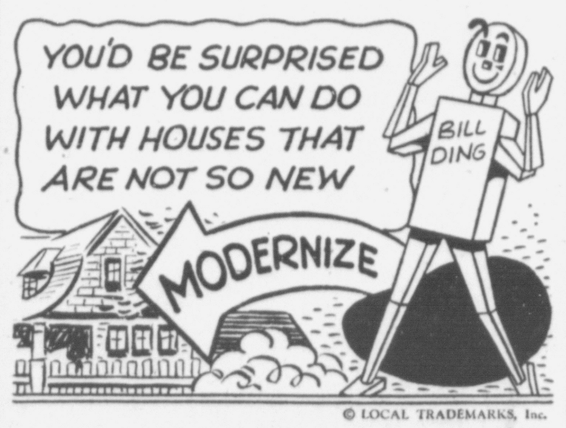

It wasn't.

Somehow, the New Haven train got switched onto the New York Central's Hudson Division tracks and started up the wrong side of the Bronx.

It sped along for about 10 minutes. Then it was shunted back to its proper tracks.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Cry Vengeance," Tuesday night's NBC drama special, gave the performers a chance to pull out all the acting stops. But it was a self-conscious, static and talky playlet.

It was an account of the last days of a Sicilian Robin Hood who has come to believe his murders are "executions" and that his idea of justice is above law and religion.

The central figure of the drama is the bandit's friend and follower. The story is that of the boy's disillusionment, his gradual realization that the man he admires is evil.

But all this was confused by arty flashbacks, symbolic nightmares and lots of shouting and heavy breathing. With Ben Gazzara giving his all as the bandit and Sal Mineo, playing his friend, suffering like crazy from beginning to end, I kept feeling something very important must be eluding me.

One overnight rating service estimates that there were about 56 million viewers watching the first half-hour of Monday night's Oscar awards ceremonies — a higher number than watched last year.

Something always goes wrong at some point on Hollywood's big night. This year, there were a ghastly few minutes immediately after the ceremonies when actor Wendell Corey and a pretty blonde girl—unknown to this viewer — were waiting in the "press room" to interview the winners. The winners never did show up, and the would-be interviewers stammered, and tried to make conversation while looking desperately beyond the camera for rescuers — who never came.

ABC's news department had a carefully prepared documentary on Cuba ready for showing Tuesday night—another "Close-Up." But it was caught short by the explosion of revolution which immediately made their program hopelessly out of date. The staff worked round the clock trying to update the material.

Tobacco Anniversary

JAMESTOWN, Va. (AP)—Pocahontas may have saved the life of Captain John Smith, but she married an Englishman named John Rolfe. The romance of Rolfe and the Indian princess will play an important part in next year's commemoration here of the 350th anniversary of the American tobacco industry. Rolfe planted and sold the first successful crop of tobacco at Jamestown in 1612, saving the colony from economic collapse. From the beginning, tobacco has grown into a $7 billion industry. The anniversary will be staged May 16-19 by the Jamestown Foundation.

FRANK FASHIONS — When Alcoa girl workers put on a fashion show in Cleveland, Ohio, it was fashions with a vengeance. The scoop necklines had real sugar scoops, a 24-carrot drape dress had the carrots attached and rope necklaces were real hemp. Reopening of Refurbished Bank to Be Announced Soon

Installation of a sidewalk-level teller window has been completed, and plans are being finalized for the formal opening of the reconstructed Kingston Savings Bank building, 273 Wall Street, Lloyd R. LeFever, president of the uptown financial institution, said today.

LeFever said the date of the official opening is expected to be announced within a few days, pending completion of remaining work in the bank's interior. The final work includes carpeting of the refurbished bank, which will make available an area of some 5,103 square feet, compared to the 3,651 square feet in the former facility—an increase resulting in doubled working space.

To Save Time

The sidewalk-level teller window, installed at the main entrance to the bank by the Diebold Safe Company, will be a "step-saving feature of the bank, a boon to mothers with baby carriages."

LeFever and Clifford A. Henze, executive vice-president of the bank, announced that the formal opening day ceremonies will include several special entertainment features for adults and children together with awards.

Reconstruction work began in June, 1960, and temporary headquarters were established in the rear of the new building site. About one week will be required for the orderly transfer of business activities to the new building, "which will provide the ultimate in bank architecture," LeFevre said.

Firms Doing Work

Architect was Albert Edward Milliken, 238 Wall Street. Larsen-Johansen, Inc., was the general contracting firm. Plumbing, heating and air conditioning were installed by John H. Matthews, 31 Broadway, and the electrical contractor was David Jacobs of Hunter. The bank's interior will include draperies by the Wonderly Company; complete carpeting by Ellenville Floor Covering. The painting contractor was Leo Yonetti.

Large, aluminum-framed Thermopane windows create an entirely "open" bank, devoid of any high screens with the interior walls covered by Vicretex, grass cloth, which are antique white in texture. The completely-modernized banking headquarters also include a 19-foot high acoustical ceiling with large, lighted panels.

10 Teller Windows

Ten teller stations have been constructed for fast, convenient service while the executive offices are located on either side of the front entrance, separated by aluminum railing. Entrance to the bank will be through automatic self-opening doors. An innovation will be the heating of the sidewalk under the front entrance during the winter seasons, eliminating the collection of ice and snow.

Cornerstone-laying ceremonies for the new addition were held Dec. 5, 1960 when a copper box containing a wealth of material about Kingston today and the city in 1899 were sealed in the cornerstone.

Is 87 Years Old

The bank has rubbed elbows with heritage since it was organized 87 years ago—always located adjacent to the Ulster County Court House, historic monument to the adoption of New York State's first Constitution, and the very same place where the first governor of the now-sprawling Empire State was inaugurated.

Chartered as a mutual savings bank April 23, 1874, Kingston Savings Bank opened June 29 of the same year in the Cordts building, 293 Wall Street. Increasing business in 1885 prompted its moving to the lower floor of the Argus building adjoining the court house on the south, a building since torn down.

The bank constructed its own facility in 1900, designed especially for banking purposes at 273 Wall Street, the present location, a building remodeled and enlarged several times.

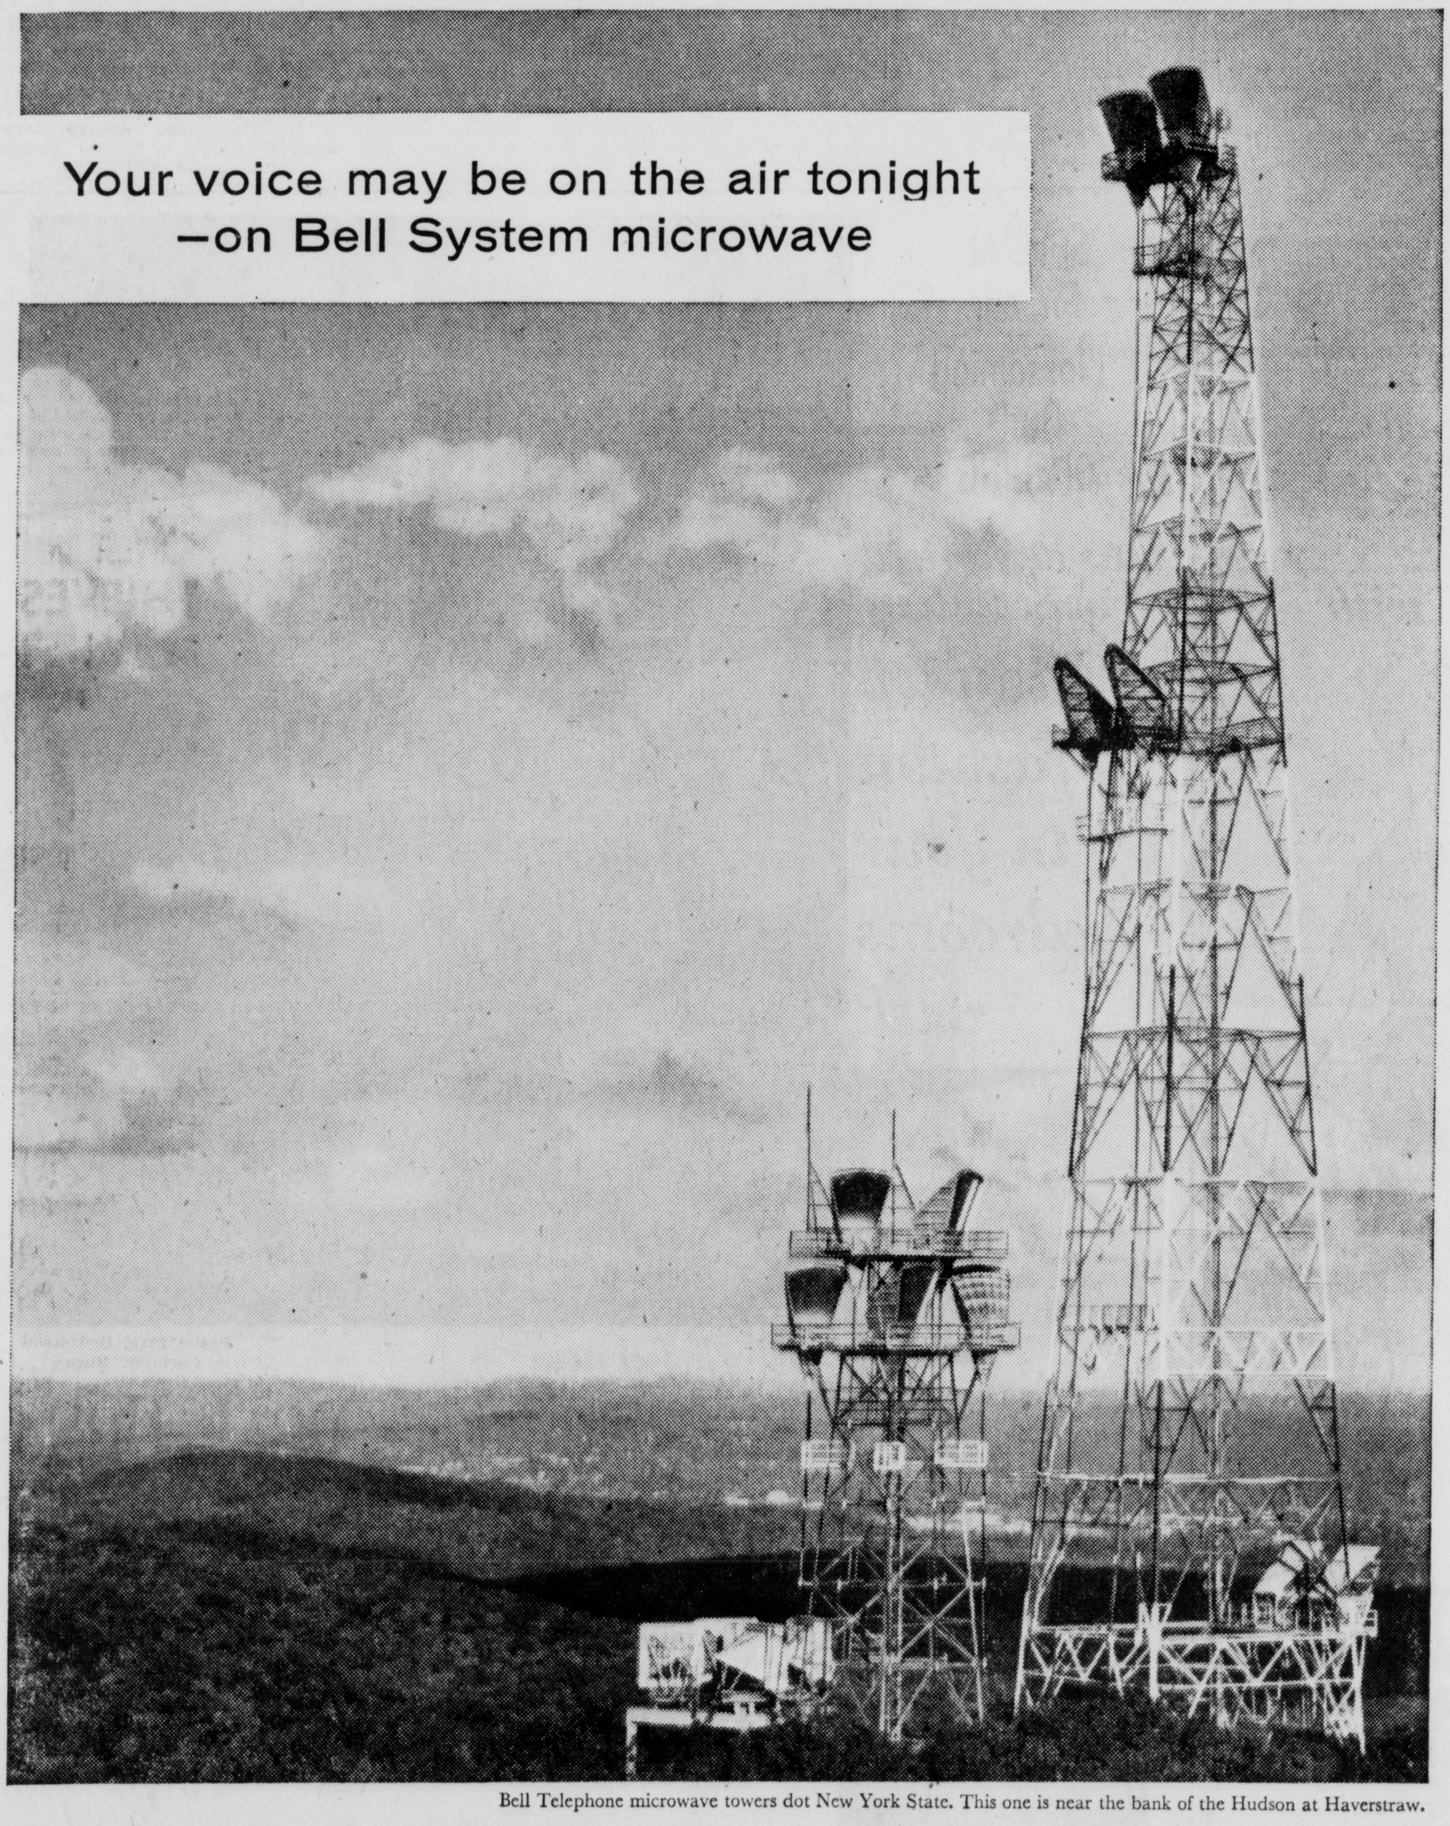

INSPECTING NEW SIDEWALK-LEVEL TELLER WINDOW installed by Diebold Safe Company at the main entrance to reconstructed Kingston Savings Bank building, 273 Wall Street, are Lloyd R. LeFever, center, bank president, and Clifford A. Henze, executive vice president and treasurer. At left, inside the window, is Miss Catherine M. Henebery, administrative assistant.

Bell Telephone microwave towers dot New York State. This one is near the bank of the Hudson at Haverstraw.

WHEN you pick up your phone to make a long distance call, there's a good chance your voice may not go by wire, but will be beamed through the air by microwave radio. Right along with the faces of your favorite television stars.

Developed by the Bell System to meet the nation's growing communications needs, microwave adds a new dimension to our widespread wire and cable networks. It can transmit as many as 11,000 conversations or 12 television programs simultaneously on narrow radio beams that are passed from tower to tower across the horizon.

Night and day, through fair weather and storms, these tall towers handle a growing number of personal calls and do an increasingly important job for industry. Carrying a growing volume of figures and other business data, microwave is more and more the pathway over which the new electronic business machines "talk" to each other.

This vast network of air-borne circuits is a good example of how you benefit today from the Bell System research and experiments of past years.

It shows what can be accomplished by an organization with the financial strength to make such research possible and the profit incentive to venture into new fields.

For the telephone user, this is an assurance of an ever-improving communications service at reasonable cost.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Cry Vengeance," Tuesday night's NBC drama special, gave the performers a chance to pull out all the acting stops. But it was a self-conscious, static and talky playlet.

It was an account of the last days of a Sicilian Robin Hood who has come to believe his murders are "executions" and that his idea of justice is above law and religion.

The central figure of the drama is the bandit's friend and follower. The story is that of the boy's disillusionment, his gradual realization that the man he admires is evil.

But all this was confused by arty flashbacks, symbolic nightmares and lots of shouting and heavy breathing. With Ben Gazzara giving his all as the bandit and Sal Mineo, playing his friend, suffering like crazy from beginning to end, I kept feeling something very important must be eluding me.

One overnight rating service estimates that there were about 56 million viewers watching the first half-hour of Monday night's Oscar awards ceremonies — a higher number than watched last year.

Something always goes wrong at some point on Hollywood's big night. This year, there were a ghastly few minutes immediately after the ceremonies when actor Wendell Corey and a pretty blonde girl—unknown to this viewer — were waiting in the "press room" to interview the winners. The winners never did show up, and the would-be interviewers stammered, and tried to make conversation while looking desperately beyond the camera for rescuers — who never came.

ABC's news department had a carefully prepared documentary on Cuba ready for showing Tuesday night—another "Close-Up." But it was caught short by the explosion of revolution which immediately made their program hopelessly out of date. The staff worked round the clock trying to update the material.

Recommended tonight: Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 (EST)—"The Shame of Paula Marsten, with Anne Baxter and Gene Raymond.

UPTOWN BUSINESSMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Tobacco Anniversary

JAMESTOWN, Va. (AP)—Pocahontas may have saved the life of Captain John Smith, but she married an Englishman named John Rolfe. The romance of Rolfe and the Indian princess will play an important part in next year's commemoration here of the 350th anniversary of the American tobacco industry. Rolfe planted and sold the first successful crop of tobacco at Jamestown in 1612, saving the colony from economic collapse. From the beginning, tobacco has grown into a $7 billion industry. The anniversary will be staged May 16-19 by the Jamestown Foundation.

FRANK FASHIONS — When Alcoa girl workers put on a fashion show in Cleveland, Ohio, it was fashions with a vengeance. The scoop necklines had real sugar scoops, a 24-carrot drape dress had the carrots attached and rope necklaces were real hemp. As a sample of what went on, Vicky Vujevich, above, models a box jacket suit with the latest news in skirts, pill box hat (real pills on top) and box-toed shoes.

Reopening of Refurbished Bank to Be Announced Soon

Installation of a sidewalk-level teller window has been completed, and plans are being finalized for the formal opening of the reconstructed Kingston Savings Bank building, 273 Wall Street, Lloyd R. LeFever, president of the uptown financial institution, said today.

LeFever said the date of the official opening is expected to be announced within a few days, pending completion of remaining work in the bank's interior. The final work includes carpeting of the refurbished bank, which will make available an area of some 5,103 square feet, compared to the 3,651 square feet in the former facility—an increase resulting in doubled working space.

To Save Time

The sidewalk-level teller window, installed at the main entrance to the bank by the Diebold Safe Company, will be a "step-saving feature of the bank, a boon to mothers with baby carriages."

LeFever and Clifford A. Henze, executive vice-president of the bank, announced that the formal opening day ceremonies will include several special entertainment features for adults and children together with awards.

Reconstruction work began in June, 1960, and temporary headquarters were established in the rear of the new building site. About one week will be required for the orderly transfer of business activities to the new building, "which will provide the ultimate in bank architecture," LeFevre said.

Firms Doing Work

Architect was Albert Edward Milliken, 238 Wall Street. Larsen-Johansen, Inc., was the general contracting firm. Plumbing, heating and air conditioning were installed by John H. Matthews, 31 Broadway, and the electrical contractor was David Jacobs of Hunter. The bank's interior will include draperies by the Wonderly Company; complete carpeting by Ellenville Floor Covering. The painting contractor was Leo Yonetti.

Large, aluminum-framed Thermopane windows create an entirely "open" bank, devoid of any high screens with the interior walls covered by Vicretex, grass cloth, which are antique white in texture. The completely-modernized banking headquarters also include a 19-foot high acoustical ceiling with large, lighted panels.

The exterior lighting, designed by the architect, comprises special fixtures, extending around the new addition and flooding the entire building with light.

10 Teller Windows

Ten teller stations have been constructed for fast, convenient service while the executive offices are located on either side of the front entrance, separated by aluminum railing. Entrance to the bank will be through automatic self-opening doors. An innovation will be the heating of the sidewalk under the front entrance during the winter seasons, eliminating the collection of ice and snow.

Cornerstone-laying ceremonies for the new addition were held Dec. 5, 1960 when a copper box containing a wealth of material about Kingston today and the city in 1899 were sealed in the cornerstone.

Is 87 Years Old

The bank has rubbed elbows with heritage since it was organized 87 years ago—always located adjacent to the Ulster County Court House, historic monument to the adoption of New York State's first Constitution, and the very same place where the first governor of the now-sprawling Empire State was inaugurated.

Farmers Advised Of Feed Grain Emergency Bill

Farmers were advised today of recent legislation approved by Congress which provides for a one-year emergency feed grain program.

John S. Geary, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the program is voluntary and offers all producers of field corn (husking and silage) an opportunity to work together with their government in improving the feed grain situation.

The program provides for the reduction of corn acreage from the 1959-60 base on individual farms. Farmers who make the reductions will receive payments for diverting the former grain acreage to conservation uses.

A meeting will be held at the Shawangunk Reformed Church Hall, Bruynswick, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, at which time the program will be more fully explained. Geary urged all farmers to attend.

Moon Permafrost Is Hinted by Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP)—The novel concept that the first spacemen to reach the moon may find water "bottled up" beneath the arid lunar surface was offered today by a Cornell scientists.

At least, said Dr. Thomas Gold, the moon may well have a layer of "permafrost"—just like certain areas of the earth's cold lands.

In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union, Dr. Gold said that studies of surface features of the moon appear to lend certain support to the permafrost idea.

It might even be, he said, that the moon contains large amounts of water deep beneath its surface —a possibility suggested by the fact that the density of lunar structural material is relatively low in relation to the moon's weight and size.

More Communists In Upper Class, Says Birch Chief

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, said his tour would take him to Shreveport, La., for another speech tonight.

Welch, a retired Massachusetts candy maker, told a Houston crowd of about 3,000 Tuesday night there are more Communists in the upper classes than in the lower classes.

"I can fnd you a lot more Harvard accents in Communist circles in America today than you can fnd in overalls," Welch said in a copyright speech.

He said the "hungry belly" theory about communism is wrong because people in high places, people with money, and influential people are Communist sympathizers more often than those of lower classes.

Attacks like those against the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy are good for communism, he said.

The phrase "I like what McCarthy is trying to do but I can't stand his methods" was the type of catch-phrase the Communists like, Welch said.

"McCarthy decided the right way to stop communism is to expose communism."

Sodium Cloud Is Fired to Check Wind Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration fired a sodium cloud 102 miles into the air above the Atlantic Ocean today in an effort to measure wind conditions.

The shot at 4:36 a.m. from the Wallops Island, Va., test center was made by a two-stage Nike-Asp rocket carrying aluminum thermite and sodium pellets.

The sodum cloud was ejected at 33 miles and floated a bright orange-yellow cloud up to 102 miles in the air.

NASA officials said the shot went perfectly, although the cloud was visibile only about 10 minutes. Previous sodium clouds have lasted 15 minutes or more and some have been visible for hundreds of miles along the Atlantic seaboard.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The novel concept that the first spacemen to reach the moon may find water "bottled up" beneath the arid lunar surface was offered today by a Cornell scientists.

At least, said Dr. Thomas Gold, the moon may well have a layer of "permafrost"—just like certain areas of the earth's cold lands.

In a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union, Dr. Gold said that studies of surface features of the moon appear to lend certain support to the permafrost idea.

It might even be, he said, that the moon contains large amounts of water deep beneath its surface —a possibility suggested by the fact that the density of lunar structural material is relatively low in relation to the moon's weight and size.

More Communists In Upper Class, Says Birch Chief

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, said his tour would take him to Shreveport, La., for another speech tonight.

Welch, a retired Massachusetts candy maker, told a Houston crowd of about 3,000 Tuesday night there are more Communists in the upper classes than in the lower classes.

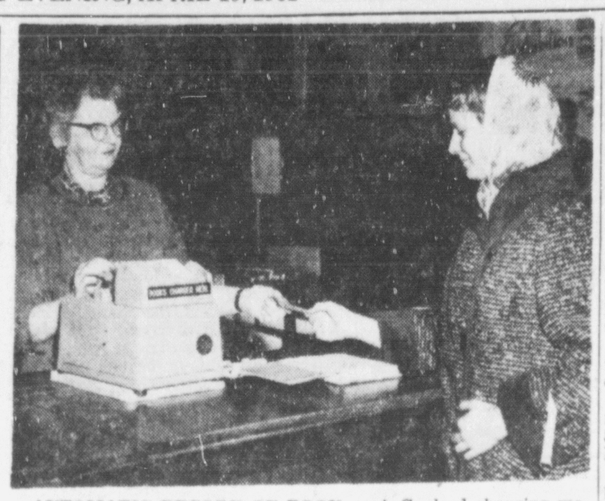

"I can fnd you a lot more Harvard accents in Communist circles in America today than you can fnd in overalls," Welch said in a copyright speech.

He said the "hungry belly" theory about communism is wrong because people in high places, people with money, and influential people are Communist sympathizers more often than those of lower classes.

Attacks like those against the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy are good for communism, he said.

The phrase "I like what McCarthy is trying to do but I can't stand his methods" was the type of catch-phrase the Communists like, Welch said.

"McCarthy decided the right way to stop communism is to expose communism."

Sodium Cloud Is Fired to Check Wind Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration fired a sodium cloud 102 miles into the air above the Atlantic Ocean today in an effort to measure wind conditions.

The shot at 4:36 a.m. from the Wallops Island, Va., test center was made by a two-stage Nike-Asp rocket carrying aluminum thermite and sodium pellets.

The sodum cloud was ejected at 33 miles and floated a bright orange-yellow cloud up to 102 miles in the air.

NASA officials said the shot went perfectly, although the cloud was visibile only about 10 minutes. Previous sodium clouds have lasted 15 minutes or more and some have been visible for hundreds of miles along the Atlantic seaboard.

Jury Selected For Deeb Trial

Trial of Gabriel Deeb, 36, of Hyde Park, suspended Arlington Junior High school teacher on morals charges, today entered its third day before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz.

Deeb was arrested Dec. 21, 1959, by Town of Poughkeepsie police on a morals charge involving a 13-year-old schoolboy. Earlier this month, Judge Schwartz dismissed 21 counts of the 24-count indictment and Deeb is on trial on three counts which accuse him of committing a morals offense with a boy.

'I Could Have Danced All Night'

Kennedy Fete Goes Over Time Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and members of Congress put the cares of the Cuban crisis aside Tuesday night for one of the gayest parties the White House has known in some time.

About 1,200 guests danced in the huge East Ballroom until the strains of "Good Night Sweetheart" ended the party at 12:30 a. m.—a half hour later than scheduled.

President and Mrs. Kennedy led off the dancing to the tune "Mr. Wonderful" with Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson joining them in a space cleared by aides.

Kennedy, even while dancing, had to pause to shake hands with some of his former Senate colleagues. He and his wife were constantly surrounded by a crush of greeters.

As the special Marine Corps dance band unit in scarlet uniforms, switched to "I Love Paris," the Johnsons and the Kennedys switched partners.

Mrs. Kennedy wore a white and pink straw lace sheath with a diamond clip in her bouffant hair. Mrs. Johnson chose the salmon satin gown she wore to the inaugural balls.

It was a formal white tie reception, planned weeks ago, in honor of senators, representatives, Cabinet members and wives—the first such affair of the Kennedy administration. Informality prevailed.

Tariff Agency Is Target, No Relief For Glove Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., irked over the Tariff Commission's failure to recommend relief for the glove industry, is drafting a bill to put the agency out of business.

He would substitute a series of continuing panels, each familiar with the problems of the industry it would be assigned to handle.

A request by glove manufacturers for increased tariffs and import quotas on gloves was rejected last year by the Tariff Commission. Gloversville, N.Y., a glove - manufacturing center in Stratton's Congressional district, is an area of substantial and persistent unemployment.

Stratton said he will propose soon a revamping of the Tariff Commission because its failure to recommend relief in the glove case indicated it is not qualified to hear that industry's appeals for aid.

But he admitted its chances of passage are slim and the chances of the president signing such a bill into law are even slimmer.

"To my mind a more likely step would be to revamp. . . the tariff commission itself," he said, "perhaps . . . to create in its place a series of panels on which management, labor and the public would be represented for each particular industry in each particular case."

Dedication Starts In Buffalo for Nuclear Center

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Dedication ceremonies for the University of Buffalo's $2.2 million nuclear research center got under way today with two technical symposia.

Educational and civic leaders will join Gov. Rockefeller in the formal dedication Thursday in the two-day program.

Robert E. Wilson of the Atomic Energy Commisson will speak at a program tonight.

The center, whose reactor became critical March 24, has been under construction for a year and will be ready for research June 1.

The state contributed a million dollars of the cost. Businesses and industries in western New York also supplied funds as did the national science foundation, The National Institute of Health and the AEC.

The center is located in a new building on the university campus and will be available to industry and other educational institutions, under a fee schedule.

The price per hundredweight of whole milk sold last year averaged $4.21, which was 5 cents higher than in 1959.

Wisconsin topped all states with total receipts of $595 million. Other leaders included: New York $443.8 million, California $382.7 million, Pennsylvania $314 million, Minnesota $299 million, Ohio $210 million, Michigan $197 million and Iowa $174 million.

Rebels Give Castro Bad Case of Nerves

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban anti-Castro rebels can claim one victory today. Their activities have given the Castro regime a bad case of frayed nerves.

It is clear from the sparse reports from the embattled island that the regime is taking desperate measures to prevent the fever of revolt from spreading among Cubans.

Hope for Success

That would be according to the rebel plan. It means there is some hope for the ultimate success of the invasion if the preliminary landings at various points on the island are followed up by other stabs intended to keep the Castro regime constantly off balance.

Nuisance air strikes, infiltrations and appeals to the anti-Castro underground have caused the regime to turn to terror tactics in its fear of the enemy within.

Obviously the Castro government is attempting to round up and eliminate all possible internal enemies. The effort bespeaks fear that the rebels will accomplish one of their main purposes, to lure defectors to the rebel cause and rally a large sector of the Cuban people to the anti-Castro banner.

The invaders already are battling against fearful odds but, in one respect, they have the initiative. They are the attackers and they choose the time and place for the attacks.

Could Bring on Sabotage

If the invaders make signifcant progress, there will be indications of it in a wave of sabotage by such as attacks on electric pow the underground inside Cuba, such as attacks on electric power installations, communications and other nerve centers.

There has been and still is fear that the invasion may have been triggered ahead of time and have exposed too many of Castro's potential underground to his police state forces. But even if that is the case, the Castro regime still is in deep trouble, and its activities in the last 24 hours give strong evidence of it.

U. S. Scientific Effort Wasted: Ex-Rocket Chief

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A former German rocket chief says the United States is running second to Russia in the space race because this country wastes its scientific manpower.

Walter R. Dornberger, a vice president of the Bell Aerosystems Inc., Tuesday urged the U.S. to scrap its traditional system of having separate companies compete in selling a space idea to the government before the awarding the contracts.

"It is a waste of time, under the present circumstances, a waste of intelligence, and a waste of experience," he said in a speech before a bankers' group.

Dornberger, a major general in the German Air Force in World War II, said it takes a year from the moment of concept to a green light on a rocket project in Russia, but from seven to eight years in the U.S.

He called for a "new kind of planning" that would combine all our resources.

"...we should not only try to catch up with the Russians, we should try to pass them."

Charter Study Group Is Named in Elmira

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Mayor Edward A. Mooers said today he had appointed a commission to study the revision of the 55-year-old city charter.

The mayor said he had filed an affidavit with the state attorney general's office in Albany noting the appointment.

Mooers said the objective of revision would be to increase the city council with three at-large councilmen.

The present council, Democratic dominated, includes six members and the mayor, a Republican. Both parties endorsed the charter revision in last year's election campaigns.

OCS School Budget Hearing Set at Boiceville Tuesday

A public hearing on the proposed $1,708,034 Onteora Central Schools District budget for 1961-62 will be held Tuesday, April 25, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the main building at Boiceville.

The budget represents an increase of $143,333 over the 1960-61 budget, roughly a nine per cent increase.

Members of the Board of Education and school administration described the budget as a "tight one" which had been revised and reduced four or five times from the original preliminary estimates.

The Board of Education approved the preliminary figures at its Monday night meeting after revising administrative salary proposals which did not alter the final figure in the budget.

West Resigns Post

At its Monday meeting, the board also accepted the resignation of Trustee Edward G. West as chairman of the construction committee. West said his present schedule made it impossible for him to attend meetings and he was submitting his resignation in the best interest of the board.

The board granted tenure status to secondary teachers Lillian Hartwell and Marilyn Koster. Granted tenure on the elementary level were: Marjorie Clark, Ruth Heisman, Nora Kaljian, Erne Levins, Angelina Roach and Virginia Slavik.

Bernard Carpinelli was granted a military leave of absence. The board accepted the resignation of Herbert C. Din, elementary art teacher, and Priscilla Donahue, elementary teacher who was forced to resign for reasons of health on March 24. The board approved Mrs. Anne Kelly to serve the rest of the year in the position, with salary step of $5700 to be pro-rated.

Mrs. Kelly has indicated her intent to stay in the system full time beginning in September. She is on authorized leave of absence this year.

The board hired three new teachers: Mrs. Lorraine Denis, elementary, at starting salary of $5,600; Naomi Shaver, elementary English, $4,950; and Mrs. Jean Algozzine, English, $7,000.

Mrs. Constance Vanni and Donald Hoffman were authorized as substitutes for Edward Hearn, the former handling the classroom work for the remainder of the year and Hoffman to take over the Driver Education assignments.

The board filed clerical applications from Mildred Wadler, Pine Hill, and Grace Janitz, Phoenicia. Arthur Brueckner of Shokan was approved as a regular bus driver for contractor Wilkins.

The board was authorized to file necessary forms instituting health insurance for district employes.

Survey Proposal Gets Blast From Board Member

A proposal by James J. Fairbairn of Shokan that the Onteora Central Schools District employ a professional engineering firm to make a survey of its educational needs and design a program for future growth has drawn a sharp rebuttal from one member of the Board of Education.

The proposal and resolution were presented to the board this week by James J. Fairbairn of Shokan, who said that in operation the size of Onteora the professional survey would not be a reflection on anyone. He asked that the statement be written into the minutes of the meeting.

Trustee Marie Kleine said the resolution assumed or presumed that the board had not sought assistance from more experienced people in setting up its program. She branded the statement as "insulting" to the board.

Trustee Kleine said the board had consulted many experts and professionals, but that in the final analysis it could do nothing "without the vote of the people." Those who would impugn the motives of the board, she said, had "chosen to be led by prophets in their own fold."

She deplored the failure of many people to heed the leadership of the board and go running off in many directions.

Fairbairn insisted that the Onteora district represented "big business" that should be left to the professionals.

A similar proposal had been made by Charles H. Weidner, Sr. of West Shokan during the heated bond issue campaign.

The Resolution

"The management of a school district the size of Onteora with a plant valuation in excess of two million dollars and an annual budget in excess of one and one half million dollars, covering an area of three townships, is definitely big business, and some big business methods must be employed, in order to manage it successfully. It would be no reflection on anyone in an operation of this size, and in particular the Board of Education of the district nor the Department of Education in Albany to employ an engineering company which specializes in this type of work to make a survey of our district, plan its future needs, and lay out a program for development and financing.

"Recently in New Jersey, where a five-million dollar school construction program was in progress, Austin and Company, well known engineers, were employed to re-examine the program and were able to save a million and a half dollars on the construction alone, and in addition were able to obtain a plan more in keeping with the needs of the community.

"Unless special technical assistance of this type is employed by this district, it will continue to be faced with emergency after emergency, and the spending of money on this basis will provide no permanent educational program and be a waste of the money spent, and the turmoil and confusion that results will not develop proper atmosphere for school purposes.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Onteora Central Schools District be authorized to employ an engineering firm specializing in municipal planning to make a survey of its educational needs and to design a program for future growth, and that the expenses of this service be a charge on the district, under Section 1804 of the Education Law."

Gordon Decries Half-Loaf Theory In OCS Building

A plea by Trustee Edward G. West that the Board of Education submit the 11-room addition at Woodstock as a separate bond issue on the theory "that a half loaf is better than none" has drawn a sharp rebuttal from the board president Philip Gordon.

Gordon said he could not subscribe to the theory which, he felt, would enforce the board to come right back again with another issue.

He recalled the "two year period of compromise" with respect to the Reginald R. Bennett building and said: "I, personally do not propose to make the same mistake again."

Gordon reiterated that his best judgment was that 19 new rooms was the only solution to the classroom shortage. "There can be no compromise and the half-a-loaf theory has been proved wrong too many times in the past," he said.

It was wrong to deny Shandaken children the existence of a building in their own area, Gordon continued. He went on to say that there were more than enough kids to fill the new school and it was wrong to ignore them.

The board president also made a strong plea for better understanding within the district. "We must drop our prejudices and keep the best interests of the children uppermost in our minds. I can't go for compromise," he said.

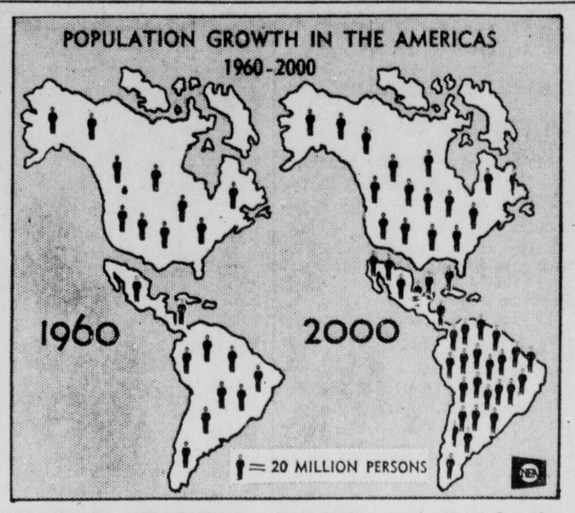

Aalto Promises New Approach

The Onteora Board of Education has heard an implied threat that re-submission of the defeated $1,016,500 bond issue would draw the most vigorous, outspoken opposition of one of its own members.

In the heat of discussion on Trustee John Aalto's proposal to make the 11-room addition at Woodstock a separate bond issue, Aalto charged that some board members "had practiced chicanery" and done things that were unethical in their effort to get the bond issue passed.

Aalto and Trustee Edward G. West were the lone members of the board who did not take an active part in the bond issue campaign. He did not make any public appearances or issue any statements, although his opposition to the bond issue as proposed was well known. He has long been an advocate of elementary expansion in the Woodstock area.

"I do not propose to sit through it again," Aalto warned, implying that he would campaign actively in the next issue, if it is presented in objectionable form before his projected resignation from the board late this summer.

CROWDED CONTINENT — Population projections by the United Nations indicate that the population of North America (U.S. and Canada) will grow from about 197 million in 1960 to 312 million in 2000, increasing more than 1½ times. On the other hand, the population of Latin America (including Mexico and the Caribbean) will mushroom from 200 million to 592 million—nearly tripling. Data from Population Reference Bureau, Inc.

West Hurley Inspection Trip Is Scheduled by OCS Board

An inspection trip by members of the Board of Education and school architect Saturday morning has projected West Hurley into the expansion picture of the Onteora Central Schools District.

The Board of Education voted 9-0 at this week's meeting to inspect a site in West Hurley which might be used for future expansion, including a new school.

The action came at the suggestion of Trustee Arthur P. Knight who indicated that the so-called Groves property would be available to the board at a cost of $5400, plus cost of survey and title transfer. A one-year option effective May 1 would be available for $250.00, Knight said.

The vote to inspect the trip following lengthy discussion on the advisability of new construction in West Hurley. Board president Philip Gordon pointed out the inspection trip did not in any way bind the board in any manner.

In opening up the West Hurley discussion, Trustee Knight indicated that rooms at West Hurley, including a new school could be part of a bond issue in the future. He said that in the past several factors weighed against addition to the present building.

Knight said he was not prepared to give statistics dealing with how many children would be available for a new school or where to locate it, but urged the board to meet and examine the Grove property. He reiterated his desire to see a new school in West Hurley. He said it was not desirable to expand the present facilities.

Trustee Edward G. West said he disapproved of any package deal which might include Woodstock and West Hurley and predicted its defeat. He again urged the 11-room addition to Woodstock as a separate issue.

Trustee Janet Greene doubted there were enough childrren to fill a new 8-room school at West Hurley. Trustee Anne Larys said she felt West Hurley was not the place for a new school. She said defeat of the original bond issue might be attributed to strong public resistance to higher taxes but the board had a good issue and should try again.

Trustee Marie Kleine said she was favorable to the Board's inspection trip to West Hurley, but did not favor including the proposed 8-room school in another issue. She said there was a tremendous need for the Shandaken school where there are more than enough children to fill eight rooms. Building only the 11-room addition to Woodstock would be shortsighted, she said.

The board approved Mrs. Anne Kelly to serve the rest of the year in the position, with salary step of $5700 to be pro-rated.

Mrs. Kelly has indicated her intent to stay in the system full time beginning in September. She is on authorized leave of absence this year.

The board hired three new teachers: Mrs. Lorraine Denis, elementary, at starting salary of $5,600; Naomi Shaver, elementary English, $4,950; and Mrs. Jean Algozzine, English, $7,000.

Mrs. Constance Vanni and Donald Hoffman were authorized as substitutes for Edward Hearn, the former handling the classroom work for the remainder of the year and Hoffman to take over the Driver Education assignments.

The board filed clerical applications from Mildred Wadler, Pine Hill, and Grace Janitz, Phoenicia. Arthur Brueckner of Shokan was approved as a regular bus driver for contractor Wilkins.

The board was authorized to file necessary forms instituting health insurance for district employes.

Survey Proposal Gets Blast From Board Member

A proposal by James J. Fairbairn of Shokan that the Onteora Central Schools District employ a professional engineering firm to make a survey of its educational needs and design a program for future growth has drawn a sharp rebuttal from one member of the Board of Education.

The proposal and resolution were presented to the board this week by James J. Fairbairn of Shokan, who said that in operation the size of Onteora the professional survey would not be a reflection on anyone. He asked that the statement be written into the minutes of the meeting.

Trustee Marie Kleine said the resolution assumed or presumed that the board had not sought assistance from more experienced people in setting up its program. She branded the statement as "insulting" to the board.

Trustee Kleine said the board had consulted many experts and professionals, but that in the final analysis it could do nothing "without the vote of the people." Those who would impugn the motives of the board, she said, had "chosen to be led by prophets in their own fold."

She deplored the failure of many people to heed the leadership of the board and go running off in many directions.

Fairbairn insisted that the Onteora district represented "big business" that should be left to the professionals.

A similar proposal had been made by Charles H. Weidner, Sr. of West Shokan during the heated bond issue campaign.

The Resolution

"The management of a school district the size of Onteora with a plant valuation in excess of two million dollars and an annual budget in excess of one and one half million dollars, covering an area of three townships, is definitely big business, and some big business methods must be employed, in order to manage it successfully. It would be no reflection on anyone in an operation of this size, and in particular the Board of Education of the district nor the Department of Education in Albany to employ an engineering company which specializes in this type of work to make a survey of our district, plan its future needs, and lay out a program for development and financing.

"Recently in New Jersey, where a five-million dollar school construction program was in progress, Austin and Company, well known engineers, were employed to re-examine the program and were able to save a million and a half dollars on the construction alone, and in addition were able to obtain a plan more in keeping with the needs of the community.

"Unless special technical assistance of this type is employed by this district, it will continue to be faced with emergency after emergency, and the spending of money on this basis will provide no permanent educational program and be a waste of the money spent, and the turmoil and confusion that results will not develop proper atmosphere for school purposes.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Onteora Central Schools District be authorized to employ an engineering firm specializing in municipal planning to make a survey of its educational needs and to design a program for future growth, and that the expenses of this service be a charge on the district, under Section 1804 of the Education Law."

Gordon Decries Half-Loaf Theory In OCS Building

A plea by Trustee Edward G. West that the Board of Education submit the 11-room addition at Woodstock as a separate bond issue on the theory "that a half loaf is better than none" has drawn a sharp rebuttal from the board president Philip Gordon.

Gordon said he could not subscribe to the theory which, he felt, would enforce the board to come right back again with another issue.

He recalled the "two year period of compromise" with respect to the Reginald R. Bennett building and said: "I, personally do not propose to make the same mistake again."

Gordon reiterated that his best judgment was that 19 new rooms was the only solution to the classroom shortage. "There can be no compromise and the half-a-loaf theory has been proved wrong too many times in the past," he said.

It was wrong to deny Shandaken children the existence of a building in their own area, Gordon continued. He went on to say that there were more than enough kids to fill the new school and it was wrong to ignore them.

The board president also made a strong plea for better understanding within the district. "We must drop our prejudices and keep the best interests of the children uppermost in our minds. I can't go for compromise," he said.

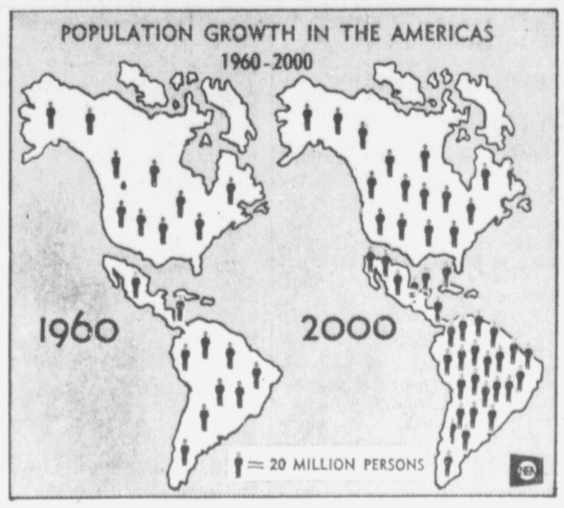

Aalto Promises New Approach

The Onteora Board of Education has heard an implied threat that re-submission of the defeated $1,016,500 bond issue would draw the most vigorous, outspoken opposition of one of its own members.

In the heat of discussion on Trustee John Aalto's proposal to make the 11-room addition at Woodstock a separate bond issue, Aalto charged that some board members "had practiced chicanery" and done things that were unethical in their effort to get the bond issue passed.

Aalto and Trustee Edward G. West were the lone members of the board who did not take an active part in the bond issue campaign. He did not make any public appearances or issue any statements, although his opposition to the bond issue as proposed was well known. He has long been an advocate of elementary expansion in the Woodstock area.

"I do not propose to sit through it again," Aalto warned, implying that he would campaign actively in the next issue, if it is presented in objectionable form before his projected resignation from the board late this summer.

CROWDED CONTINENT — Population projections by the United Nations indicate that the population of North America (U.S. and Canada) will grow from about 197 million in 1960 to 312 million in 2000, increasing more than 1½ times. On the other hand, the population of Latin America (including Mexico and the Caribbean) will mushroom from 200 million to 592 million—nearly tripling. Data from Population Reference Bureau, Inc.

West Hurley Inspection Trip Is Scheduled by OCS Board

An inspection trip by members of the Board of Education and school architect Saturday morning has projected West Hurley into the expansion picture of the Onteora Central Schools District.

The Board of Education voted 9-0 at this week's meeting to inspect a site in West Hurley which might be used for future expansion, including a new school.

The action came at the suggestion of Trustee Arthur P. Knight who indicated that the so-called Groves property would be available to the board at a cost of $5400, plus cost of survey and title transfer. A one-year option effective May 1 would be available for $250.00, Knight said.

The vote to inspect the trip following lengthy discussion on the advisability of new construction in West Hurley. Board president Philip Gordon pointed out the inspection trip did not in any way bind the board in any manner.

In opening up the West Hurley discussion, Trustee Knight indicated that rooms at West Hurley, including a new school could be part of a bond issue in the future. He said that in the past several factors weighed against addition to the present building.

Knight said he was not prepared to give statistics dealing with how many children would be available for a new school or where to locate it, but urged the board to meet and examine the Grove property. He reiterated his desire to see a new school in West Hurley. He said it was not desirable to expand the present facilities.

Trustee Edward G. West said he disapproved of any package deal which might include Woodstock and West Hurley and predicted its defeat. He again urged the 11-room addition to Woodstock as a separate issue.

Trustee Janet Greene doubted there were enough childrren to fill a new 8-room school at West Hurley. Trustee Anne Larys said she felt West Hurley was not the place for a new school. She said defeat of the original bond issue might be attributed to strong public resistance to higher taxes but the board had a good issue and should try again.

Trustee Marie Kleine said she was favorable to the Board's inspection trip to West Hurley, but did not favor including the proposed 8-room school in another issue. She said there was a tremendous need for the Shandaken school where there are more than enough children to fill eight rooms. Building only the 11-room addition to Woodstock would be shortsighted, she said.

Women Make Better Contest Judges, Says Director

Women are better judges of feminine beauty than men are. That's the opinion of Monte Proser, director of the New York State Beauty Pageant of the Miss Universe contest, which will be held May 30 at the Grossinger Country Club, Grossinger.

Mr. Proser, creator of the "Copa Girl," said today that all the judges of the New York State Beauty Pageant will be women. He believes that men are usually not united in opinion when it comes to deciding just what female pulchritude is.

Some men like thin girls; others like them a little plump, Mr. Proser points out. Some like them short; others like them tall; some dark; some, fair, and so forth. On the other hand, Mr. Proser feels that women are more objective when it comes to judging feminine charms.

Women Make Better Contest Judges, Says Director

Women are better judges of feminine beauty than men are. That's the opinion of Monte Proser, director of the New York State Beauty Pageant of the Miss Universe contest, which will be held May 30 at the Grossinger Country Club, Grossinger.

Mr. Proser, creator of the "Copa Girl," said today that all the judges of the New York State Beauty Pageant will be women. He believes that men are usually not united in opinion when it comes to deciding just what female pulchritude is.

Some men like thin girls; others like them a little plump, Mr. Proser points out. Some like them short; others like them tall; some dark; some, fair, and so forth. On the other hand, Mr. Proser feels that women are more objective when it comes to judging feminine charms.

Iron Wrong Side

If you "touch up" wash-wear clothes after laundering, always iron on the wrong side to prevent surface shine.

Saugerties Defeats Catskill High, 14-0, on a No-Hitter

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

This is the time of the year, in the sere of the long season, when the bowling captain becomes a pretty elusive fellow.

Now, there is no law which requires a team to report its scores at a state or national tournament. However, there is a certain amount of public interest involved in let's say, Manhattan Balls or Sangi's Bowlero Beauties, and/or several other teams.

While reporting scores is not compulsory and many harrassed keglers would rather forget them, it comes untenable that any one person should be permitted to make an arbitrary decision to withhold scores from the newspapers.

This is particularly distressing when it involves travelling leagues in which the city's star bowlers are pitted against the best from surrounding cities. If it is a paid official who also happens to be a member of a team, the withholding of scores is at best a rather petty thing.

By what right does any person have to take it upon himself or herself to shut off from recognition the feats of other members of the team? It's an intriguing situation and we suspect the WIBC might have some comment to make. We'll try them, anyway.

• Splits and Misses:

Lost and Found Department: Terry Beckert's comebacker in the Hudson Valley women's league with 139-177-240. . . . Mrs. Beckert also posted 567 and Ev Gross added 487, for 1054, one of the top local doubles in the state women's tournament at Niagara Falls. . . . We hear squawks about awkward scheduling of the recent Hudson Valley eliminations. Some local women claim the schedule mitigated against them, made it impossible to compete. . . . Kathy Broskie rolled a 560 series in the team event for Sangi's Bowlero Beauties in the state tenpin. Kathy inherits her bowling skill from a distinguished tenpin father. She gives promise of being one of our top keglerettes, if she isn't already. . . . Jake Charter rolled 730 in the last session of the Mid-Hudson Major at Newburgh, boosting his average in the last 30 games to 221.23. He is averaging 210.41 for the season. Frank Bandiero extended his 600 string to 11 straight while Charter was hitting 10. . . . Kingston's Tom Carlino 674, Charlie Manfro 659 and Harold Broskie 650.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Kudos to Dorothy Spiegel for her first 200 game, a neat 206. . . . Allan Teal, 14-year-old Albany district kegler, rolled a 299 game last season, bagged his first 300 a couple weeks ago. . . . Nell Glennon, KWBA president, planning press-radio party to announce details of 1962 state women's tournament. . . . Wonder how many local gals in the KWBA area are averaging 196 or better. Would make an interesting statistic. . . . Jeanne Bull, the crack Newburgh bowler, recently posted a 649. . . . Phil Versace recently fired a 300 single in open play at Campi-Tarsio Lanes in Newburgh. Dewey Blair, the youthful Poughkeepsie pheenom, tagged along with a mere 278. . . . Preston Bennett's Varsity Lanes at New Paltz have been undergoing extensive alterations and improvements. Four new alleys, installed by the State Bowling and Billiard Supply Company of Troy, have been installed and are now in use. Tables and chairs for refreshments have taken the place of the old spectator seats. The snack bar and lounge have also been enlarged and improved. . . . The first major sports event to be held in McCormick Place, Chicago's mammoth new 34-million-dollar lakefront exhibition center will be the fifth annual World's Invitational Match Game championships, Nov. 16-26. Remember Lou DePaolo of Poughkeepsie, the pre-war match game hotshot from Poughkeepsie? He's now in the throes of a comeback attempt.

• Ball With a Handle:

The ABC reports that confusion has arisen over the use of a bowling ball with a grip hand attached. When the ball is released down the lane the grip, attached to a strong spring, snaps back into the ball. ABC has recently disqualified scores bowled with this type of ball in ABC sanctioned leagues in Texas and Ohio. Reports also have been received of bowlers attempting to use this type of ball in ABC sanctioned tournaments. A similar type of ball was presented to the Congress for testing and possible approval but was rejected about a year ago.

Nolan, Eckhoff Combine Talents In Opening Tilt

John Nolan and Billy Eckhoff, two hard throwing right-handers, combined to hurl a no-hitter at Caskill yesterday as Saugerties High opened its baseball season with a 14-0 triumph. Darkness curtailed the contest after six innings.

While the home side was almost helpless at bat, the Sawyers banged out 11 hits, including a triple by Eckhoff and doubles by Nolan, Wayne Abbott and Al Welcome. They scored in every inning but the second and capped the successful day with four runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth.

Nolan, who throws peas up there and has only to master his control, walked only one and struck out 11 of the 12 batters he retired during his four inning stint. Eckhoff finished and he also walked a batter, while striking out four.

Three chuckers took turns for the Catskill club and they were all treated to some heavy pounding and some shoddy defensive work on the part of the infield and outfield.

The Sawyers are scheduled to meet Windham in their home opener today and they will play at Kingston tomorrow.

Twins' Dazzling Start Recalls To '53 Braves

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's too early to call Washington's move to Minnesota another "Milwaukee miracle". A comparison, however, with Boston's move to Wisconsin in 1953 is interesting.

The transplanted Senators, now the Twins, are faring much better than the Braves did at a corresponding date eight years ago.

No matter how they fare in Boston today, the transplanted Twins must go home to Minnesota Thursday with a winning record. In beating the Red Sox Tuesday 3-2, the Twins boosted their record to five victories ir six starts and increased their first-place lead in the American League to a full game over the idle Cleveland Indians.

Rain, snow and cold weather wiped out the rest of the AL schedule.

Perhaps the most encouraging thing about the Twins is that each day brings a different player in a starring role. Four shared that role, Tuesday, including a couple of pitchers not named Camilo Pascual or Pedro Ramos.

The pitchers who brought a gleam of joy to Manager Cookie Lavagetto's eyes were Jim Kaat, a 22-year-old southpaw making his first start of the season, and Bill Pelis, a rookie left-hander, only recently placed on the roster.

Kaat held the Red Sox to one hit until the eighth as his mates staked him to a 3-0 lead against right-hander Billy Mufiett. When he weakened in the eighth, Cookie brought in Pleis, who squelched a Boston uprising and went on to hurl 1 2-3 innings of hitless ball.

Outfielders Jim Lemon and Lennie Green furnished the main batting support, getting six hits between them.

Dodgers Charge Snider Injury Was No Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Duke Snider will be out for a month with the first broken bone of his career, and the Dodgers are indignantly suggesting it might not have been an accident that disabled him.

Snider suffered a cracked bone above his right elbow Monday night when he was hit by a pitch from St. Louis right-hander Bob Gibson — just two innings after Snider tagged Gibson for a two-run homer.

Gibson denied any intent to hurt the veteran outfielder. But Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi said in a telegram to National League President Warren Giles:

"For your information, Snider was hit with the first pitch thrown to him after he hit a home run. It looks as though the bean ball rule is only working against Dodger pitchers."

Dodger right-hander Stan Williams had just been fined $50 for throwing a pitch that sailed over the head of Pittsburgh second baseman Bill Mazeroski last Sunday.

Gibson said Snider knocked an outside pitch over the left-field screen in the third inning, so he decided to pitch him inside the next time he came up.

Ferraro Receptive to Idea Of Bowling Team in Kingston

Yesterday's story in the New York Times claiming that Dick Charles, commissioner of the National Bowling league had contacted John Ferraro of Kingston about taking over the New York Gotham franchise, was denied by Ferraro, who said that he hasn't been contacted by anyone connected with the league.

Jesse Weingart, a co-owner of the original franchise for a New York team in the professional league, failed to meet a deadline to obtain and begin work for new alleys and he and Irving Fagenson were forced to forfeit control of the franchise.

Associated with the league since its inception a year ago, Weingart and Fagenson had planned to build lanes in the waiting room of Grand Central Terminal. However, the Board of Standards and Appeals refused to grant the needed zoning variance.

The league then gave the Gothams until March 1 to obtain and begin work on a permanent site for its home lanes. When the team failed to do this, the league extended the deadline twice to March 11 and then to March 25. However, they had to be dismissed from the league when the deadline for obtaining alleys had passed.

Ferraro, operator of the Bowlerama on the East Chester Street By-Pass, said he would welcome a talk with Charles and would be more than interested in obtaining the Gotham franchise for Kingston.

More Than Enough Room

"I have more than enough room at my establishment and I think this spot is more ideal than New York City," Ferraro added.

When asked if he would be hesitant in taking the franchise because of the lawsuit that Weingart has threatened in his claim that his franchise rights had been terminated, Ferraro said he would take that chance and it would not change his thinking.

In addition to Ferraro, the article in the Times, written by reporter Gordon S. White Jr., said that Charles had contacted Emil Lence of New York. The article further stated that Charles is flying to New York from Dallas and he hoped to make a decision in a few days.

The tentative opening date for the league is Oct. 13 and Charles has indicated more than once that a franchise in New York is a necessity.

Purkey Checks SF On Six Hits

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Purkey apparently wasn't listening when Fred Hutchinson, the Cincinnati manager, declared at the season's start that the team's fate this year was in the hands of the young pitchers.

The veteran right-hander, who will be 31 in July, pitched his second straight victory Tuesday night, a 9-1 triumph over San Francisco, and boosted the Reds into first place in the National League.

It was Cincinnati's fourth success in six starts and Purkey's second complete game. The rest of the staff, which includes Jim O'Toole, Jay Hook, Jim Maloney and Joey Jay, all in their early 20s, have only one complete game among them.

The Reds own a half game lead over the St. Louis Cards, Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, all tied for second. Los Angeles dropped St. Louis out of a first-place tie with a 5-4 night victory over the Cards and Pittsburgh moved up by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-3 in the only game played in daylight. Rain washed out the Milwaukee-Philadelphia game with the Braves leading 3-1 at the end of an inning and a half.

Mays Hits Second

Purkey, Cincinnati's leading pitcher last season with a 17-11 record, permitted the Giants only six hits and lost his bid for a shutout when Willie Mays led off the last of the seventh with his second home run of the season.

Wally Post, Gene Freese and Gordon Coleman led a 10-hit attack on starter Billy Loes and two relievers. Post got a double and two singles, Freese drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Coleman clouted a three-run homer, his second of the campaign.

Home runs by Frank Howard, Wally Moon and Johnny Roseboro accounted for the first four Dodger runs but the last and winning tally, in the sixth, was unearned. Pitcher Roger Craig, who went 6 2-3 innings and got the victory, opened the sixth with a single and moved to third when Bill White threw wild after fielding Maury Wills' sacrifice bunt. An infield out scored Craig.

Ken Boyer drove in two Cardinal runs with a pair of home runs. Stan Musial batted in the other two. Rookie left-hander Ron Perranoski preserved Craig's first triumph of the season, disposing of White with two out and the bases full in the eighth.

Perranoski retired the side in order in the ninth, fanning Boyer and Daryl Spencer, who drove in five runs on Monday. Al Cicotte, Card starter, was charged with his second loss.

The Pirates scored twice in the seventh to snap a 3-3 tie against the Cubs. Dick Stuart, who had driven in a run in the fifth with a triple, knocked in what proved to be the winning run with a single. A squeeze bunt furnished the extra run. Southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell, with the help of Elroy Face, was credited with the victory as Pittsburgh opened its home season before 30,781 at Forbes Field.

Saugerties Defeats Catskill High, 14-0, on a No-Hitter

By CHARLES J. TIANO

This is the time of the year, in the sere of the long season, when the bowling captain becomes a pretty elusive fellow.

Now, there is no law which requires a team to report its scores at a state or national tournament. However, there is a certain amount of public interest involved in let's say, Manhattan Balls or Sangi's Bowlero Beauties, and/or several other teams.

While reporting scores is not compulsory and many harrassed keglers would rather forget them, it comes untenable that any one person should be permitted to make an arbitrary decision to withhold scores from the newspapers.

This is particularly distressing when it involves travelling leagues in which the city's star bowlers are pitted against the best from surrounding cities. If it is a paid official who also happens to be a member of a team, the withholding of scores is at best a rather petty thing.

By what right does any person have to take it upon himself or herself to shut off from recognition the feats of other members of the team? It's an intriguing situation and we suspect the WIBC might have some comment to make. We'll try them, anyway.

• Ball With a Handle:

The ABC reports that confusion has arisen over the use of a bowling ball with a grip hand attached. When the ball is released down the lane the grip, attached to a strong spring, snaps back into the ball. ABC has recently disqualified scores bowled with this type of ball in ABC sanctioned leagues in Texas and Ohio. Reports also have been received of bowlers attempting to use this type of ball in ABC sanctioned tournaments. A similar type of ball was presented to the Congress for testing and possible approval but was rejected about a year ago.

Nolan, Eckhoff Combine Talents In Opening Tilt

John Nolan and Billy Eckhoff, two hard throwing right-handers, combined to hurl a no-hitter at Caskill yesterday as Saugerties High opened its baseball season with a 14-0 triumph. Darkness curtailed the contest after six innings.

While the home side was almost helpless at bat, the Sawyers banged out 11 hits, including a triple by Eckhoff and doubles by Nolan, Wayne Abbott and Al Welcome. They scored in every inning but the second and capped the successful day with four runs in the fifth and five more in the sixth.

Nolan, who throws peas up there and has only to master his control, walked only one and struck out 11 of the 12 batters he retired during his four inning stint. Eckhoff finished and he also walked a batter, while striking out four.

Three chuckers took turns for the Catskill club and they were all treated to some heavy pounding and some shoddy defensive work on the part of the infield and outfield.

The Sawyers are scheduled to meet Windham in their home opener today and they will play at Kingston tomorrow.

Twins' Dazzling Start Recalls To '53 Braves

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's too early to call Washington's move to Minnesota another "Milwaukee miracle". A comparison, however, with Boston's move to Wisconsin in 1953 is interesting.

The transplanted Senators, now the Twins, are faring much better than the Braves did at a corresponding date eight years ago.

No matter how they fare in Boston today, the transplanted Twins must go home to Minnesota Thursday with a winning record. In beating the Red Sox Tuesday 3-2, the Twins boosted their record to five victories in six starts and increased their first-place lead in the American League to a full game over the idle Cleveland Indians.

Rain, snow and cold weather wiped out the rest of the AL schedule.

Perhaps the most encouraging thing about the Twins is that each day brings a different player in a starring role. Four shared that role, Tuesday, including a couple of pitchers not named Camilo Pascual or Pedro Ramos.

The pitchers who brought a gleam of joy to Manager Cookie Lavagetto's eyes were Jim Kaat, a 22-year-old southpaw making his first start of the season, and Bill Pelis, a rookie left-hander, only recently placed on the roster.

Kaat held the Red Sox to one hit until the eighth as his mates staked him to a 3-0 lead against right-hander Billy Mufiett. When he weakened in the eighth, Cookie brought in Pleis, who squelched a Boston uprising and went on to hurl 1 2-3 innings of hitless ball.

Outfielders Jim Lemon and Lennie Green furnished the main batting support, getting six hits between them.

Ned Day Misses ABC Tournament

DETROIT (AP) — Ned Day may miss out on this year's American Bowling Congress tourney in the city where he captured the all-events diamond medal back in 1948.

Day, stylist who has a 200 average for his 28 years of ABC tournament bowling, is suffering from arthritis in his right hand and has not been able to bowl since the first of the year.

Ned was scheduled to bowl last night with the Strike 'N Spare team of Chicago. However, he couldn't make it.

Strike 'N Spare managed only a weak 2,710 series in its classic division debut. Another classic team was off to an even poorer start as the powerful Hamm's of Minneapolis opened with 2,664.

The Vulcan Water Proofing Club of Detroit rolled 2,985 in regular team play, good for eighth place.

Richard Braun and John Weidner of Columbus, O. paired for a 1270 doubles score for ninth place in the regular two-man standings. Braun had a 608 and Weidner 662.

The ABC announced there would be official co-champions in event of any ties. Stu's Drive In of Urbana, Ohio, and Pepsi Cola of Milwaukee are deadlocked for first place in the regular team division with 3,027 totals.

Winners Tally All Their Runs In Two Innings

Scoring all their runs in two different innings, Roosevelt Central players nipped Kingston, 5-4, yesterday at Dietz Stadium. The locals had beaten Roosevelt in their opening game last week and this reversed that decision.

Starter Mike Ferraro walked Joe Jubinsky and Charlie Mastromonico in the first inning and Wes Bialosuknia scored them with a double. However, Wes was cut down trying to make third.

Ferraro then walked Bill Volnick and winning pitcher Wayne Remond helped his cause with a two base hit to drive home Volnick.

Jerry Howard was hurling for Kingston when the visitors scored their final runs in the fourth frame. A hit batter, walk, two errors and a wild pitch brought the runs across.

Remond was hurling shutout ball until the fifth when the locals exploded for three markers. Mike Celuch started the inning by drawing a walk and Frank Allen reached base on a miscue. A walk to Ronnie Thomas and Richie Sickler's single brought home three runs.

Kingston tallied again in the sixth on a walk and a hit and the home side had two runners on base with no outs in the seventh but failed to push across the tying and winning runs.

Ferraro was charged with the loss. Howard, Bill Reed and Bob Dunn also took turns on the slab. Remond went the distance for the Presidents.

Kingston is scheduled to play Saugerties tomorrow, 4:15, at the stadium.

Huge Welcome Greets Return Of Twin Nine

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The front-running Minnesota Twins arrive home tonight to one of the biggest welcomes ever accorded a state athletic team.

Even the weatherman is proving cooperative, as thousands of Minnesotans prepare for the opening of major league baseball in the Gopher state. The Twins meet the new Washington Senators at Metropolitan Stadium Friday.

Everywhere talk is centered on the Twins and their amazing break from the American League starting gate.

Minnesota's 3-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday brought the Twins 'league-leading record to 5-1, four of the victories over the two pre-season pennant picks — New York and Baltimore.

No elaborate ceremonies are planned at the airport, but fireworks will start Thursday.

St. Paul opens the ceremonies with a breakfast and musical salute from the police band at a downdown hotel.

A 36-car motorcade, with officials and players waving from convertibles, will wind through city streets, across the Mississippi River and into Minneapolis .

The largest luncheon crowd in the history of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce is expected. The players again will be introduced and interviewed.

Before the day is over, most Twin Cities fans and many outstate faithful will have had their first real look at the heroes they've been watching over their television sets.

Conerly Returns For 14th Season On Grid Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Conerly, a gray-haired scrapper who has fought off a host of youthful challengers in the last several years, is ready for round 14 as the No. 1 quarterback of the New York Giants.

The dean of active National Football League players—he will be 40 two days after the season opens—ended rumors about his retirement Tuesday by signing for his 14th year of pro grid action with the Giants.

Terms of the one-year contract were not disclosed by President Jack Mara, who would only say Conerly was one of the NFL's highest-salaried stars. It is estimated the former University of Mississippi standout will receive $25,000 to $30,000.

As is his usual practice, Conerly told Mara as he agreed to terms: "I guess this will be my last time."

As is his usual practice, Mara smiled and replied: "Yes, Charlie."

Conerly's career is equalled in longevity among active NFL players only by Green Bay's Emlen Tunnell, a former Giant teammate.

Only two players—Washington quarterback Sammy Baugh and Giants center Mel Hein had longer careers. Baugh played for 16 years, Hein for 15.

Ned Day Misses ABC Tournament

DETROIT (AP) — Ned Day may miss out on this year's American Bowling Congress tourney in the city where he captured the all-events diamond medal back in 1948.

Day, stylist who has a 200 average for his 28 years of ABC tournament bowling, is suffering from arthritis in his right hand and has not been able to bowl since the first of the year.

Ned was scheduled to bowl last night with the Strike 'N Spare team of Chicago. However, he couldn't make it.

Strike 'N Spare managed only a weak 2,710 series in its classic division debut. Another classic team was off to an even poorer start as the powerful Hamm's of Minneapolis opened with 2,664.

The Vulcan Water Proofing Club of Detroit rolled 2,985 in regular team play, good for eighth place.

Richard Braun and John Weidner of Columbus, O. paired for a 1270 doubles score for ninth place in the regular two-man standings. Braun had a 608 and Weidner 662.

The ABC announced there would be official co-champions in event of any ties. Stu's Drive In of Urbana, Ohio, and Pepsi Cola of Milwaukee are deadlocked for first place in the regular team division with 3,027 totals.

Winners Tally All Their Runs In Two Innings

Scoring all their runs in two different innings, Roosevelt Central players nipped Kingston, 5-4, yesterday at Dietz Stadium. The locals had beaten Roosevelt in their opening game last week and this reversed that decision.

Starter Mike Ferraro walked Joe Jubinsky and Charlie Mastromonico in the first inning and Wes Bialosuknia scored them with a double. However, Wes was cut down trying to make third.

Ferraro then walked Bill Volnick and winning pitcher Wayne Remond helped his cause with a two base hit to drive home Volnick.

Jerry Howard was hurling for Kingston when the visitors scored their final runs in the fourth frame. A hit batter, walk, two errors and a wild pitch brought the runs across.

Remond was hurling shutout ball until the fifth when the locals exploded for three markers. Mike Celuch started the inning by drawing a walk and Frank Allen reached base on a miscue. A walk to Ronnie Thomas and Richie Sickler's single brought home three runs.

Kingston tallied again in the sixth on a walk and a hit and the home side had two runners on base with no outs in the seventh but failed to push across the tying and winning runs.

Ferraro was charged with the loss. Howard, Bill Reed and Bob Dunn also took turns on the slab. Remond went the distance for the Presidents.

Kingston is scheduled to play Saugerties tomorrow, 4:15, at the stadium.

Huge Welcome Greets Return Of Twin Nine

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The front-running Minnesota Twins arrive home tonight to one of the biggest welcomes ever accorded a state athletic team.

Even the weatherman is proving cooperative, as thousands of Minnesotans prepare for the opening of major league baseball in the Gopher state. The Twins meet the new Washington Senators at Metropolitan Stadium Friday.

Everywhere talk is centered on the Twins and their amazing break from the American League starting gate.

Minnesota's 3-2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday brought the Twins league-leading record to 5-1, four of the victories over the two pre-season pennant picks — New York and Baltimore.

No elaborate ceremonies are planned at the airport, but fireworks will start Thursday.

St. Paul opens the ceremonies with a breakfast and musical salute from the police band at a downdown hotel.

A 36-car motorcade, with officials and players waving from convertibles, will wind through city streets, across the Mississippi River and into Minneapolis.

The largest luncheon crowd in the history of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce is expected. The players again will be introduced and interviewed.

Before the day is over, most Twin Cities fans and many outstate faithful will have had their first real look at the heroes they've been watching over their television sets.

Conerly Returns For 14th Season On Grid Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Conerly, a gray-haired scrapper who has fought off a host of youthful challengers in the last several years, is ready for round 14 as the No. 1 quarterback of the New York Giants.

The dean of active National Football League players—he will be 40 two days after the season opens—ended rumors about his retirement Tuesday by signing for his 14th year of pro grid action with the Giants.

Terms of the one-year contract were not disclosed by President Jack Mara, who would only say Conerly was one of the NFL's highest-salaried stars. It is estimated the former University of Mississippi standout will receive $25,000 to $30,000.

As is his usual practice, Conerly told Mara as he agreed to terms: "I guess this will be my last time."

As is his usual practice, Mara smiled and replied: "Yes, Charlie."

Conerly's career is equalled in longevity among active NFL players only by Green Bay's Emlen Tunnell, a former Giant teammate.

Only two players—Washington quarterback Sammy Baugh and Giants center Mel Hein had longer careers. Baugh played for 16 years, Hein for 15.

Chicago Boat Show Hit by High Tide of Nautical Accessories

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO (NEA)—"Is boating getting too fancy?" an old-timer asked as we toured the National Boat Show in Chicago and eyed a high tide of new nautical accessories.

Boats, he admitted, looked more like boats this year, but the gadgets that go on them get more sophisticated.

"Look at that depth finder," he pointed out with grudging admiration. "Time was, when we wanted to explore some backwater fishing hole we eased our way in by poking for the bottom with a long pole.

"Then someone invented this electronic probe for big ocean vessels. Now we have portable models running on flashlight batteries. You can carry one in any rowboat. Same with small direction finders."

Even hi-fi has come afloat. One portable AM-FM radio, with an input jack for a record player, can also be plugged in to monitor radio telephone calls and ship-to-shore broadcasts from any remote location aboard. Transistors now bring radioed weather reports to boatmen in the most remote anchorages.

We looked at some of the latest paints and sealers to keep the water outside the boat. Many now form rubber or plastic surfaces that give a choice of permanently flexible or enamel-hard coatings to hull and topsides, deck and cabin.

Convenience has overtones of safety in a new mixing can for the outboard motor owner.

Fueling up, gasoline passes through oil in the can and is metered to combine in just the right proportion for the outboard's proper gas-oil fuel. No more need to measure out oil before gassing up — and the chance to spill gasoline or oil inside the boat.

NEW AID — Skippers can keep remote control tabs on ship-to-shore calls with a new phone plug-in to their portable radios aboard the craft.

Displays of waterproof fabrics and plastic paneling, drew our attention. I caught the old-timer casting a cold eye on some of the more flowery patterns designed to attract a feminine first mate.

"With all these expensive accessories to buy," I told him, "you probably can't afford as big a boat."

He gave me a rueful grin.

"She's bigger," he admitted. "With these new gadgets now my wife feels safe on the water.

"Now we take the kids along and can budget a full vacation of cruising."

Brown Defeats Charnley in 15 Furious Rounds

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP) — Have crown, will travel, was lightweight champion Joe Brown's pledge today after whipping Dave Charnley in his record 10th title defense.

"I am ready to travel anywhere in the world to defend my crown," said the 35-year-old American with the elegant touch, who outpointed the British and European champion in 15 bristling rounds before 18,000 at London's Earls Court Stadium Tuesday night.

Even two sets of swollen knuckles and the actions of spectators who jeered the decision couldn't dampen the spirits of the Baton Rouge, La., Negro, who may pocket as much as $50,000 from the bout.

He'll go anywhere to fight, he said, and that might mean the Philippines, where he has an offer to defend against either Flash Elorde or Bert Somodio.

Decision Booed

The decision touched off an outburst of booing by many in the hometown crowd. Brawling broke out in some parts of the hall. A bottle conked one fan on the head. Police escorted referee Tommy Little, the sole official from the ring through a line of jeering fans.

Brown shrugged off the demonstration.

"Man, you get to expect this kind of thing when you're fighting away from home," he said. "After all, this isn't Houston."

Most observers agreed that Brown had all the class and deserved the decision after leaving the blood-soaked Charnley with nothing but his fighting heart.

Brown, who stopped Charnley on cuts in five rounds in their first title bout in Houston 16 months ago, opened a cut on the bridge of the Briton's nose in the first round that bled freely the rest of the way. He fought back gamely in the last four rounds but Brown stayed in control.

See 277 Winning Houston Classic

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 3-under-par 277 would be a good bet for the winning score in the $40,000 Houston Classic Golf Tournament.

Seven of the 14 previous titlists in the tournament that begins Thursday at Memorial Park have collected top money with 277s.

Robbie Williams, pro at the 7,122-yard municipal course, is among those picking a 277 to win, even though the old par 36-36—72 has been cut this year to 35-35—70.

Williams also says next Sunday's winner of the $7,000 in top money probably will be Gary Player or Arnold Palmer, stars of the recent Masters tournament.

Palmer, the 1957 winner with a 279, has been installed as a 7-2 pre-tournament favorite. Player, who tied for fourth a year ago at 284, follows at 5-1.

Other odds: Ken Venturi and Billy Casper, 8-1; Ted Kroll, Dow Finsterwald, and Doug Sanders, 10-1; Bill Collins, the defending champion, Jack Burke Jr, Don January, Tommy Bolt and Mike Souchak, 12-1.

Dave Marr of Sun City, Ariz., shot a 5-under-par 65 at Memorial in the Porky Oliver pro-amateur Tuesday. All proceeds from the event went to Oliver, who has cancer.

Favorites Win In N-S Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Defending champion Barbara McIntire and Judy Eller, her foremost challenger, continued to head their respective halves in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament feld as quarter-finals came up today.

But trouble was brewing for both of the dark-haired charmers today and, if they win, Thursday too.

Miss McIntire, of Lake Park, Fla., met Mary Patton Janssen, Charlottesville, Va., swinger, in the first of today's four matches.

Miss Eller, from Old Hickory, Tenn., was matched against Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan.

The McIntire-Janssen winner will play a semifinals match Thursday against today's Phyllis Preuss-Mrs. Alex Welsh match survivor.

The Eller-Bell victor will be paired against the winner of the match between Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., and Doris Phillips of Belleville, Ill.

Boston Heads Crack Field in Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Ralph Boston, Olympic champion and world record holder in the broad jump, heads a classy corps of field stars for the 36th Kansas Relays Friday and Saturday.

Boston, a lean Negro athlete from Tennessee A&I State, beat the oldest record in the world books —Jesse Owens' 26-8¼ in 1935—with a leap of 26-11¼ in a pre-Olympic meet in California last August. He took out Owens' 1936 Olympic mark at 26-7⅝ in the world games.

The entry of Boston and four other Tennessee A&I thinclads was announced Saturday by Bill Easton, KU track coach and relays director. Boston is entered in the high jump, high hurdles and 400 and 880 relays.

Boston will go after the relays' broad jump record of 25-5¼ in preliminaries and finals of that event Friday.

Tightest competition in history of the relays is expected in the shot put and discuss although both records—59-7⅞ and 178-1—are expected to hold fast.

Mike Lindsay, defending champion in the shot, has a putt of 58-10¾ this spring. But he will have to beat John Fry (58-10½) and Buddy Tyner of Baylor and Jim Allison of Texas. Both Tyner and Allison are 56-footers.

Al Holcomb of Howard Payne, who won the Texas Relays at 169-3½, heads the discus entries. The other good throws include Fry (167-10½), Russ Seitzinger, Hardin Simmons (164-3); Cloyd Webb, Iowa (160-7½); Lindsay (168-5), and Walt Myers, Colorado (162).

"It's too bad that it won't work, because I like men. I just can't stay married to them."

Bette's marriage to Gary Merrill recently broke up. She was previously divorced from Harmon Nelson and William Grant Sherry and widowed by Arthur Farnsworth.

"I don't believe a happy marriage is possible for those people who have set out to do something in life," she concluded. "Such people have to devote their full energies to what they are aiming to do; there isn't much left over for marriage.

"It's especially difficult for women in this (acting) business. It is time consuming. And there is the matter of making more money than your husband does. I don't think that deep down inside a man, he can adjust to that situation. He may say he does, but he doesn't."

I asked hesitantly if devotion to a career doesn't make for loneliness.

"Career people are born lonely," she replied. "Fortunately for me, I have my children. I acquired them later in life than most women, so they are a comfort to me now. You're always occupied when there are children around."

She added reflectively: "Yes, career people are lonely. But they can also be happy. Like coming home when you know you've done a good day's work. There is no greater satisfaction than that."

Bette is plunging into work again. She is doing her first Hollywood film in five years—the last was "A Catered Affair." She's now working for Frank Capra in "A Pocketful of Miracles," remake of the Damon Runyon tale "Lady for a Day" which he filmed in 1933.

Chicago Boat Show Hit by High Tide of Nautical Accessories

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO (NEA)—"Is boating getting too fancy?" an old-timer asked as we toured the National Boat Show in Chicago and eyed a high tide of new nautical accessores.

Boats, he admitted, looked more like boats this year, but the gadgets that go on them get more sophisticated.

"Look at that depth finder," he pointed out with grudging admiration. "Time was, when we wanted to explore some backwater fishing hole we eased our way in by poking for the bottom with a long pole.

"Then someone invented this electronic probe for big ocean vessels. Now we have portable models running on flashlight batteries. You can carry one in any rowboat. Same with small direction finders."

Laos May Call On Others to Stem Red Tide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Laotian government decided today to ask its "friends and neighbors" for help, declaring four new rebel offensives backed by Communist troops from North Viet Nam threaten Laos and all Southeast Asia.

Foreign Minister Tiao Sopsaisana said Laos wants more and better arms and a full-fledged U. S. Military Assistance Group to replace the civilian body now training royal troops.

He asserted Laos is thinking of asking for foreign troops if the situation worsens.

The foreign minister did not say who besides the United States would be asked for help but indicated it would be neighboring Thailand and South Viet Nam.

U. S. Not Concerned Over Phouma's Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — American authorities were more concerned today over the dangerous military situation in Laos than by the decision of former Premier Souvanna Phouma to skip Washington on his world tour.

Some Western diplomats expressed themselves as "80 per cent certain" that Souvanna Phouma will come here at a later date for talks with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on neutralizing the Southeast Asian kingdom.

U.S. Plane Down In Hong Kong, 16 Aboard Craft

HONG KONG (AP)—A twin-engine U.S. Air Force plane with 16 persons aboard apparently crashed on a hill near downtown Hong Kong today but thick fog hid it from searchers.

Most of those aboard were believed to be military personnel.

A spokesman for the Hong Kong government said the plane took off from Kaitak airport at 6:07 p.m. and apparently crashed in the low-lying fog and mist a few minutes later.

The plane was believed to have crashed at North Point, a hilly area less than five miles from downtown Hong Kong. But with the fog thickening even more as night came, the crash site could not be located and the government broadcast an appeal to residents for information.

Woman Reported In Good Condition After Gun Wound

Mrs. Wilson Bolde of Box 72 in that hamlet reportedly shot herself in an upstairs bedroom shortly before 10 p. m. Tuesday.

Her husband, a mechanic employed by Knaust Motors of Saugerties, rushed upstairs and found her lying on the floor. She was rushed to the hospital by Fatum's Ambulance.

The "long" bullet went through Mrs. Bolde's shoulder and lodged in the wall about six feet above the floor. Her husband gave Mrs. Bolde first aid until assistance arrived.

They have four children ranging in age from 14 months to 14 years.

The shooting reportedly followed a family argument. Deputy Sheriffs John Daly and John Tuey investigated.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Laotian government decided today to ask its "friends and neighbors" for help, declaring four new rebel offensives backed by Communist troops from North Viet Nam threaten Laos and all Southeast Asia.

Foreign Minister Tiao Sopsaisana said Laos wants more and better arms and a full-fledged U. S. Military Assistance Group to replace the civilian body now training royal troops.

He asserted Laos is thinking of asking for foreign troops if the situation worsens.

The foreign minister did not say who besides the United States would be asked for help but indicated it would be neighboring Thailand and South Viet Nam.

U. S. Not Concerned Over Phouma's Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — American authorities were more concerned today over the dangerous military situation in Laos than by the decision of former Premier Souvanna Phouma to skip Washington on his world tour.

The State Department announced Tuesday night that the Laotian neutralist leader cancelled his projected visit as a private citizen in order to return to Laos "on schedule" by way of Peiping.

Some Western diplomats expressed themselves as "80 per cent certain" that Souvanna Phouma will come here at a later date for talks with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on neutralizing the Southeast Asian kingdom.

U.S. Plane Down In Hong Kong, 16 Aboard Craft

HONG KONG (AP)—A twin-engine U.S. Air Force plane with 16 persons aboard apparently crashed on a hill near downtown Hong Kong today but thick fog hid it from searchers.

Most of those aboard were believed to be military personnel.

A spokesman for the Hong Kong government said the plane took off from Kaitak airport at 6:07 p.m. and apparently crashed in the low-lying fog and mist a few minutes later.

The plane was believed to have crashed at North Point, a hilly area less than five miles from downtown Hong Kong. But with the fog thickening even more as night came, the crash site could not be located and the government broadcast an appeal to residents for information.

Woman Reported In Good Condition After Gun Wound

A 33-year-old Eddyville mother of four children is in good condition today at Benedictine Hospital after shooting herself through the right shoulder with a .22 caliber rifle, according to a report in the Ulster County sheriff's office.

Mrs. Wilson Bolde of Box 72 in that hamlet reportedly shot herself in an upstairs bedroom shortly before 10 p. m. Tuesday.

Her husband, a mechanic employed by Knaust Motors of Saugerties, rushed upstairs and found her lying on the floor. She was rushed to the hospital by Fatum's Ambulance.

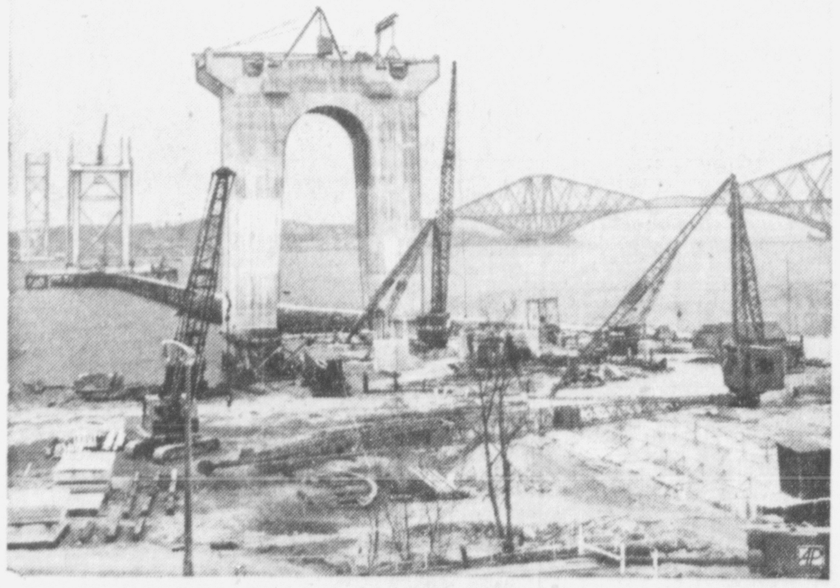

The "long" bullet went through Mrs. Bolde's shoulder and lodged in the wall about six feet above the floor. Her husband gave Mrs. Bolde first aid until assistance arrived.

They have four children ranging in age from 14 months to 14 years.

The shooting reportedly followed a family argument. Deputy Sheriffs John Daly and John Tuey investigated.
